TWO BIG OIL COMPANIES MERGE!

DISCUSS ARMAMENT FIRST, VIEW OF JAP DELEGATES.

Fear Pacific and Far Eastern Problems Will Delay Conference; Envoys Met by Hughes.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The principal Japanese delegates to the Arms Limitation Conference arrived here today from the Pacific Coast by special train. The party included Admiral T. Kato, Minister of Marine; Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the House of Peers, and a party of advisers and experts.

The delegation was met by Secretary Hughes and Third Assistant Secretary Bliss, representing the State Department; Secretary Denby and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the Navy Department, and a number of other officials. The Japanese is the first complete delegation to arrive here.

NATIONAL ANTHEM PLAYED.

It was the first time Secretary Hughes had gone to the Union Station to meet any incoming delegates and cordial greetings were exchanged by him and other members of the American reception party with the Japanese delegates.

A brief halt was made in the President's room for photographs. The national anthems of the two countries were played and then under cavalry escort, the delegation proceeded to their residences.

The Japanese delegation arrived, its leaders said, with the desire and hope of discussing first at the conference, the question of limitation of armament, and not Far Eastern problems. The Japanese viewpoint, it was explained, was that Pacific and Far Eastern questions might prove full of difficulties and if taken up first, negotiations might be delayed.

The pleasant journey across the continent from Seattle was in striking contrast to the stormy sea voyage. As far as possible, secrecy was maintained as to the itinerary, precautions being taken because of letters received, signed by Koreans.

ENVOYS ARE PLEASED.

Every member of the party expressed charm at the official welcome and just before arriving in Washington, Prince Tokugawa said:

"I intend to devote myself to the cause of removing any misunderstanding that may exist between our two countries. We should know each other better and co-operate."

In discussing China, Dr. K. Hayashi, general counselor to the Japanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs and chief adviser to the conference delegation, said:

"He would be bold indeed who would venture to offer a solution of the great problems of China, but there are two thoughts that occur to me."

His first suggestion was that the powers should agree to cease their rivalry in China and act in concert on all matters pertaining to that country, and his second was that the American Delegates Have Outlined Proposals on Armament Cut.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The International Conference on the Limitation of Armaments is getting under way.

Secretary of State Hughes appeared for the first time at the head of the reception committee at the Union Station to welcome Prince Tokugawa, head of the Japanese delegation.

Almost every train brings members of delegations and their staffs of political and technical advisers, and the embassies and headquarters of the foreign contingents are teeming with the preparation of data on the settlement of Pacific and Far Eastern questions and on the reduction of armaments to be submitted to the conference.

DISCUSS NAVAL HOLIDAY.

The American delegation, presided over by Mr. Hughes, spent the afternoon today in further discussion with Secretary of the Navy Denby, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, Admiral Coontz and Capt. Pratt of plans for a naval holiday worked out by the Navy Department.

It was learned that the American delegates have completed a pretty definite outline of the armament reduction proposals to be submitted to the conference. The American proposition is understood to aim at a joint agreement which would operate to curtail naval construction without changing the relative

OIL STRIKERS BACK TODAY.

Unions, Beaten, Vote to Return to Work; Accept Plan of Producers for "Individual Re-employment."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 2.—Kern River Local No. 19 of the striking oil workers who have been out seven weeks in the San Joaquin Valley fields at 5 o'clock tonight voted to return to work tomorrow morning. They also voted to strike in the future if presentation of an agreement for working hours, conditions and wages was not accepted by the operators.

Previous to the vote the program in which the strikers return to work, made public for the first time, was read to the strikers and received their approval.

The terms on which the strikers return to work accepts in detail the announced plan of the producers for "individual re-employment by company."

PROGRAM OUTLINED.

The program outlined in six paragraphs is as follows:

(1.) As soon as we return to work a workmen's committee will be elected on every lease. It will be the duty of this committee when strikers return for their jobs, and are refused them because they are filled by others, to take the matter up with the superintendent. Failing that they will take it up with the officials of the company, and again failing of result, will refer it back to their local union, which, in turn will take the matter up with the district council. The district council will then declare a strike against that company, and that will be in effect in the present entire strike area, so far as that company is concerned.

(2.) In order to build a proper defense fund, each worker will contribute one day's pay out of every two weeks to a fund for present and future emergency, this fund to be used to pay men who have been locked out.

(3.) Any group of men signing a separate agreement accepting new rules and working conditions shall be regarded as "scabs" and treated as such.

(4.) The district council will employ a statistician who will furnish monthly figures on consumption, shortage of oil and demand. He will, presenting at that time

Pat Harrison Raving Again, but Harmless.

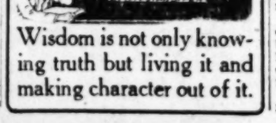
OWENSBORO (Ky.) Nov. 2.—In an address tonight Senator Harrison of Mississippi declared that the Democrats "see victory in 1924 in the air and the principles for which Woodrow Wilson fought vindicated."

"Yesterday I attended a meeting of the Democratic National Committee in St. Louis," he said. "The meeting was one of the most harmonious experienced by the Democrats. Everyone in attendance worked with one object in view—harmony—and they got it. The selection of Cordell Hull as national chairman met with the approval of every Democrat in attendance. The Democrats are militant. They will present a united front from now until the national election in 1924. They see victory in the air and the nation will yet see the principles for which Woodrow Wilson fought vindicated."



Wisdom is not only knowing truth but living it and making character out of it.

LEGION FACES BIG ISSUES, NEW COMMANDER SAYS.

National Convention Adjourns After Election of Officers; Will Fight for Adjusted Compensation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2.—Hanford MacNider of Mason City, Iowa, new Commander of the American Legion, tonight said the convention had outlined four great issues for which the Legion must fight and pledged his administration to uphold them.

His statement follows:

"The American Legion must build itself so big and fine and strong, and keep itself so clean and straight and American that when it asks for certain things—legislation for ex-service men and women and policies in their behalf—our communities will feel that if the Legion is for a thing it must be right. With that responsibility to our country and to every man and woman who wore our country's uniform in the World War we start a new legion year with pride in the Legion's past achievements, ambitious to serve and to keep serving to fulfill the great obligations before us.

"This convention has outlined four great issues to fight for—law and order, immediate relief for the disabled, Americanism and adjusted compensation and we shall fight for them."

CONVENTION ADJOURNS.

The national convention of the American Legion adjourned tonight after electing Hanford MacNider of Mason City, Iowa, National Commander, selecting other officers and adopting resolutions covering many subjects.

The election of MacNider to succeed John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, Mich., was made unanimous after more than half the State delegations had seconded his nomination and three other candidates nominated—Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma City, Earl M. Cline of Nebraska City, Neb., and John F. Williams of Joplin, Mo.—had withdrawn in his favor.

The vice-commanders chosen were George L. Berry of Rogerville, Tenn.; H. Nelson Jackson of Burlington, Vt., and Charles Kendrick of San Francisco, representing the Army and Raymond Brackett of Marblehead, Mass., and J. A. McCormick of Fort Lyon, Colo., the Navy.

The Rev. Earl Blackman of Chanute, Kansas, was elected national chaplain.

DAISY OFFICIAL FLOWER.

The daisy was adopted as the official flower of the Legion.

The election of officers concluded an all-day session marked by debate and wrangling over sections of the resolutions committee report, particularly one criticising the speech delivered by George A. Harvey, American Ambassador to Great Britain shortly after his arrival in England. In the address Mr. Harvey discussed the reasons why the United States entered the war.

The original resolution was thrown out on a roll call, and a substitute adopted. The substitute was written in less sharp terms and expressed the belief that the Ambassador's remarks did not represent the true feeling for which the American Legion stands. It directed that a copy of the resolution be sent to President Harding.

Two resolutions bearing on Federal compensation for former soldiers were among those adopted. Both declared in favor of immediate compensation legislation. One submitted by the convention's legislative committee declared that "after care-

PLAN SALES TAX FIGHT.

Leaders in House Still Adamant.

Serve Notice on Senate Republican Amendment Will Not be Considered.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Evidences of increased strength for the sales tax movement in the Senate caused House leaders again to serve notice on Senate Republicans today that under no circumstances will the House accept the sales tax as an amendment to the pending revenue bill.

Chairman Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee, Representatives Green and Longworth, who will be the three Republican conferees of the House when the tax bill is sent to conference, visited the Senate side of the Capitol to reiterate their opposition to the national sales tax. They declared that sentiment in the House is such that it will be useless to attempt to obtain approval of the sales tax at this time.

SPECIAL SALES TAX.

Representative Fordney, however, declared that he will advocate the raising of funds for a soldiers' bonus through a special sales tax. He said it is his intention to incorporate a sales tax in the bonus bill which he will introduce in the House at the beginning of the December session. He believes the House may accept the sales tax in that form although a Republican House caucus last year refused to approve a sales tax which was included in the original soldiers' bonus bill.

The Senate completed consideration of the committee amendments to the tax bill and took up amendments offered by individual Senators. There were about sixty of these amendments and slow progress was made in disposing of them. Neither the sales tax not the soldiers' bonus amendment will be taken up until they are out of the way.

NIGHT SESSION HELD.

The Senate again held a night session tonight in attempting to speed up action. Not only did the Senate fail to pass the bill tonight as some of the leaders had planned but it appeared likely that its consideration will be dragged out over the remainder of the week. The debate on the sales tax probably will occupy the greater part of a day and

FOCH GREETS CHILDREN.

Changes Schedule Rather Than Disappoint Them; Anniversary of Son's Death.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2.—Marshal Foch stayed here today rather than disappoint several thousand school children who had been told they might get a chance to see him. He had expected to go to Fort Leavenworth to visit the garrison; then he learned there was a plan to have school children lined upon along the boulevards that he might wave to them and they to him. Lieut.-Gen. Jacques of Belgium accompanied him on the tour.

Late in the day the Marshal was prevailed upon to go to Leavenworth. Accompanied by friends he visited the military establishment there. The party returned to Kansas City after dark and the Marshal, General Pershing and General Baron Jacques left on the first leg of their journey to Washington.

GREETS LITTLE GIRL.

When the Marshal's car stopped at the convent school of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Sion, seven girls, dressed in white and with the French tri-color in their hair, made a speech in French to the Marshal, who responded.

"Children," he said, in response to the greeting, "I came to America because I loved this land. I wanted to show my appreciation. We have been friends in war—we must be friends in peace. You boys, when you grow up must work; you little girls, when you are women must remember to pray."

When the formal program was concluded, the Marshal started to enter his car, but he changed his mind. He was tired, and he asked the head of the school whether he might rest for a moment in the parlor.

There were great tears in his eyes for today was the anniversary of the death of his son, who perished in the war.

The Marshal went alone into the parlor. He leaned back in a chair and closed his eyes. But he was not to take a nap. Several little girls, who had not been able to see Marshal Foch well when the exercises were in progress, tiptoed to the door to peek in. The Marshal saw them, bright-eyed and bashful, and beckoned them to enter. A half-dozen, abashed and delighted, sidled in and stood first on one foot, then another beside the Marshal's chair and smiled at him, answering his questions as to their names and ages. They had been taught to speak French, though some of them spoke lispingly. When the Marshal's twenty minutes were up, he shook hands with the two little boys gravely and kissed the little girls.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, (Kan.) Nov. 2.—Marshal Foch today termed the general service schools at Fort Leavenworth "the cradle of the General Staff of the United States Army."

He declared he had watched general American Army officers during the war and discovered the training received at Fort Leavenworth schools was invaluable.

LATEST NEWS

INTENDED VICTIM SENDS BANDIT TO HOSPITAL

An identified bandit met his Nemesis early this morning in D. J. Radze of Sherman, who beat him up with his own gun. According to the police report, Mr. Radze and Miss Hazel Jones of 1634 East Forty-ninth street were waiting for a car at Forty-eighth street and Long Beach avenue when the hold-up, who later gave his name as Angel Aguirre of 135 Rio street, jumped out from behind a telephone pole and, sticking a gun in Radze's ribs, demanded his money. Upon Radze telling him that he had no money the bandit made a grab for Radze's watch. This made the bandit's victim slightly peeved and he immediately pasted the stick-up in the nose, knocking him to the ground. Aguirre attempted twice to fire his gun, but it refused to work. Radze then grabbed the weapon and, laying the bandit over the railroad tracks, administered a beating with the butt. Passing motorists brought the trio to the Receiving Hospital.

GUEST'S SHOOTING BREAKS UP PARTY

Tony Panjich of 940 Summit avenue was removed to the Receiving Hospital early this morning suffering from a gunshot wound in the shoulder said to have been administered by a guest at a party Panjich was giving. According to Panjich, Steve Bisco, the guest, brought a gun to the party and, upon being asked to discard the weapon, refused. When Panjich attempted to take the gun from him, according to Panjich, Bisco shot him. A police search early this morning failed to locate Bisco.

GREEKS AND JUGO-SLAVS INVADE ALBANIA

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Albania is being invaded from the south by Greeks as well as from the north by Jugo-Slavs, according to a message from Bari, Italy, to the London Times' correspondent at Rome. The Greeks are variously estimated at from 1200 to 12,000, while other troops, well armed, have crossed the frontier.

SEVENTEEN PERSONS OVERCOME BY SMOKE

DENVER, Nov. 3.—Seventeen persons were overcome by smoke in the Stewart Hotel, 1753 Arapahoe street, about 1 o'clock this morning when fire broke out in a leather store in the first floor of the hotel building. Eleven were guests, the others firemen.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR L. A. BANTAMWEIGHT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. — The loot realized in the hold-up of a mail truck at Broadway and Leonard street last week is now officially estimated at $2,000,000. Postal officials here today added $500,000 to Postmaster-General Hays's estimate of $1,500,000.

This addition represents the value of seventy packages of registered mail still unaccounted for.

Six New York postoffice officials were summoned to Washington today to confer with Postmaster-General Hays in an effort to fix responsibility for the robbery. They are: Postmaster Edward Morgan, Henry Lippman, superintendent of registry; Elijah M. Norris, superintendent of mails; Walter Mayer, superintendent of money orders, and the superintendent and former superintendent of the mail truck garage.

It was learned today that last night inspectors re-enacted the hold-up along lines set down in the story told by the driver of the truck that was robbed. The authorities proceeded up Broadway in a regular postoffice wagon. Locked up inside of the truck were two postal officials. At Leonard street another car drove up to the postoffice truck, as on the night of the hold-up, and in accordance with stated directions, pointed revolvers at the man driving the truck.

Driving up Broadway about this time was one of the motorcycle guards for an escort for regular postal wagons going from the main postoffice to a point uptown. The motorcycle guard, mistaking it for a genuine hold-up, jumped from his side car and running to the pseudo-hold-up men as they were about to unlock the door of the postal wagon with the inspectors, threatened to shoot them if they did not desist.

The surprised "actors" explained, showed their credentials and the zealous guard went on his way.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The story of the audacious escape from custody of "Dr." Norman B. Garrett, claiming to be a graduate of University of Pennsylvania medical school, accused of the theft, in Washington, D. C., and sale in New York City, of two score automobiles, came to light today. He escaped from two Washington detectives late Saturday night while being driven to Washington in one of the thirty-nine cars he is said to have appropriated.

The getaway was made about twenty miles south of Baltimore, when the gasoline supply gave out, necessitating one of the detectives going in search of a gas station. Garrett was shackled in handcuffs and ankle irons, and, according to Detective Fleet S. Hughlett, the Washington detective who remained with him, he curled himself up for a nap on the back seat.

Suddenly, says the detective, the back seat was empty and Garrett, apparently unhindered by the shackles, was making speed toward the woods on one side of the road. The detective pursued him for some distance, but was outdistanced.

Later, the police heard, a man answering to "Dr." Garrett's description stopped a truck bound for the capital and introduced himself to the driver as a revenue officer, who had suffered the indignity of being robbed of his papers, money and shield, and bound with his own irons by inconsiderate bootleggers. The driver was sympathetic and helped file the irons off with a rock and then drove the revenue officer on to Washington. He disappeared when he entered an office building ostensibly to obtain funds with which to pay his benefactor.

When Garrett was arrested several weeks ago he escaped from the automobile in which he was being driven to police headquarters and was halted only when detectives opened fire after a chase along Riverside Drive.

FAR-SEEING PRECAUTION.

President's Advisers Declare Birmingham Speech Forestalls International Racial Controversies.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Close advisers of President Harding see in his recent Birmingham address more than a courageous definition of the negro problem made in the very heart of the South. They see in it a far-seeing precaution against international racial controversies which may some time involve the United States in a controversy.

These careful observers believe that the President made an opportunity to state the position of the United States on the race question for all times to come both as far as it applies to negro citizens of the United States and aliens from other lands.

Should any nation demand for its nationals rights of social equality when the nationals could not be assimilated into the great melting pot of men without violence to all society, the answer of the United States is plain. Opportunity in economic and political pursuits have only been suggested for bona-fide citizens of the United States who could not be assimilated. What should the United States do more for aliens than it is willing to do for its own.

Whether any such suggestion is likely to be injected into the Disarmament Conference cannot be forecast, but close friends of the President declare that he has answered in advance any such proposition whenever made and from whatever quarter it may come.

This phase of the address was the cause of much discussion in the cloak rooms of Congress today and the subject of much gossip among well-informed men who are to attend the Disarmament Conference as observers or participants.

MANY CHILDREN WORK IN COLORADO FIELDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Nearly 1100 children under 16 years of age are employed in the Colorado beet fields, according to a survey completed by the children's bureau of the Department of Labor. The harmful effects of their labor, a statement tonight said, was shown by medical examination.

UNION DEAL WITH SHELL IS RATIFIED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The board of directors of the Union Oil Company of Delaware today officially ratified the plan for the merger of the company's properties with the British-controlled Royal Dutch Petroleum Company and at the same time called a special meeting of the stockholders for November 17 for the purpose of voting their approval to the plan.

Their approval is expected, as it is understood that a majority of the larger stockholders have given their consent. This merger will take in all the properties of the Union Oil Company and the American interests of the Royal Dutch Company, with the exception of the tankers. The tankers were not included, as these operate in all sections of the world.

FOR NEW CORPORATION.

The plan calls for the formation of a new corporation under the laws of Delaware. No name for the new company has as yet been agreed upon, but the name of the Union Consolidated has been suggested and probably will be adopted, providing there is not a corporation already formed under the laws of Delaware which resembles it. The new company will have a capital stock of 10,000,000 shares without nominal or par value, of which the Royal Dutch interests will receive 72 per cent and the Union Oil Company of Delaware 28 per cent. The new company will have nineteen directors, of which the Royal Dutch Company has asked the Union Oil officials to choose fourteen. The new officials have already been chosen by the Union Oil Company, but as yet their names have not been made public. Who the other five members of the board will be was also withheld for the time being.

SCHLACKS'S STATEMENT.

C. H. Schlacks, president of the Union company, sent a statement to the stockholders with the notice of the meeting, which in part says that "the consolidation, if carried out, will enable your company without the raising of new capital to share in the advantages of the additional properties which will permit the immediate realization of its plans.

"Your company, after the proposed consolidation, will have 2,240,000 shares (28 per cent) of the total issue of capital stock of the new company, with 10,000-ton tankers, producing properties in West Virginia and Kentucky and liquid assets consisting of cash and government bonds, inventories of oil and materials and accounts and notes receivable, $2,082,200, against which its current liabilities, including bank loans and final payment in January, 1922, on Columbia Oil producing stock, are $5,250,000, in addition to which provision is to be made for the costs and expenses involved in the transfer of the assets to the consolidated company and contingencies for Federal taxes."

The Union Oil Company has operated largely in California and con-

IRISH NEAR AGREEMENT.

Terms of Peace Made Known.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Prime Minister Lloyd George is not going to Washington on Saturday, but he hopes to go later. His departure was postponed not because the conference is going badly, but because it has got down to the realities of the situation and is now at such critical work that the Prime Minister feels he must stay and see it through.

London was thrown into a state of excitement this afternoon by a rumor that an agreement had been reached by the conference, but at most this was premature. When Michael Collins was asked whether it was true or not, he said:

"If an agreement has been completed I do not know it yet, but I am hopeful. I have always been hopeful, conference or no conference."

TERMS MADE KNOWN.

If an agreement has not been reached, stages have been reached at which each side knows the terms which will be acceptable to the other and these terms have been brought into a rough agreement. Before they can be put into effect, however, the consent of Ulster must be obtained, and Sir James Craig will arrive in London before the end of the week.

Discussions already have taken place informally between his representatives and those of Downing street, and it is believed that when he and his followers realize that the Irish peace, and therefore the peace of the empire, depend on reasonable concessions by them they will agree to the terms.

There are two reports on these terms. One, and the most probable,

OUTLAW COAL STRIKE BEGUN

Men Walk Out in Many Places Because of Court's Attempt to End Conspiracy Against Independents.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—Delay in the spread of the protest strike of soft-coal miners, started today by walkouts of 25,000 union workers, closing more than 200 mines in Indiana, was anticipated tonight by officials of the United Mine Workers of America, who said developments awaited discontinuance by operators of the union check-off of dues from miners' wages, as directed by Federal Judge Anderson's injunction.

Indications were that union officials would not call out the men, scattered throughout the soft-coal fields of the country, until collection of the check-off actually ceased. First official reports of action by operators elsewhere than in Indiana reached union headquarters tonight, coming from the Pennsylvania bituminous districts. The message from R. R. Gibbons, president of the district, said the check-off would be stopped with the next pay day.

Indiana workers, however, did not withhold their strike to await a formal notice from the operators, whose notice stopping the check-off has been drafted by counsel. None of the important mines in the State worked today and reports said only sixteen mines were in operation.

P. H. Penna, secretary of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, in a statement today took issue with President Lewis and other union officials, whether obedience of the injunction would result in violation of a contract between miners and operators, asserting that the contract provided that both parties were bound by any decision of a Federal court.

Townley Begins Jail Sentence of Ninety Days.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JACKSON (Minn.) Nov. 2.—A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League, spent tonight in the County Jail beginning his sentence of ninety days for conspiracy to encourage disloyalty during the war.

His incarceration ended a three-year legal battle started here and carried to the United States Supreme Court.

Fatigued and haggard from the nerve strain of the North Dakota campaign and travel, Townley entered his cell after a 300-mile automobile drive from Fargo. A number of adherents were here to greet him.

Townley's first act in jail was to obtain the release of a fellow-prisoner, J. H. Puckman, 19 years old. Puckman, convicted of stealing an automobile, was fined $25 and costs. He told Townley he had some money coming from an employer. Townley wrote a check for $50 and instructed the officers to take out the fine and costs and give Puckman the remainder to pay his fare home.

ful consideration of all of the arguments advanced in opposition to the measure, including the letter of the Secretary of the Treasury, and the address of the President to Congress, we still firmly believe in the justice, fairness, and immediate necessity of the adjusted compensation measures."

The resolution adds that it is resolved that the Legion "reaffirms its stand upon adjusted compensation and asks that Congress pass this measure without further equivocation or delay."

The other compensation resolution adopted was offered by the resolutions committee. It asserted that the Legion reiterates its position in favor of the adjusted compensation for discharged soldiers and deplores the request of President Harding to delay passage by Congress of such a measure, "and the acquiescence of Congress in that request."

CHARGES MADE.

Besides the section relating to Col. Harvey, the only part of the resolutions committee's report to meet opposition was that relating to indorsement by the Legion of the proposal that the chemical industry be developed with a view to making chemical warfare a more important part of the nation's defenses.

The resolution was tabled pending investigation of charges made that financial interests were seeking to influence the Legion to indorse the proposal. Later the matter broke out on the floor again when a motion was made to reconsider, and charges of financial interests in the proposal were repeated. The convention affirmed its previous action, which referred the resolution to the national executive committee.

HARVEY SQUABBLE.

The original resolution denouncing Col. Harvey asserted that his words were "a miserable calumny worthy of a little mind dominated by envy and jealousy, and incapable of appreciating the higher ideals of life, and, therefore, ascribing to others the only motives which it is able to understand."

The resolution would have represented to the President that "Col. Harvey was unfit to hold any office whatsoever in the gift of the nation," and asserted that "a public rebuke and an immediate recall would be punishment mild in form compared with the enormity of the offense which he had committed." The motion was debated at length before finally being tabled. The substitute was offered by Delegate Cole of Ohio and was adopted amid cheers.

Besides the Harvey, compensation and chemical warfare sections the report of the resolutions committee contained paragraphs indorsing the conference on armaments, opposed granting amnesty to Eugene V. Debs, now serving a term in Federal prison at Atlanta for violation of the war-time laws, and other violators of war-time statutes and urged that all publicity be given draft lists, and that every effort be made to apprehend Grover C. Bergdoll, draft evader.

In regard to Debs and other war-time offenders, the resolution said that the Legion entered a solemn protest against the mitigation of any such sentences while "ex-service men are being held for trivial violations of the articles of war."

EMPLOYMENT PREFERENCE.

Other resolutions urged that the government give all possible preference to the employment of former service men and extended the convention's greetings to former President Wilson, wishing him "a speedy and complete recovery from an illness incurred in the service of his country."

The Americanism committee report touched on efforts to instill in the mind of the children and alien residents the principles of better citizenship. It recommended that aliens be prohibited from coming in for five years, exception being made in the case of an alien with mother, wife, brother or sister who is a naturalized American. One resolution adopted reaffirmed the Legion's previous stand on Japanese immigration, but made no specific recommendations.

The report of the Legion's committee on naval affairs urged construction of "complete and sufficient" naval bases on each coast, suggesting that each have one main base sufficient to maintain the entire naval establishment, if necessary, with a port free from industry.

The committee on disabled veterans made numerous recommendations, including one that such veterans receive treatment at government, instead of private hospitals. It also declared that the problem of taking care of the disabled still was unsolved and urged that the Legion bend every effort toward seeing that the men received what was termed "proper treatment."

Lemuel Bolles of Seattle tonight was re-elected national adjutant of the American Legion by the new national executive committee. The new committee decided to send a representative of the American Legion to the international meeting of the inter-Allied veterans' associations in London next December.

CREATE NEW TITLES.

Late today the convention voted to confer on Milton J. Foreman of Chicago the title of Past National Commander. Foreman was chairman of the Paris conference, at which the Legion was organized. The Rev. Thomas Houston Wiles of Colorado was made a Past National Chaplain.

The hardest contest arose in the election of the new National Chaplain, the Rev. M. Blackman, who was placed in nomination by Kansas. Montana presented the Rev. E. Porter, of that State, and Pennsylvania nominated Father J. L. N. Wolfe, of Philadelphia, the Pennsylvania Department Chaplain.

On the first ballot, Blackman received 408 votes; Father Wolfe, 405, and the Montana man, 183. Montana withdrew its candidate, and on the next ballot the vote stood: Blackman, 494; Wolfe, 423.

It was ruled 536 votes were necessary to win, a majority of the convention voting strength, and another roll call was ordered.

BALLOT INTERRUPTED.

The third ballot was interrupted when the total Iowa vote was cast for Blackman. The credentials of the man delivering the Iowa vote was challenged and the presiding officer threw them out after ordering the man from the floor. It was discovered no Iowa delegates were in the hall.

A Kansas delegate, who announced he took responsibility for having the Iowa votes cast, apologized, declaring he did not know the man whom he asked to vote for Iowa was not an accredited delegate. He said the Iowa delegation, in caucus, decided to support the Kansas candidate. A motion carried, accepting the apology.

The roll call proceeded on the third ballot and Father Wolfe forged ahead, getting 463 votes, against 436 for Rev. Blackman.

Then Commander Emery declared Rev. Blackman the winner on the second ballot, reversing the previous ruling. He explained that Rev. Blackman held a majority on that ballot, inasmuch as only two were contending.

Pennsylvania tried to move that the election of the Kansan be made unanimous, but Commander Emery declared adjournment had forestalled this course.

FOCH AERO CLUB MEMBER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2.—Marshal Foch was presented with a life membership in the Aero Club of America when a visitor at the American Legion flying meet today. Eddie Rickenbacker made the speech of presentation.

Marshal Foch replied:

"The airplane will cement the union between France and the United States and the trans-Atlantic air service soon to start between the two countries will make your country and mine one.

"The American aviator coming to France at the crucial moment when the rest of the Allies were tired out from over-fighting, so stimulated all the air forces that the victory was hastened."

IRISH PEACE IS REPORTED NEAR.

is the extension of powers and the democratization of the council of Ireland under the present home rule act, making it a real national parliament with Ulster agreeing to come in as a province and retaining its autonomy. Under this plan it is possible also for Ulster to surrender Tyrone, Fermanagh and parts of Down and Armanagh to Southern Ireland.

The other plan, which is more difficult of execution, is the formation of two Irish dominions and the drawing of a frontier similar to that done in Upper Silesia, which would wander in and out in crazy-quilt fashion to separate the protestants and Catholics and which would be sure to satisfy no one.

At any rate, it is likely that there will be a definite advance or a definite break in the next few days. The Irish delegates are more hopeful than they have been and declare that the situation is 50 per cent better than that a week ago. One of the leaders also said that the time for formulae was past and they had no intention of allowing a dogma to interfere with a common-sense settlement.

NO MEETING CALLED.

There was no meeting today of the full conference, and none has been called yet. Officially also there was no meeting of the big four committee, but I learned that Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith met Mr. Lloyd George and a couple of the other Ministers privately.

The Belfast correspondent wired late tonight that Sir James Craig will leave for London on Friday. He will remain in London for a week before crossing to France to unveil a memorial at Thiepval. His visit is described as private, but it is possible that he may be called to join the conference.

A hastily summoned meeting of the conference committee was held tonight at 10 Downing street, those present being Prime Minister Lloyd George, Lord Birkenhead, J. Austen Chamberlain, Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins.

ULSTER IS DISCUSSED.

The presence of Lord Birkenhead, who as plain F. E. Smith was Sir Edward Carson's right-hand man in the threatened Ulster rebellion of 1914, indicates that Ulster was the subject under consideration.

If the Irish peace conference fails and the British resort to force to coerce Ireland, it will cost Great Britain £250,000,000 in money and the lives of 200,000 men, according to an article in the Daily Express giving military and naval authorities' estimates of the cost of the alternative to the success of the parley.

PRISONERS RELEASED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, Nov. 2.—It is announced that ten prisoners in the Ballykinlar internment camp were liberated today. The release was considered here as indicating a general release of prisoners is not distant.

Dr. Patrick McCartan, former representative of the Dail Eireann in the United States, today was appointed commissioner of the Dail Eireann to administer affairs of the Dublin board of guardians. The guardians recently confessed inability to cope with the administration, owing to the vested interests of officials and others since the old regime.

OIL COMPANY OFFICIAL HELD UNDER BONDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Charged with the illegal conversion of $100,000 in funds of the Normal Oil Company, of which he was vice-president and general manager, M. N. Bensabat was arrested today and later released on a bond of $50,000.

CUTS GENERALS IN MEXICAN ARMY.

Obregon Refuses to Reinstate Those of Old Regime to Soft Berths.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5.—There already are too many generals and colonels in the Mexican army, and for that reason President Obregon has refused to reinstate into the Federal army numerous officers of the old army who petitioned that they be given active commands at their old grades.

CONFERENCE ON ARMAMENT BUSY.

strength of Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

Details of the plan are withheld for diplomatic reasons and will be presented to the representatives of all the powers at the same time.

ARMY CUT NOT DISCUSSED.

The American delegation has given virtually no consideration to concrete plans for the limitation of land armaments. Inasmuch as the United States already has reduced its Army to the basis required for police purposes only, this is a question of less concern to America. There is a prevalent opinion that an agreement on limitation of land armament is unlikely to be evolved by the conference.

The conference will assemble for the first time at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, November 12, in the hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It will be called to order by Secretary Hughes and will be welcomed by President Harding in an address which will strike the keynote of the American attitude toward war, world peace and reduction of armaments. Organization of the body probably will be deferred till Monday when Mr. Hughes will be elected president of the conference and the heads of other delegations vice-presidents.

LLOYD GEORGE MAY COME.

The report that Premier Lloyd George may not be able to attend the opening of the conference on limitation of armaments was disappointing, but not depressing news to this government, as the State Department was aware of developments in British affairs which might postpone the Prime Minister's visit to Washington.

It is confidently expected that Mr. Lloyd George will come to Washington later, possibly the end of November, if the work of the conference gets well under way by that time, or after the Christmas holidays if difficulties are met within the conference which retard its progress, and if these difficulties should bring the conference to a deadlock some diplomatic commentators believe that the British Prime Minister will appear on the scene at the right moment to throw the weight of his personal prestige and his skill as a mediator into the conference to effect an agreement.

REFLECTS BRITISH SPIRIT.

The formal statement issued in New York by Lord Lee of Fareham, First Lord of the British Admiralty, is accepted at its face value here and as reflecting the spirit with which the British delegation will enter the conference. It is taken to indicate that, as regards fundamentals, the British government's views are in entire consonance with those of President Harding and that so far as Great Britain is concerned there remains only to be worked out the practical application of principles whose definitions in their largest aspects have been given alike by both the American and the British governments.

A strong plea for open sessions of the arms conference was made to President Harding today by Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, noted authoress, who called at the White House as the representative of the Vigilantes, an organization formed during the World War to syndicate articles to promote the prosecution of the war by the United States.

Mrs. Rinehart was accompanied by Booth Tarkington, Wallace Irwin, Charles Hansen Towne and Charles Rosebault.

FIGHT PLANNED ON SALES TAX.

the soldiers' bonus debate will also take a considerable time.

Senator Lenroot will lead the fight against the sales tax in the Senate on the Republican side of the chamber. Several of the Democratic leaders will oppose it. Senator Smoot, the chief advocate of the sales tax, will be aided by a number of the influential Republican Senators, particularly those from eastern States.

It is admitted in all quarters that the resentment against various miscellaneous excise taxes retained or imposed for the first time in the pending bill has fostered sentiment for a sales tax. The argument has been advanced that the only way to get rid of the miscellaneous taxes amounting to 5 or 10 per cent on products of particular industries is to adopt a general sales tax at a lower rate applicable to all industries.

The general belief is that about a third of the total members of the Senate can be counted on to vote for a sales tax. There are no indications that a majority vote is assured.

The Senate approved committee amendments relative to the taxing of insurance companies. Under the new scheme life insurance companies will pay a tax of 15 per cent on their investment income, while other companies with the exception of mutuals, will pay a tax of 15 per cent on their investment and underwriting income. The mutuals will continue to pay taxes as provided in the present law.

An amendment also was approved which increases from $1000 to $5000, the maximum amount of war savings certificates which can be purchased by one individual.

Senator Hitchcock failed in an attempt to obtain approval of an amendment providing an annual tax of $50 on dealers in firearms in addition to a tax of 2 per cent on sales of firearms.

The Senate rejected an amendment by Senator Trammell raising from 18 to 21 years the age under which the $400 exemption for a dependent applies. Senator Trammell argued that this would give an exemption during the period when many parents are subject to additional expense while their children are in college.

TALK ARMAMENT FIRST, IS VIEW.

powers should make up their minds to be patient with China.

"There is an old Chinese proverb," he said, "which declares China must control foreigners by utilizing foreigners, or to translate the expression literally, otherwise, she must master the barbarians with the help of the barbarians. That policy she follows with skill and cleverness, just as Turkey has in the past played England against Russia and England against Germany and as that play led to the ruin of Turkey, so will the powers' rivalry in China lead to the collapse of that country if not corrected.

MUST ACT IN CONCERT.

"The salvation of China, therefore, lies in bringing her to the realization that the rest of the world will act as a unit in dealing with her. To begin with, let the powers have enough of self-denial, not to give themselves up to vain disputes among themselves and the next positive step in that direction is the international consortium as shown by that in financial affairs. China has not yet accepted the consortium agreement and personally I do not believe she would ever accept the idea of general international control. International control, moreover, must be backed by armed force if necessary, and what powers would be disposed to send armies to China? Would the powers give Japan the mandate to do so? If they would, Japan will certainly hesitate to accept this dangerous mission. Of the danger of such an undertaking, Japan has learned enough."

He declared that the contention by some critics that Japan secretly desired a weak and disorganized China was a falsity. An orderly China was necessary to Japan, politically and commercially, he insisted, adding that he believed Japan would subscribe to any rational plan to secure it. But Japan, he said, would look with extreme disfavor on any group of western powers obtaining a dominancy in China to the exclusion of Japan.

ITALY PROMISES SUPPORT.

During the Washington conference, Italy "will never hesitate to give all her support to any proposal which may eliminate future conflicts and assure peace," Senator Schanzer, president of the Italian delegation, said in a statement tonight.

"We feel convinced," he added, "that the conference will reach a substantial conclusion and that the friendly relationship between the United States and Italy will be consecrated by even closer links of friendship."

"When it was necessary to defend her national rights and to fight for liberty and justice," he continued, "Italy proved to be able to stand the hardest moral and material sacrifices and to fight until the day of victory. But the Italian people are sincerely peace-loving. Our country wishes to live on good terms with everybody and wishes to devote all her strength to her economical reconstruction.

PEACE SUPREME IDEAL.

"Peace is for Italy, the supreme ideal; not only peace with her neighbors, but also the general peace of the world. Italy wants, above all, to overcome the economic consequences of the war, to develop again her production and her trade and to re-establish her financial situation. Of course Italy has the duty of safeguarding her national interests and her security, but this does not prevent her from being opposed to any new war."

In expressing its principles, through the Armament Conference, the United States "will voice generally the sentiments of all the Americas," Minister Varela of Uruguay, today told the governing board of the Pan-American Union. Secretary Hughes expressed his appreciation of Mr. Varela's "generous sentiments."

SHELL, UNION, MERGER MADE.

tains a number of subsidiary and affiliated companies, including the Commonwealth Petroleum Corporation, Western Union Oil, United Western Consolidated Oil Company, Dunlop Oil Company, Eddystone Oil Corporation, Columbia Oil Producing Company and the Puente Oil Company. Its capital stock consists of 5,000,000 shares of no par value, of which about 1,367,000 have been issued.

INCORPORATED IN 1890.

The Royal Dutch Company was incorporated at The Hague in 1890 and the American company, which is corporately known as the Royal Dutch Company of New York, is owned by American interests, which also have a predominating interest in the Shell Company of California. Shell Transport and Trading is primarily a British corporation, distributing and transporting petroleum products, owning many tank steamers and operating can factories in all parts of the world.

Royal Dutch and Shell Transport and Trading, the formerly particularly, have long been active on the New York Stock Exchange, but the Union Oil Company only recently became prominent, with other California oil companies, notably Pacific Oil, whose vast holdings of oil lands in California were until last year controlled by the Southern Pacific Company.

Isaac Milbank, a director of the Union Oil Company of California and one of those chiefly active in the present movement to pool the stock of the Union Oil of California to guard local interests, said last night when informed of the effected merger that he does not believe it will greatly affect California holdings, inasmuch as, he stated, not more than 27 per cent of the stock of the Union of California is held, controlled or indirectly influenced by the Union of Delaware interests.

The pooling of the stock of the Union of California, he reiterated, is merely a constructive move to insure that California interests remain Californian and are not taken away by any outsiders. The stock is coming in at a rate which indicates that there will presently be a majority represented in the pool.

ACCUSED CANADIAN SURRENDERS HIMSELF.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BUFFALO, Nov. 2. — Arthur W. Ecrement of Montreal, former member of the Canadian Parliament, gave himself up to the District Attorney late today. He is charged with grand larceny in connection with the alleged theft of $135,000 from the late Capt. Connelly, Montreal contractor, who claimed he was fleeced in a fake poolroom game here in 1915.

DEATH CHAIN TO KILL OFF RATS.

New York Health Officials Plan Extermination of Rodents.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—An endless chain of death is being prepared for the rat population of New York, the city health department announced today.

A half dozen of the city's six million rats will be inoculated, it is explained, with a serum which will cause their death shortly after they have been released to return to their fellows. Experts say the carcasses will be eaten by other rats. These, in turn, will die, and provide poison serum for succeeding links in the endless chain, it is claimed.

OUTLAW COAL STRIKE BEGUN.

covered from apprehension over the threatened railroad strike, are again anxious over the danger of a coal miners' strike in protest to Judge Anderson's injunction against the Williamson field miners. Nothing has been done by Federal authorities in the matter in advance of an actual move toward a strike by the miners, but a careful watch has been set on developments and decisive efforts will be made, if necessary, to avert the threatened outbreak of the miners.

The National Coal Association has been taking stock on the national coal supply and submitted figures on the supply as of November 1. The bituminous situation was summarized as follows:

Household consumers as a rule have not stocked their bins heavily with coal, but there is available in retail yards the country over a sufficient supply to last on an average of three weeks. This may be considered a reserve household supply. Taken together, the stocks in the bins and in the retail yards, it is estimated, will average approximately from a six weeks' to two months' supply the country over.

UTILITIES WELL FIXED.

Public utilities throughout the country have reserves enough to run their plants anywhere from two to four months, and in some cities for a considerably longer period. The railroad systems have supplies on hand for at least six weeks, with approximately another week's supply on wheels.

Industrial users are buying slowly owing to the uncertainty of business and the consequent inability to forecast what their actual winter demand will be.

"Taken as a whole," says an association statement, "the public utilities and the railroad systems are vastly better equipped with coal reserves than are the other consumers. The household user of both bituminous and anthracite, however, is believed to be in a position to augment his stocks without great difficulty, both from the retail supply on hand and from further output as it comes from the mines, because of the very fact that the utilities and railroads are so well supplied now.

HOLDING THE BAG.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TERRE HAUTE, (Ind.) Nov. 2.—The part the operators are playing in the strike of coal miners of the Indiana field is that of "holding the bag," said H. H. Penna, secretary-treasurer of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, in a statement tonight. There are no differences between the operators and miners, the statement said, but the strike is against the order of Judge Anderson.

OPERATORS DO NOTHING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—The Illinois Coal Operators' Association will take no action regarding the Federal injunction to abandon the check-off system until Wednesday, when a meeting is to be held here. This announcement was made today by Dr. H. C. Honnold, secretary of the association, who is sending copies of the injunction, accompanied by a memorandum, to all members. The memorandum points out that the association feels that there should be a thorough investigation by members and their attorneys, since the check-off injunction conflicts with one issued October 5 by Circuit Judge Miller of Franklin county.

Frank Farrington, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, today sent out telegrams advising all miners to remain at work pending decision by the operators regarding the injunction, but officials of the operators' associations said tonight they were informed miners employed by the Marion County Coal Company in Marion county, and the J. K. Deering Coal Company at Eldorado had walked out.

The Illinois field, second largest in the country, has a total of 938 mines, which, in 1920, employed 86,192 men.

QUIT IN WASHINGTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Nov. 2.—Approximately 2500 coal miners employed in railroad mines and by independent operators in the State of Washington would be affected, should operators put into effect the abrogation of the check-off system of collecting union dues, Ernest Newacham, secretary of District 10, United Mine Workers of America, said today. He explained that such action would be regarded by the union as in violation of existing agreements, and could only result in a walkout of all union miners under the instructions received from international officers of the United Mine Workers.

Practically all commercial mines of the State are either closed or operating on an open shop basis as the result of the refusal of union miners last March to accept wage cuts of between 23 and 24 per cent proposed by operators. A few independent mines and the railroad mines are operating under the old wage agreement and would be the only ones affected by abrogation of the check-off system.

IOWA THREATENING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ALBIA (Iowa) Nov. 2.—John Gay, secretary of the United Mine Workers of the thirteenth district, says there will be a general strike of miners in Iowa if the operators attempt to discontinue the union check-off system.

"Iowa miners," he said, "will not stand for any change in the contract with the operators, which will be in force until April 1 next year."

a scale of wages and working conditions, possibly asking an increase in wages, and failing of its signature go out on strike."

(5.) The present strike committees will continue to function and will act as far as possible in cooperation with the workmen's committees.

OTHER LOCALS HAVE ACTED.

The question asked concerning a future strike in article four of the strikers' program was voted unanimously by 1500 strikers sitting in mass meeting at a local theater. Their action was applauded by nearly as many women to whom the meeting was open.

The vote of the Kern River local was the final vote before the strikers returned to work, all other locals having favorably voted on the return to work last evening in other sections of the field affected by the strike.

That the district council knew three weeks ago that the Secretary of Labor would probably ask the strikers to call off the strike was intimated to the mass meeting by W. J. Yarrow, adviser to the union, who said that at that time a meeting of ex-service men had discussed every possible phase of such a telegram, and had decided that the strikers' best course would be to follow such a request. The meeting of the ex-service men referred to by Mr. Yarrow was held three weeks ago in a local hall and lasted twelve hours.

A hope that Secretary of Labor Davis will find "the owners of the oil industry as ready to comply with the request of the government" as the oil workers who tonight called off a seven weeks' strike at Davis's request is expressed in the strikers' answer to his telegram.

The telegram will be sent Mr. Davis tonight and is as follows:

"In accordance with your request, the District Council of Oil Workers of the State of California submitted your telegram requesting that the existing strike be called off without prejudice. The result is that the members in every district of this strike zone to whom the telegram was read agreed to comply with the request of the government and immediately return to work in the interest of industrial peace and the preservation of business interests in our various oil communities and to save the oil structure from further damage from water and in the interest of the public good.

"We thank you for your good offices and the interest you have shown and we sincerely hope you will find the owners of the oil industry of this State as ready to comply with the request of the government as we, the workers."

The telegram was signed by W. J. Yarrow, adviser, and E. B. Daniel, secretary.

Hope of Ending New York Milk Strike Vanishes.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Prospects for a settlement of the strike of 10,000 milk wagon drivers, salesmen and platform men vanished tonight when the milk conference board, the employers' organization, voted against submitting matters in dispute to arbitration.

Earlier union leaders agreed to recommend to the strikers that they return to their jobs on terms of the old wage agreement, pending a round table discussion with the employers. The contract under which the men had been working expired November 1. The men demanded an increase of $5 a week in their new contract, whereas the employers had proposed a reduction.

GERMANS WANT TO REBUILD VILLAGES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Representatives of a German syndicate called on M. Loucheur, Minister of Liberated Regions, today, and offered to rebuild twelve villages in the Somme district with German labor and material, the reconstruction to be considered as a charge against the reparations account under the Loucheur-Rathenau agreement.

The Germans informed M. Loucheur 2500 workers were ready to reconstruct the twelve villages with, in a year. The list of these villages included Belloy-en-Santerre, Ablaincourt, Fay and Vermandovillers. The Minister told the Germans he would inform them of his decision Monday.

Merchant Marine Hampered by Americans.

Railroads Give Business to Foreign Ships.

Senator Ransdell Tells How Contracts Work.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Me.) Nov. 2.—The country "may confidently look forward to the day when many-faced opponents of an American merchant marine shall find their influence broken," Col. E. C. Plumer, commissioner of the United States Shipping Board, said in an address tonight.

Congress having provided the opportunity to solve the problem, he predicted a day when the American flag would again be seen on every ocean.

After reviewing factors that entered into the upbuilding of a merchant marine, he said:

"But in all this work, we are forced to remember that we are facing world competitors, who during the last half century have been able to succeed largely through divisions among our own people in the subtle spreading of the impressions calculated to militate against that national support which our shipping must have if it is to compete with the favored vessels of the Old World, and even today influential journals are voicing sentiments calculated to raise in honest, but uninformed minds, the question of whether or not it is worth while for this nation to have and maintain a merchant fleet for our foreign trade."

RAILROADS ARE BLAMED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Foreign competition aided and abetted by Americans was declared today by United States Senator Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana, in an address before the Advertising Club, to be one of the "underlying causes that are crippling the development of the American merchant marine."

Nearly a score of American railroads, he said, including some of the greatest systems, have filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission copies of contracts in which they agreed to use their best efforts to secure freight "for foreign shipping companies to the exclusion of others."

Senator Ransdell cited as examples contracts between the Pennsylvania system and Furness, Withy & Co., a British corporation; between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the North German Lloyd Line, and the Boston and Albany Railroad and the Cunard Line.

"Exclusive use of facilities is granted in many cases," the speaker said, "free wharfage and freight handling is given, special arrangements on through bills of lading are made, and many other privileges accorded.

GIVES REDUCED RATE.

"The Boston and Albany Railroad in its agreement with the Cunard Line grants the free and exclusive use of certain piers, and in addition further pledges under certain conditions a reduced rate of 2¼ cents per hundred pounds for freight in carload lots."

"As a result of the operation of the various contracts well over a million tons of freight are turned over annually by American railroads to foreign ships. The most amazing aspect of the situation, however, is that the railroads, supplied with funds from the United States Treasury, have been utilizing their resources to build up the business and swell the profits of foreign competitors of the government's shipping."

Enforcement of the Merchant Marine Act of 1920, "especially of those sections providing for the maintenance of new trade routes, equality of opportunity for American ports generally, preferential rail rates on shipments by American vessels and discriminating duties and tonnage duties" was recommended by Mr. Ransdell.

DIAMOND BROKER IS ROBBED OF JEWELRY.

CHICAGO BANDITS GET $120,000 IN LOOT, TIE VICTIMS TO TREES IN PARK.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2. — "Nice scenery around here and you boys are welcome to look at it as long as you please," declared three facetious and heavily armed bandits, as they bound M. Schwartz, a diamond broker and A. H. Nathan, his brother in law to a tree in a lonely spot at Highland Park. The bandits then made off with jewelry valued at $120,000.

Schwartz and Nathan had started on an automobile tour of the small jewelry stores of the North Shore towns and were carrying a heavy stock for immediate delivery. Evidently the bandits knew of the trip, for they encountered the jewelry salesmen at an isolated place in the park and went about their business quickly and systematically. In addition to taking the valises containing the gems and jewelry, they also despoiled Schwartz and Nathan of all their cash and personal jewelry and then tied them to a tree.

IMPORTS OF GOLD EXCEED EXPORTS.

MORE SILVER IS ALSO BEING BROUGHT TO COUNTRY THAN IS SENT ABROAD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Imports of gold for the ten days ending October 20 amounted to $14,820,959, as against exports of $1,411,563.

From January 1 to October 20 imports totaled $593,505,506 and exports $15,854,902.

Imports during the ten-day period included $7,093,978 from France, $4,334,749 from England, $1,524,459 from British India, and $419,698 from Germany. Exports included $1,000,000 to British India and $263,058 to Canada.

Imports of silver for the ten days ending October 20 amounted to $1,692,832 and exports to $851,441. From January 1 to October 20 imports amounted to $48,606,050 and exports to $37,951,990.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

COBLENZ, Nov. 2.—Champagne at 60 cents a bottle in Coblenz is one of the joys of the American occupation as the result of the continued depreciation of the mark.

"What will you have, Chartreuse or Benedictine?" asked a buck private who was entertaining a party of five at dinner, the other night. "I want to finish this thing royally," he added.

They all had Chartreuse. It cost the buck 35 cents.

TELLS JURORS OF BIG MAIL ROBBERY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Looking unflinchingly into the malevolent eyes of "Big Tim" Murphy, Ralph Teter, star witness for the government, today identified the union-labor boss as the man who planned and directed the Dearborn-street mail robbery in which $860,000 was stolen. Murphy, according to Teter and other witnesses, attended to every detail of the robbery, except that he kept out of the danger zone when the actual robbery was being committed. Teter says he received $27,500 in Liberty Bonds as his share of the loot.

Teter had a long and honorable record as a railway mail clerk. He was ill in Indianapolis when Murphy sought him out because of his knowledge of big shipments of money by mail. The union-labor czar, Teter said, argued with him that the government had used up the best years of his life and would cast him aside—that there was not the slightest danger of discovery; that Murphy had a gang ready for the work, and that he had every member of that gang under his thumb.

Several conferences were held in Indianapolis and Chicago, and Teter finally learned about the big shipment of money and bonds and told Murphy. Murphy stood across the street from the railway station. When the bags containing the money were delivered, Teter raised his hat. This was Murphy's signal, and then raised his hat as the signal for the robbers to set to work to get the plunder.

Teter declares Murphy boasted that nothing could be done to him or any one aligned with him. He alluded to the charge against him of robbing the Pullman station of $100,000 worth of mail, and said he would beat the government in that case "with its own money." During the cross examination, the defense intimated that it would endeavor to prove that Teter was lying to save himself.

BALFOUR AND STAFF SAIL FOR AMERICA.

LLOYD GEORGE PROBABLY WILL NOT BE ABLE TO SAIL SATURDAY ON AQUITANIA.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Nov. 2. — Arthur J. Balfour, who will be the acting chief of the British delegation at the Disarmament Conference until the arrival of Prime Minister Lloyd George, sailed for Canada today on the Empress of France on his way to Washington. Before leaving he said:

"I am going to the conference at Washington in an earnest and confident hope that we shall reach an agreement on the limitation of armaments which will benefit all the civilized nations."

He said if his health permitted he expected to remain until the end of the conference.

Balfour is accompanied by the Earl of Cavan, Air Vice Marshal Higgins, Sir Maurice Hankey, Miles Lampson, Sir John Jordon and a large staff of clerks and experts. Ambassadors Harvey and Hayashi were at the station to see him off.

It is now announced that it is almost certain that Prime Minister Lloyd George will not be able to sail on the Aquitania on Saturday although his passage has not been definitely cancelled. The Irish situation is still too critical for him to leave and it is unlikely that it can be clarified sufficiently in two days to permit him to make the trip.

MINNESOTA, CALIFORNIA EXCHANGE PRISONERS.

FORMER BANK OF ITALY TELLER IS RECOMMITTED TO FOLSOM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 2.—Through a joint arrangement between the Minnesota officials and the California State Board of Control an exchange of prisoners was effected today whereby George Marshall, convicted of embezzlement in Los Angeles about five years ago, was re-committed to Folsom Prison, and Adrian D. Hilyer will be returned to Minnesota to serve out a sentence on charges of first degree burglary. Both men are said to be parole violators.

According to Parole Officer H. B. Whittier of Minnesota, who was authorized to make the exchange, Marshall was formerly a teller in the Los Angeles branch of the Bank of Italy and about five years ago was convicted of embezzling sums approximating $30,000.

After his commitment to Folsom he is said to have gained the confidence of the officials and was paroled. He then fled to Minnesota, and was later sentenced to a prison term there on charges of forgery.

Hilyer, after being paroled in Minnesota about nine years ago, fled to California and was soon after convicted of burglary. A warrant for his extradition was issued today by Gov. Stephens and Whittier will start on the return trip with his prisoner tomorrow.

CHINESE DESTROY CREDIT.

Defaulting of Large Debt to Chicago Company Proves Strong Argument for Consortium Plan.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The State Department, it was learned today, recently called the attention of the Chinese government to the possible serious effect upon its credit which might follow default of the $5,500,000 loan made to it by the Continental Trust and Savings Company of Chicago. Announcement that the loan, due yesterday, was in default was communicated to the department today, but whether any official action had been taken by the government in the matter could not be learned.

It is known that the case of the Chicago bank is regarded here as furnishing one of the strongest arguments in favor of the consortium plan for financing China. The Chinese government prior to default on the Chicago loan defaulted several loans advanced by Japanese institutions during the World War and so far as known here the Japanese government has taken no action to satisfy claims of the Japanese creditors of China. The general financial demoralization of the debtor country, it is assumed, will be discussed in the Washington conference when the Chinese problems are presented for discussion.

DISCOURAGES SUCH LOANS.

The consortium plan had for its primary objects the discouragement of loans such as that made by the Chicago bank, the elimination of international competition in the Chinese loan field and an assurance to China by means of loan conditions agreed upon by the consortium with approval of their respective governments, the safer and better conservation of China's resources.

Negotiations had been under way between the Chicago bank and the consortium for the merging of the former's loan to China in the consortium and it is understood that the projected loan of $16,000,000 which the consortium was prepared until recently to advance to the Chinese government was intended to meet certain maturities, one of which was the Chicago loan.

CONDITIONS REFUSED.

The Chinese government has up to the present time refused to accept the consortium's conditions, which include partial supervision of the application of loans it must make and also guaranteed repayment in the form of supervision over or administration of certain taxes, although it was virtually agreed that the land tax would not be mortgaged. The Chinese have insisted that these conditions would restrict the nation's exercise of sovereign rights.

So far as can be learned China's delegation here to participate in the discussion of Far Eastern questions has no concrete plan for the financial rehabilitation of the country.

ACCIDENTS NUMEROUS SHOWS BUREAU REPORT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Accidents in 1920 in mines, quarries and metallurgical plants, exclusive of blast furnaces, caused the death of 2973 employees and the injury of 206,000, according to a report issued today by the Bureau of Mines.

Based on a standard of 300 working days per man, the statement said, "for every thousand employees, 3.19 were killed and 221.33 injured."

ENGINE CREW IS KILLED.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 2.—The engineer and fireman of eastbound passenger train No. 2 on the Canadian National Railway, which left Vancouver Monday night, were killed when the strain struck a rock slide, near Gelkie, Alta., according to advices received here. None of the passengers was hurt.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—[Advertisement.

FORMER EMPEROR ON WAY FROM HUNGARY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BUDAPEST, Nov. 2.—Former Emperor Charles was today on his way out of Hungary to begin what appeared to be permanent exile. He and former Empress Zito left Tihany yesterday for Dunafoeldvar, a town on the Danube below this city, and there boarded the British gunboat Glow Worm. Arrangements have been made to land them at Galatz, Rumania, about 100 miles from the mouth of the Danube.

Preparations are being made for a special session of the Hungarian national assembly tomorrow, at which a resolution deposing the Hapsburg dynasty will be presented.

Count Apponyi is expected to deliver a formal protest to the national assembly against the dethronement of Charles, but the resolution is expected to be adopted without opposition.

The government is doing its best to comply with the Allied ultimatum, but it is said three days would be needed to pass the necessary law and put it into effect.

Neighboring countries are reported to be still preparing for an offensive. Czech soldiers attacked Hungarian soldiers near the mines of Salgo-Tarjan, but were repulsed. A few combatants were reported wounded and some prisoners were taken.

LORD CURZON SENDS NOTE TO RUSSIANS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Lord Curzon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, on Tuesday sent a note to Leonid Krassin, Russian Minister of Trade and Commerce, concerning the note of M. Tchitcherin, soviet Foreign Minister, offering conditionally to assume the debts of old Russia up to 1914.

Lord Curzon expressed it as the feeling of the British government that the Russian government, by proposing to recognize the debts "have set their feet upon the only path by which they can attain the goal they profess to desire, namely, economic co-operation with other nations."

TAMMANY TIGER SERIOUSLY ILL.

Murphy Tottering on Throne, New York View.

November Election Will Tell Tale in Battle.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The Tammany "Tiger" that in years gone by entered the political arena with swishing tail, ears laid back and fangs protruding is sick, and the disease is contagious. Only one man denies it—Vharles F. Murphy, chief keeper of the Tiger. He emphatically insists there is nothing wrong with the animal.

Mr. Murphy's friends, however, admit that the tiger is ailing, and although the malady may not prove fatal, it is none the less critical. They diagnose the ailment as a severe case of Hearst's disease, aggravated by Hylanitis.

Mr. Murphy's enemies, who are now more numerous inside of Tammany Hall than the boss is willing to admit, even to himself, say the trouble is too much Murphy.

NEW KEEPER LIKELY.

For the present the disease has been temporarily arrested by an application of party regularity. But the efficacy of this treatment will end with election day, and then the trouble will break out in more virulent form and its ravages can only be checked by a change of keeper.

The plain fact is that Mr. Murphy, who, not many months ago, was considering a graceful exit as the keeper of the tiger, can no longer do that. Then he could have named his successor and had he chosen, as he was at that time inclined to former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Tammany would be at peace with itself and the tiger would not be wearing a pained expression. But Mr. Hearst and Mayor Hylan are credited with responsibility for his change of heart.

At present the plans for the forced retirement of Mr. Murphy as leader of Tammany Hall and chief keeper of its tiger are practically perfected. The best minds in the organization have worked day and night on them and the result is—the anti-Murphy democracy.

HINES IN THE WAY.

At its head is James J. Hines, Tammany leader of the One Hundred and Tenth Assembly District, who, on the face of the fraudulent returns, came within some 3000 votes of defeating Boss Murphy, or, rather, his candidate for borough president. Impartial observers who watched the examination of the ballots, which showed that every conceivable kind of fraud was resorted to on primary day in trying to save Mr. Murphy's candidate and Mr. Murphy's face, agreed with the claims of Hines and his campaign manager, Joseph Shalleck, that Hines was counted out.

In trying to save Murphy some of Murphy's followers, with the aid of policemen, cut and bruised Shalleck's head and face with night sticks and blackjacks, and one of the policemen sent a bullet plowing through the skin of Shalleck's chest, and while he was prostrated the heels of the heavy boots of the zealous Murphyites left their imprint on the back of Hines's campaign manager.

These things have aided the Hines faction, which includes among its directorate business men, small shopkeepers, professional men and women, most of whom are leaders in the fight for clean politics. And they are all members of Tammany Hall.

It is these men and women who head the anti-Murphy Democracy. Their plan of campaign is simple. For 23 days being, that is, until after election day, they are going to be regular.

But once November 8 is gone by, the anti-Murphy Democracy will launch an offensive against Murphy and his followers in each of the twenty-three Assembly districts in Manhattan. In those districts where the leaders do not capitulate to the new organization a complete ticket will be placed in the field to wrest not only control of the county committeemen from the Murphyites, but to capture the Tammany delegation to the next State convention, at which a Governor and a complete State ticket and a candidate for the United States Senate will be named.

The Murphyites are preparing for the battle, and it is not going to be a skirmish. Neither side has any delusion on that score. On the other hand, it is going to be, according to present indications, one of the bitterest fights in the annals of Tammany Hall.

SCHOONER'S CAPTAIN AND WHISKY GONE.

BRITISH BOAT REACHES NEW YORK AFTER SKIPPER DISAPPEARS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The British two-masted schooner J. B. Young docked today minus her captain and with nothing to show for 1000 of the 1300 cases of Scotch whisky listed in her cargo.

The schooner was sighted with distress signals flying off the New Jersey coast yesterday by a pilot boat, which guided her into the harbor. The mate, Leon Mangoy, explained today that the skipper, Capt. Miles Olsen, departed in a motorboat last Friday for parts unknown while the schooner was loafing off the Long Island shore. Mangoy said he did not know how to navigate the boat and had floundered around with the four members of the crew since the captain's departure.

The schooner's manifest showed her bound from St. Pierre, off the Newfoundland coast, to Nassau, in the Bahamas, with 1300 cases of whisky but the mate said only 300 were stowed in the hold today. He said he would report the incident to the British Consul. J. B. Smith of Nassau was listed as the vessel's owner on her papers.

It was learned the schooner was under scrutiny by a United States coast guard cutter off the Massachusetts coast three weeks ago, suspected of rum running.

STATE TREASURER CONDUCTS LOTTERY.

SEAWALL BONDS TO BE RETIRED ARE DRAWN BY LOT; IS ACCORDING TO LAW.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 2. — The State of California today conducted a lottery. The drawing was engineered by State Treasurer Richardson and Martin C. Madsen, private secretary to Gov. Stephens, but it was conducted in accordance with a statute prescribing the method to be used in retiring San Francisco seawall bonds.

By today's drawing the State will retire in January, 1922, $130,000 worth of the bonds, which will leave a remainder of $220,000 of the original $2,000,000 issue to be retired in the next two years.

According to Richardson, the law regulating the retirement of the seawall bonds is the only one requiring that the maturity of the bonds be determined each year by drawing.

ORDERS FORFEITING OF MARTENS'S BOND.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Supreme Court Justice Mullan today signed an order forfeiting the bond of $1000 given by Ludwig Martens, former representative of soviet Russia in this country, when he was arrested two years ago for contempt for failure to turn over certain records to a legislative committee investigating seditious activities. Martens was deported before his case was acted on by the courts.

A FRICAN GOLF" GAMBLING NOW.

Arizona Town Council Sees That Law is Fixed to Include Craps.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MIAMI (Ariz.) Nov. 2.—Shooting craps again is illegal within the municipality of Miami. There had been an ordinance designed to serve against this popular means of wooing fortune, but the Superior Court found the law faulty in construction, declaring that craps is not a gambling game under the general State statute. So the City Council passed a new gambling ordinance, enumerating every form of game known to the Councilmen or police. So now, it is believed, African golf is a thing of the past in Miami.

Rum Running from Canada Hard to Stop.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

REGINA (Sask.) Nov. 2.—Canadian authorities, because of their restricted jurisdiction, are practically powerless to prevent rum running from Canada across the Canadian boundary into the United States, the Rev. J. N. MacLean, chief inspector of liquor law enforcement for the Province of Manitoba, told delegates to the international conference of prohibition enforcement officers here today.

R. A. Leach, chairman of the Saskatchewan Liquor Commission, who presided, said the meeting had been called at the request of American authorities and in compliance with the wish of law enforcement officers in both the United States and Canada to secure stronger cooperation in their efforts to quell the liquor traffic.

COMMONS TO TALK OF ARMAMENT MEET.

QUESTION OF ANGLO-JAPANESE PACT WILL NOT BE RAISED, SAYS CHAMBERLAIN.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A discussion of the Washington conference on armaments and far eastern problems will take place in the House of Commons Friday in connection with a resolution presented by the labor members "warmly approving of the conference," Austen Chamberlain, government leader, announced today.

Sir Francis Lowe, Unionist member, protested against such a discussion at this time because of the adverse effect it might have in America and other countries. Mr. Chamberlain replied that his point had been given most serious consideration.

In reply to another question, Mr. Chamberlain said:

"I presume it will be a discussion on the real purpose and essential object of the Washington conference, which is the reduction of armaments."

When asked whether the whole question of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance could be raised in the discussion, Mr. Chamberlain said he did not think the resolution would cover that phase.

ARGENTINE SOCIALISTS SALUTE RUSS REDS.

CONDEMN IMPRISONMENT OF DEBS; SLAP HARDING ON WRIST.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 2.—The Argentine Socialist convention today adopted resolutions saluting the Russian soviet government, protesting against the imprisonment of Eugene V. Debs and expressing "fear that in the prosecution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti another iniquity is being committed."

Reference was made to the address of President Harding at Atlanta, Ga., relative to social equality between the white and colored races. National Deputy Justo, alluding to the address, declared:

"We have just heard from President Harding that the situation of the 10,000,000 of negro population in the great republic will be eternally one of inferiority and subordination. Declarations such as this obey the narrow sentiments of the races which are not much more sympathetic toward Japanese, Chinese, Hindus, Mexicans and perhaps the greater part of the population of the so-called Latin-American countries."

CONGRESSMAN CURRY ACHIEVES VICTORY.

SECURES PASSAGE IN HOUSE OF $4,000,000 FUND FOR ALASKA ROAD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. — Congressman Curry of California secured the passage through the House today of an appropriation of $4,000,000 additional for the Alaska railroad built by the United States.

There was much opposition to the investment of further money in this great project but Secretary Fall and the President had recommended the necessary funds for the project and Congressman Curry, as chairman of the committee on territories, stood guard until the measure was enacted.

If the Senate will now give its approval the measure will receive executive sanction and with the new funds the final stage of construction of the Alaska government railroad will be accomplished.

TIME TO SEND YOUR PRESENTS TO NAVY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. — The Secretary of the Navy authorizes the following:

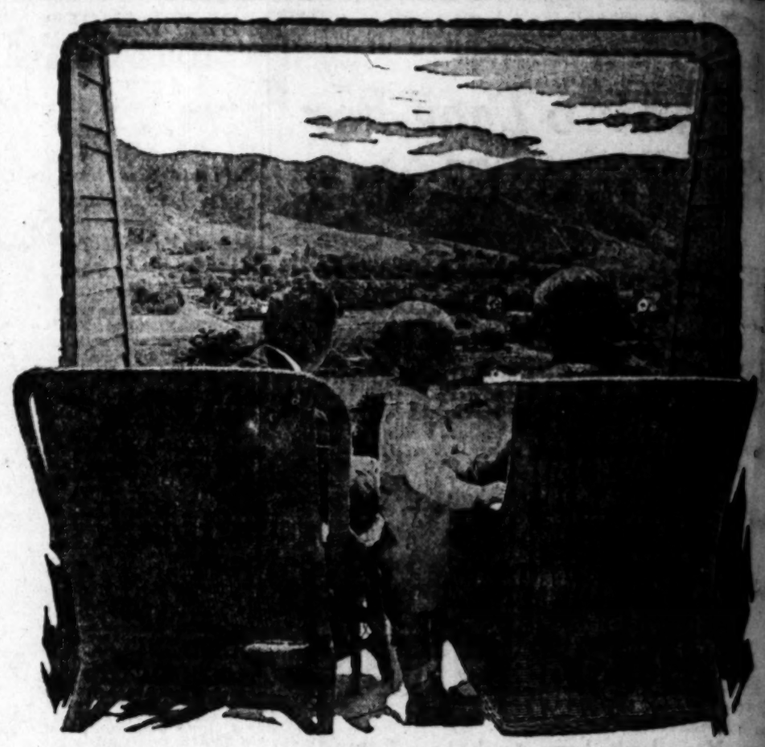
The Navy Department announces that Christmas mail for vessels in European waters will be carried by the United States Steamship Alameda, leaving Hampton Roads about November 26. Mail intended for this ship must be at the naval operating base, Hampton Roads, Va., not later than November 25.

Christmas mail for the Pacific will be carried by the United States Steamship Newport News, leaving Mare Island for Pearl Harbor, Guam and Cavite on November 20. Mail for this ship must be in San Francisco not later than November 15.

ASK HEARINGS ON SUFFRAGE ADVANCED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Supreme Court was asked today to advance the hearings on several cases involving the constitutionality of the woman's suffrage amendment. The motion was made by C. S. Fairchild, plaintiff in one of the cases, who also contended the court should direct the Secretary of State to rescind the proclamation promulgating the amendment pending its decision in the case attacking that statute.



—the view from a Verdugo Woodlands porch

How would you like to have a view like this from your home? How much do you think a view such as this Verdugo-Woodlands home commands is actually worth? Could you really place any dollar and cents value on it? Do you know that many men have paid handsome fortunes for a view-privilege like this? At Verdugo Woodlands it is yours for as little as $1000.

If you demand a magnificent, inspiring outlook from that new home you intend to buy or build —if you want to get away from the humdrum, noisy, monotonous, unattractive flat sections. If you want to live in an environment of inspiration and scenic charm—a place that will grow more wonderful to you every day—do yourself the justice of seeing Verdugo Woodlands, the show spot of the "cool, green Verdugo hills."

ASK DISMISSAL OF BERGDOLL SUITS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Alien Property Custodian Miller and United States Treasurer White today asked the District of Columbia Supreme Court to dismiss the suits brought by Mrs. Emma Bergdoll of Philadelphia and her son, Charles A. Braun, for the return of property and securities valued at $190,000, which were seized by the custodian as belonging to Grover Bergdoll, draft dodger, who has been declared an enemy under the Trading with the Enemy Act.

EXPERT WONDERS IF CALIFORNIA COACH HAS A VENERABLE HIND HOOF.

CONTEST WON'T BE A PUSHOVER.

That's How One Expert Has Big Game Sized Up.

Bears and Trojans Will Both Do Their Level Best.

Andy Smith Sure His Eleven Will Win the Pastime.

BY ED R. HUGHES.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2. If the members of the California team have next Saturday's game sized up correctly, the boys from U.S.C. are going to appreciate what the parrot said after his disastrous battle with the monkey. But, as Billy Van Dine used to say, on the other hand, if U.S.C. really can whip the Bears next Saturday, then Dan McMillan, Charley Erb, Stan Robertson, Don Nichols and the others on the California squad who hail from the southern part of the State will be afraid to go home after the game is over. If U.S.C. makes good the predictions of the Los Angeles fans and mops up the Bears, the crowing of the barnyard fowl after his pet hen has laid an egg will sound like an owl with the croup in comparison with the noise that will come out of Southern California.

So, for reasons too numerous to mention here, this scrap next Saturday is going to be the real thing, with every man on both teams doing his level best.

Even the opposition in some quarters has told the U. S. C. team lightly. That's nonsense. Any team that can go through two seasons without a defeat has class. The skeptical ones argued that U. S. C. has not yet met formidable opponents this year. That is true. But they have cleaned up in good shape every time they went and no team could do more.

SCORES COUNT.

Last year U. S. C. beat Stanford at Oregon. Stanford did not have Stanford Richter in their game at Oregon did not have Bill Steers. All of that is forgotten and it is the scores that count.

Andy Smith comes right out in the open and says that California will beat U. S. C., next Saturday. So he cannot be accused of establishing an alibi beforehand. At the same time he is not belittling the U. S. C. team. He admits that teams's power but believes that California is better than their fair enough.

Dan Henderson believes U. S. C. can beat California but he will not say so. Stevin he differs from Long Beach. This game is not going to be a walk-over and anyone who thinks that will romp rough-shod over the Los Angeles bunch, should have their head examined. It will be a tough game.

ANDY SMITH MAY HAVE HEEL LIKE ACHILLES.

And if the Trojans Shoot Straight it is Possible California Will be Licked, Says U.S.C. Fan.

BY HEC-TOR.
(U.S.C. Naughty-Nine.)

If the Bears imagine they are Greeks who are going to chase our ball team 'round and 'round the walls of Troy they have another think coming.

They may chase our Trojans up a tree, but they won't run them in circles.

Things have changed a lot since a lot of things once happened. For one thing, Troy is no longer a fight center. Toledo, O., took the title away from it. John J. Evers, instead of Papa Priam, is now leading citizen and oldest inhabitant of Troy. Instead of shooting you in the heel, as in the good old days, they manufacture collars and give it to you in the neck.

We will admit that Andy Smith bears a lot of natural resemblance to Achilles. In fact, the resemblance is so close that many have suspected Andy of being a silent partner in a boot-blacking stand. The only reason we sometimes doubt that Andy is a Greek is the fact that he isn't built like a wrassler.

SMELLS THE SAME.

He has the well-known Greek nose, which would smell the same by any other name, the red hair for which all our Greeks are famous, with a smattering of Hellenic freckles. Admitting that he is Achilles reincarnated, don't forget what happened to the original. Achilles the original had a constitutional weakness in his heel.

Is it not possible that Andy Achilles has inherited the ailment? Can it be that Brick Miller is the soft and flabby heel of the California football machine, including corns and bunions, or perchance a large blister? Or is Brick as sound as a pair of cleats, tough like a boot-heel with a freshly honed spur on it?

But our advice to Andy is to sit on the side lines with both heels tucked under him, and not expose either of them to the spearhead or Spearmint attack of the Trojans.

There we go making threats. Seems impossible for anybody to discuss this matter in a calm and unbiased manner. The other day a writer said there hasn't been one sensible word written about the C alifornia U.S.C. game. Declared the need of the hour was something sane and judicial. And he started out with the best intentions, but by the third paragraph he was jumping up and down on the Trojans with spiked shoes and screaming at the top of his voice. Judicial just like a mob.

NO SUCH CLAIM.

As an inactive and ex-Trojan, much addicted to carpet slippers, I want to say that my beloved alma mater has never claimed it could lick California. Even our cheerful coach, who is given to much merry laughter, has stated that he expected his team to be licked something like 28 to 0.

Nobody I ever met who has seen California play has contended that U.S.C. can beat California, not even the Trojans themselves. But a lot of people do think that, considering the vagaries of football, the southern team has a chance. The Trojans

Speedy Batch of Net Stars Will Perform.

The first installment of the Southern California handicap tennis tournament, which was staged last week-end at the Los Angeles Tennis Club, eliminated all but the big leaguers from competition, and those who journey out to witness the second batch of matches Saturday and Sunday are assured an excellent program. Following is the schedule of play for Saturday:

1 p.m.—J. Reynolds vs. Shugart (unfinished match.)
2 p.m.—Norvidge vs. Woodall; Welsh vs. Browne; Miss Grieve vs. Miss Palmer.
3 p.m.—Olerich vs. Wilmer Shugart vs. Reynolds; Miss Vail vs. Miss McDonald.

SCHEDULE OF PLAY FOR SUNDAY.

The semifinals in men's singles will be played Sunday morning.

The finals in men's singles and the finals in women's singles will be played Sunday afternoon. The exact hour of play and names of contestants will appear in these columns in next Sunday's issue.

In addition to the handicap tournament, the postponed finals in men's doubles, of the Wilshire Country Club tournament, will be played on Sunday afternoon upon the courts of the Los Angeles Tennis Club, corner Melrose avenue and Cole street, between the contending teams of Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy, ex-national doubles champions, and Harvey K. Snodgrass and Roland D. Reinke, Los Angeles city champions.

GEESE REPORTED AT BUENA VISTA LAKE.

Lou Reed of Tufts-Lyon has received word from Buena Vista Lake that a large flight of geese has dropped down, and several ardent sportsmen are making preparations to go gunning for them. According to Reed, geese are wild birds, and it is difficult to get close enough to them to risk a shot. They are considered the best table birds that fly.

TROJANS HOP THE TRAIN FOR NORTH.

ANGELS AGAIN LEAD LEAGUE.

Hornsby Swoops Down Hard on Cobb Cohorts.

Georgian Has Another Poor Day With Stick.

Pitcher Ray Francis a Puzzle to the Visitors.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb is a southerner, a species of citizenship which involves voting the Democratic ticket.

But this isn't a Democratic year, and as a result Ty's San Francisco Seals succumbed to Rogers Hornsby Angels, 6 to 1, for the second time in as many days, Los Angeles going back into the lad or sunspot section.

Hornsby, not merely content with flattening Ty's baseball machine, also has wrested the batting championship of the Winter League from his American League rival. Cobb again went cloutless, while Rogers clicked two out of three, sending himself up around the .450 mark, while Ty skidded below .400.

FRANCIS ON SLAB.

Ray Francis was on the slab for Los Angeles, and his ability to tame the Detroit Tiger gave him a lot of confidence. Ray graduates to the Washington Americans next season, and will have a chance to show Ty some more of his stuff. Yesterday our distinguished guest had much good company in the batless line, the pitching of Francis being a species of Sanskrit to San Francisco's benighted athletes.

Hank Alten tried his luck, such as it was, until the sixth, when he was removed for a pinch-hitter, who didn't do so. Ray Kremer then took up the white man's burden until himself relieved by another pinch-hitter, who also didn't in the ninth.

KICK AT PLATE.

First time up, Cobb flied to Lane. He made his second effort in the fourth, grounding to Anheir, Pinelli scoring on the out from third for the only San Francisco run. The decision at the plate caused as much argument as the California-U.S.C. game, and fully as intelligent. In the seventh Ty had his last helping, fouling to Lane. Mr. Cobb looked as puzzled as if his automobile suddenly began making a noise like somebody had poured a sackful of marbles in his transmission. Ty can't understand why he can never hit down here, and neither can we.

Hornsby cracked a single in the first back of hits by Statz and Cox, scoring the former. He then stole second, but the inning was too far spent for him to get any farther. He delivered his next blow in the fourth, exploding same behind a single by Cox. Three more swats in that round, and Ellison's low peg to the plate, put four runs on the shelf, and made this part of the country safe for Republicanism. Just to irritate the visitors, and make the return of Los Angeles to first place an occasion long to be remembered, Adams and Statz batted across a run in the sixth.

CARDS OFF FOR NORTH.

Are Favorites in Football Clash With the University of Washington on Saturday.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 2.—Twenty-five Cardinal gridiron warriors, with Coach Gene Van Gent, Trainer Dad Mounton and Manager Kinney, left the Stanford campus at 8:48 tonight for Seattle, where they will do battle with Coach Bagshaw's Washington varsity.

Since handily eliminating the much-talked-of "Fighting Aggies" of Oregon, Stanford is expected to dispose of the University of Washington eleven by at least one touchdown. For the first time this year the Cardinals will enter a game doped to come out on the heavy end of the scoreboard.

PULLS FOR CARDS.

Bill Ingram, who, with his Pacific Fleet, ran up a 27-7 count against Stanford the week before, wormed his way into the Cardinal rooting section Saturday and pulled for the red shirts. Outside of the Stanford student body, the members of which backed their team to the limit, Ingram was the only critic whose word counts for much who conceded the Cardinals any chance for victory over the Aggies.

Ingram beat the Stanfordites badly on October 15 and then told Capt. Patrick that his men had the goods to hold California scoreless. He proved that he meant at least part of what he said by backing the Van Gent forces in the customary way against the northerners; and then he watched the Cardinals confirm his judgment.

GETTING BETTER.

"They have made part of the improvement of which they are capable," said the Navy star. "I expect to see them continue."

Ludeke, the little fellow who started the season at center, weighing 190 pounds, and who has since been shifted all over the lot, finally landing at tackle, is one of the big reasons why Stanford shows unexpected power. He played guard for the freshmen last year in his first try at the game of football. While only learning the game, he shows better in the line now than Stanford's one veteran tackle of two years' varsity experience, Pershing, who has been shifted to end.

The way Ludeke takes to football is shown on his weight card, which indicates a steady increase from 190 pounds September 29 to 207 when he weighed out for the tilt last Saturday.

Stanford seems to be weak at the end positions, yet the Aggies, who were rated as strong on wide run formations, were wholly unsuccessful in this department of offense. Ingram, however, made all his gains around ends, and Van Gent is continuing his efforts to plug up possible weakness here.

Stanford's win over Oregon Agricultural College practically assures that the Pacific Coast Conference title will rest wtihout dispute in California this year, and it will be finally decided at the big game between California and Stanford on November 19 at the new Stanford stadium.

WON'T BAR THE WOMEN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Action by the Bob-o-link Golf Club in barring women from its links is not spreading to other golf clubs. In fact, women have started such a campaign that it would be exceedingly risky to even suggest forbidding them to play at other clubs. Bob-o-link formulated its rule, put it over and got away clean before there was any opportunity for a fight, but the others are hastening to give assurances that the farthest thing from their minds is the barring of women.

"The women are just as important as the men at our club," said Miss Gloria Chandler, head of the women's golf activities at Glen View. "Of course we never try to play on holidays or Saturday afternoons until after 3 o'clock, but there isn't a man in the club who ever considered excluding us."

"The women—God bless 'em," said Fred H. Burnabee, one of the club's most ardent golfers, and vice-chairman of the 1921 tournament, "will never be barred from Westmoreland."

Portland Club Now Owned by W. H. Klepper.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 2.—Announcement was made today that the transfer had been completed whereby the Portland baseball club was sold to W. H. Klepper and associates by W. W. and Walter H. McCredie. Names of twenty-five local stockholders in the new enterprise were announced.

PROMOTER FINED FOR TRANSPORTING FILMS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 2.—A fine of $1000 was imposed in Federal court here today on Frank Flournoi of New York, an associate of Tex Rickard, for bringing into Ohio films of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, in violation of Federal law. Flournoi pleaded guilty in the hope the films may be shown in Ohio. They must be approved by the State Film Censorship Bureau.

California and U.S.C. Peagreens Also Clash on Saturday.

A Couple of Trojan Principals in Yearling Mix-up on Bovard Field.

While their varsity brothers are waging warfare with the Trojan varsity at Berkeley this week-end the California Peagreens will invade the U.S.C. campus for the purpose of repeating on their triumph of last year. Two of the Cardinal and Gold first-year boys who will try to stop them are shown herewith. Winchell Boice, squatting, is left end and captain and starred with the Long Beach High School the past two years. The tough young man at the right styles himself William Hayden Phythian, hails from Billings, Mont., and plays left half in the best of fashion.

BEAR FROSH MEET U.S.C. YEARLINGS.

California Peagreeners Are Favorites in Muss at Bovard Field Saturday.

In the hulla-baloo about what's doing at Berkeley on Saturday, gridiron fans in Los Angeles have lost sight of the fact that a fine little argument is brewing at Bovard Field when the California Frosh tangle with the U.S.C. peagreeners. This in addition to a pair of Conference games, Caltek meeting Occidental at Patterson Field, and Pomona going to Redlands for the annual squabble.

Both the Trojan yearlings and the Bear youngsters are as yet undefeated, and their battle Saturday will be a miniature of the varsity struggle in Berkeley. California's first year eleven is the favorite, but the U.S.C. verdant ones will undoubtedly keep their opponents well occupied.

The California freshmen squad lacks the individual stars that made it famous last season, but from the way the youngsters have been mowing down competition so far in their schedule, one is led to believe that their team is a real football machine. California's first year men defeated the Davis school by a larger score than Nevada State could chalk up, and only last Saturday mauled the speedy Berkeley High pigskinners around by a 13-to-7 score.

However, U.S.C.'s babes will outweigh their opponents about five pounds to the man, and with the assistance of such men as Otto Anderson, Dixon, Tyrrell and Capt. Winchell Boice, they hope to make up for the defeat the Bruin Frosh handed U.S.C. last season.

CALIFORNIA WILL WAVE A REAL DOUBLE THREAT.

Through Line Superiority Bears Can Either Rush the Ball or Win by the Air Route.

BY WARDE FOWLER.

"If the Cougars can't beat 'em, then nobody can."

That's what they said up in Portland last Saturday just before the California and Washington State football teams tangled on Multnomah Field.

And an hour and a half later the fans were drifting away from the field mournfully admitting that the Cougars couldn't turn the trick. It's history how the Bear "wonder team" held back the crimson-jerseyed tide of Washington State, resorted to a kicking duel when the Pullman stalwarts rolled back their own attack, and won the game, 14 to 0, with generalship and punch when both were needed.

It's history how the Californians rarely made yardage through the Washington State line, gave up the attempt after a few smashing trials, changed the style of their game and won—with a snap, dash and wallop at the vital moments that left no doubt as to the ultimate outcome.

STILL SAY IT.

"If the Cougars can't beat 'em, then nobody can." That's what they still say up in Portland—knowing definitely that the Cougars can't, and believing just as strongly that nobody else can.

But in Los Angeles, Portland football fans would have to produce stronger evidence than a crumpled Washington State team to prove that California couldn't be licked.

Day after tomorrow the U.S.C. Trojans mix with the Bear "wonder team." Along toward Saturday evening we may agree with Portland fans to the letter. Right now there's a particle of doubt.

Football scribes have covered almost every phase of the U.S.C.-California scrap—have generally intimated that the Bears ought to win by a couple of touchdowns and then have wound up their predictions with a "But if"—which left a convenient "out" in case the Trojans heaved the Bears into San Francisco Bay.

But further north they don't ask for any "out." One scribe in Portland writes: "Last week's victory for the Bears virtually assures them of the Pacific Coast championship. All California has to do now is to defeat Southern California next Saturday and then dispose of Stanford. Andy Smith was frankly worried about Washington State, but he makes no bones of it that he expects to wipe up Berkeley Field with the Southern Californians."

DEFINITE RAY.

At that, the Washington State gives perhaps the brightest light on the Trojans' chances against the Bears next Saturday. The Cougars had a line that was a wonder. With Dunlop, All-Pacific Coast favorite for the past two years, in the center position and with Dunton, McKay, Hickey, Durpachter, Hamilton and Bohanon scattered out on either side Washington State pre-

Frankie Garcia Puts Gomez in Land of Sleep.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEMPHIS, (Tenn.) Nov. 2.—Frankie Garcia, Los Angeles bantamweight, knocked out Joe Gomez, of New Orleans in the fourth round of their scheduled ten-round bout at Eldorado, Ark., tonight. Garcia toyed with Gomez until he put over the sleep sock, a left hook to the chin. Garcia was not only unmarked but was untouched.

Garcia meets Bernie Hahn, who is piloted by Joe Levy, Jos Rivera's old manager at Eldorado next week instead of Harry Bramer, bantamweight champion of the Pacific Coast Fleet, that match being postponed.

HOREMANS LEADS JAP IN BILLIARD MATCH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2. — Eduardo Horemans gave two superlative exhibitions in the second and third competitive blocks of his match with Koji Yamada of Japan here last night. He won the first block, 400 to 13, averaging 80, and took the night session, 400 to 153, averaging 57 1-7. He now leads, 1200 to 506.

NO AIRPLANES AT STANFORD FIELD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 2.—Airplane flying over the Stanford Stadium is prohibited by the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors, according to a statement issued today. Because of the large crowd and heavy traffic expected on November 19, it has been found advisable to warn all aviators flying in that vicinity that flying over the Stanford-California game is prohibited.

Sagehens Meet Redlands in Crucial Gridiron Contest.

BULLDOGS TO TRY INCISORS.

Will Fly at the Sagehens Next Saturday.

Redlands Expects Big Crowd to be on Hand.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 2.—The Bulldogs of the University of Redlands will try their teeth on the tough Pomona Sagehens on Saturday and it will be another field day for Redlands for it is expected that a record-breaker crowd will see the game. Redlands has always had a keen hankering to defeat Pomona and as the conference schedule calls for but two college games in Redlands this year none of the fans figure on missing the game.

Coach Guy Daniels of the university is laboring under no illusions as to the Sagehens. He says that they are a tough lot and that unless his men play the very best football of which they are capable, they will get beaten by no less than five touchdowns. Daniels is not running down his team at that because he figures it is a right bright outfit, but he knows Nixon and the Pomona aggregation well enough to figure they will provide all the football any team wants for one afternoon.

Daniels's men had a rest last Saturday and they should be in good shape for the game and capable of playing just as well as they are able. Taylor, the quarterback, is about recovered from a bum knee. Simpson, a man who has been on the shelf all season with a twisted leg, ought to get in the game Saturday. And all the other men have recovered from the bruises the Occidental Tigers placed on the team.

Last year Pomona beat Redlands by two touchdowns. This year it is figured here that the Bulldogs ought to cut that down by one touchdown and if things go right they might make it a tie score. More that that the most optimistic do not see.

TILDEN WON'T GO OVER NEXT YEAR.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—William T. Tilden II, American lawn tennis champion, said here today he did not expect to go to England next year to play in the British championship, which he has twice won.

MAJOR LEAGUERS WANT DUCK PITCHERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND, (Or.) Nov. 2.—Two Portland baseball pitchers, Herman Pillette and Syl Johnson, are wanted badly by major league clubs, according to William Klepper, new owner of the local club.

Fourteen big league clubs want Pillette. The only teams in the American and National leagues who have not asked for him are the St. Louis Americans and Pittsburg. For Johnson, the bidders are Detroit, Chicago Cubs, Washington and the Boston Red Sox.

Klepper may let the two hurlers go up to the majors, but not until he is given several players in exchange. Clark Griffith, it is said, offered in exchange for the two pitchers, enough players to remake the Portland club. In addition, he said he would guarantee to make good on any players who did not come up to specifications.

"GOOD SHIP ARNOLD" ON OPTIMIST CRUISE.

F. H. Schreiner will take the wheel of the "Good Ship Arnold" promptly at 12 o'clock noon today and will take an hour and a half cruise with members of the Los Angeles Optimists Club on board as guests and deck hands. In other words, Harold L. Arnold is to entertain the Optimists at luncheon today in his big plant at Seventh and Figueroa streets and some wild and exciting times are promised. Mr. Schreiner is in charge of the affair and has lined up some snappy talks that are guaranteed to make the most optimistic Optimist go home wondering if he's really ever been optimistic before.

Ruth's Divvy in the Big Series Being Held Out

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2. — George "Babe" Ruth, Bob Meusel and Bill Piercy, of the New York Yankees, had better turn their affairs over to a collection agency. It was learned today the world series shares of these players had not been paid, due to their going out on a barnstorming jaunt after being warned that to do so would be a violation of the baseball rules.

Distribution of the series coin is directed by the baseball commissioner, Judge K. M. Landis. It is said that the latter, when he learned that Ruth and pals had started their exhibition jaunt in defiance of orders, sent word to the owners of the Yankee team of his intention to withhold the offenders' shares, and this word, when conveyed to Ruth by Col. Houston of the New York club, caused Bambino to think a second time and abandon the tour.

The question now is whether Ruth, Meusel and Piercy ever will get their money. Each has a claim for $3262.26. It may be that because of having this ace in the hole, Landis has been unusually slow about making a decision in the matter. He probably figures it a good plan to let the players think over their offense long enough to make them realize their mistake and then break the bad news. On the other hand, there is a possibility of the judge coming forth and denouncing the rule involved, demanding it be wiped off the books, and then giving the players their coin along with a little speech about respecting the code which governs organized baseball.

PITCHER JACOBS ON MOUND FOR STARS.

Pitcher Jacobs will be on the mound for the Joe Pirrone all-stars when they go up against White's colored all-stars next Saturday afternoon at the White Sox Park. White has selected Hurley McNair to pitch for his team. Saturday's contest is the first of a two-game series, the second game to be staged Sunday afternoon on the same diamond.

WHO HAS THE ADVANTAGE IN A STREET FIGHT; WRESTLER OR BOXER OR A JIU-JITSU EXPERT?

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

We often wonder which of the three branches of athletics would be the most useful in time of danger from a street attack, wrestling, boxing or jiu-jitsu? This is hard question to decide at a moment's notice, because of the many things that might enter into such a circumstance.

If, for instance, a man that knew boxing only, was attacked by a robber that was a good wrestler, the advantage would be in favor of the wrestler, because of the many grips possible in close quarters. On the other hand, if the boxer should feltn at the wrestler, and make him leave an opening by his dodging, the boxer might be able to step in and land a blow hard enough to disable the wrestler.

JIU-JUTSU BEST.

The next thing is jiu-jutsu. If a boxer or a wrestler were attacked by an expert in jiu-jutsu, unles he knew something about jiu-jutsu, the boxer or wrestler would be almost helpless because of jiu-jutsu expert can break a man's arm or paralyze a nerve in a second, with his superior knowledge of nerves, muscles, and anatomy. Another thing, in street clothes the jiu-jutsu expert has a big advantage, for he uses his opponent's clothes to help throw him into a helpless position, as the Japanese jiu-jutsu experts use jackets in their contests, in order to take hold of their rivals.

So we see that, other things being equal, the jiu-jutsu man has the best of it. Therefore, a man would be well prepared for any emergency, if he knew something about all three arts. If a boxer can step in and land a punch hard at the chin or stomach of a wrestler or jiu-jutsu expert, he can daze him enough to get in a second and finishing punch before his attacker recovers, but it must be successful with the first punch, or the boxer is a goner as soon as they clinch.

FEET PRETTY HANDY.

It would not be a bad idea for a man to know something about that old, almost forgotten art of Savate, or boxing with the feet, as the French used to do it. A clever Savate expert could jump up and kick a man hard enough in the chin to knock him cold, but if his rival ducked quickly enough Mr. Savate would land on his own head on the sidewalk. Success in Savate must be accurately regular, for a miss is disastrous. But if one can do it, when attacked by two or three men, then his feet are as useful to him as his hands, and the surprise element enters into it with success to the user of a well-placed kick in the face or stomach.

In a street fight, a boxer has the advantage only so long as his opponent is willing to fight with his fists, and to fight fair, but since street fights or rough-and-tumble fights are not fought by rules, and since anything goes in such attacks usually, the advantage would seem to be with the jiu-jutsu expert.

ENTER BOATS FOR CLASSIC.

The outer harbor at San Pedro will be all dolled up like a sore thumb on November 19 and 20, when the Los Angeles Motorboat Club holds its annual speed-boat race of seventy-five miles for the Nordlinger trophy. The race, regarded as the one big classic of Pacific Coast waters each year, so far has attracted a half-dozen entries—craft that are faster than speed dishes of former races. This is always so, however, in most speed contests.

And when this race is held, all the fleets of the various clubs in and near the harbor assemble off the starting line, decked out in their flags and pennants. Dr. Admiral Solland, admiral of the Southern California Yachting Association, will be somewhere among the fleet aboard his Viking IV, flagship of the association.

Commodore Claud G. Putnam of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club no doubt will be on hand. It is safe to say that Ex-Commodore Benny Weston and Milton Hesselberger will be anchored off the line aboard their Mollilou.

Last year, when the race was held, late in October, the harbor was fairly full of battleships of the Pacific Fleet. Since then the fleet has been augmented, until now, over twenty battle wagons are swinging at their anchor chains.

Henderson has built up a great football machine, one so powerful that local games with other southern colleges have been simply practice affairs. It ranks with the leading elevens of the country, barring California, which is regarded as having a supereleven. In almost any year except the present one and last season, the present Trojans would have defeated the Bears. In fact, two years ago they lost to them by only one point.

But what U.S.C. did to California two years ago, or Whittier did in 1916 or Occidental in 1915 is not to the point. Back in those days the Bears hadn't recovered from the awful effects of Rugby. The California football team of those years was like a dinosaurus, which couldn't even protect its feet against rats.

The Bears arrived all at once last season, and have been looming larger ever since. Yale, Harvard and Princeton all sidestepped them. Ohio, "big ten" champion, was defeated 28 to 0. Yet all who saw that game know that but for two "breaks" early in the game, the score might have been the other way, although not so large.

As an ex-Trojan I am not making California a considerable edge. But will it be considered vain on my part to recall the fact that Oregon, the team which Harrard had a hard time defeating, 7 to 6, failed to make one first down against the Trojans.

A superior line probably gives Califorfnia a considerable edge. But we are hoping that some time the "breaks" may go against the Bears, although they are not that kind of a team.

We feel that we have a chance, and are taking it. I would advise Henderson to keep shooting for the heel. He might hit the toe at the same time, and we would have a heel-and-toe dance in addition to a cracking good game.

QUAIL HUNTING NOT EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD.

Few hunters have been able to bag the limit of quail yet, although many have approached it. Heine Pfirrman and Pete Cunningham of B. H. Dyas brought back ten birds apiece from the Riverside district yesterday. F. F. Mead and Mark Fen bagged nine each, while Harry Lusk and George T. Cline reported limits.

The hot weather is undoubtedly keeping the quail quiet, and local authorities agree that the sport will improve with the coming of cooler weather.

DO MEN KNOW HOW TO WEAR COLLARS?

Local Haberdasher Says A Collar School for Men Should Be Established

A western business man claims that not one man in a hundred knows how to properly surround his neck with a collar. He claims that a pique soft collar is the only sensible, dressy, and comfortable type to wear —and that every man should buy collars a quarter to a half size larger than the shirt he wears.

The short-necked man should avoid anything but extra low collars, and the long-necked individual should not wear a collar that is too high. If the collar is too tight it wrinkles and "breaks down." If it is too large it looks sloppy and without style.

He recommends the Grayco soft collar for general wear because it is made from high grade pique, comes in six different patterns and there is a size and style for every neck.

OREGON VARSITY IN DAILY GRID WORK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EUGENE, (Or.) Nov. 2.—Daily practice is being held by the University of Oregon football players here for their two remaining Pacific Coast Conference games, one against Washington State College at Pullman next Saturday and the other their annual clash with the Oregon Agricultural College here November 19.

Despite Oregon's defeat by the University of California in the first conference game of the season, Coach Shy Huntington expects to send into the next two games a team which will make a good showing.

Oregon goes to Hawaii in December for games against the University of Hawaii and a team of stars.

TROT ARE BITING AT RAINBOW RANCH.

Leigh Garnsey, the boss of Rainbow ranch, dropped in on Phil Brocklesby of Cline-Cline yesterday and declared that trout fishing was never better than it is at present in his pool. He took a census of the fish on his place recently and found that they average 8½ inches. Most of the trout are rainbow and eastern brook.

Although the season has closed in the game preserves, fishermen are allowed to indulge in the sport at Rainbow ranch, where there is no closed season. According to Garnsey, the fish are taking anything, and those who have tried their luck recently have been very successful.

BATTERIES

Delivering the Goods

The horse is being driven closer to his stable; the gas truck (started and lighted by an Exide Battery) goes on long hauls; and through the great zone in between, the electric street vehicle is coming into its own. Propelled by an Exide-Ironclad Battery, it delivers the goods — with least trouble and most economy.

Propulsion is only one of the many functions that Exide Batteries perform in the daily life of the nation. They supply the reserve power for Marconi wireless plants; they provide the current that sends your voice over the telephone system — that operates railroad switches, and lights farms and yachts.

Experience in making batteries for all purposes, from the very dawn of the storage battery industry, is available to you when it comes time to replace the starting and lighting battery in your automobile. You will find Exide quality an economy in long service and dependable power.

When you need a new Exide or repairs on any make of battery, let the nearest service station be of help to you.

Prep Title Between L. A. High and Manual.

PIONEERS ARE BIG FAVORITES.

League-Leading Pigskinners Look Like Champs.

Will Have to Conquer Manual to Claim the Title.

Jefferson is Conceded Small Chance for Honors.

Contrary to their usual course of procedure, the prep pigskin chasers showed a little respect for the venerable dope sheet in their games last week. L. A. High, Manual Arts and Jefferson were picked as likely winners by all who were bold enough to make a selection, and in every case the favorite came out on top. Only these three schools are left in the race for the City League title, and the Democrats are conceded only an outside chance.

While Tipton's eleven has made its surprising record largely because of a unified fighting spirit, it must be admitted that Jefferson has had all the breaks in the three games they have won. The Democrats are scheduled to meet Pasadena Friday, and as the Bulldogs are undoubtedly fighting mad as a result of their defeat at the hands of the Pioneers last week, Jefferson is liable to take a tumble. Pasadena's athletes will outweigh the Jeffersonites in the neighborhood of ten pounds per man, but in the past beef has carried little weight with Tipton's men, and the champion dope spillers may add the Bulldogs' scalp to their string.

L. A. High is the heavy favorite when the talk turns to champions. Early in the season the Toilers were considered the classiest set of prep football players in the vicinity, but their poor showing against Jefferson, coupled with the Pioneers' sudden leap to fame, has robbed them of whatever reputation they had.

Nevertheless, the scrap for the City League laurels is between these two teams, although many followers of football declare that Whittle's squad hasn't a chance to lose. This question will probably be settled once and for all on November 11, when the Rorians tramp over to Wilson Field for what seems to be the deciding contest of the season.

GLENDALE MIDGETS CLINCH GRID TITLE.

Glendale's lightweight eleven cinched the championship of the Central League by defeating Franklin's youngsters yesterday in a rapid game. The Glendale lads waltzed through all opposition this season, winning five straight victories, and never being defeated. Coach Hayhurst is counting on his midget squad to build up his varsity team of next year. The lightweights' standing follows:

	Won	Lost	Tied	Pct.
Glendale	5	0	0	1.000
South Pasadena	1	1	1	.500
Franklin	1	1	1	.500
Covina	0	1	2	.000
Citrus Union	0	2	0	.000
Alhambra	0	2	0	.000

CALIFORNIA HAS DOUBLE THREAT.

sented a line that California didn't even try to dent after a few feeling-out attacks.

California shifted its style of play, began to kick, watch for the breaks, try a little open-field stuff, and avoid the line at all stages. No strength was wasted bucking a line that didn't give more than a yard or so at a time. And the Bears won the game without hardly an effort at smashing the Crimson guards and tackles.

The U.S.C. games with Occidental and Pomona showed very little. But they did one thing. They proved that the Trojan line is not too strong. Few people would attempt to say that U.S.C. has as strong a line as Washington State. Grant the Trojans 50 per cent improvement all the way around over anything they have shown this year, and the Bears should be able to buck that line.

TWO-TO-ONE SHOT.

And if the Bears can buck the line they have a double threat—just twice the possibilities for attack that they had against Washington State. With the excellent Trojan backs drawn in to back up the line, California can open up some of her dangerous overhead stuff that has been proved a scoring possibility of terrible moment. Both these considerations leave the Bears' kicking in reserve and this is a weapon all by itself.

The game Saturday between the Bears and Trojans, despite all the dope sheet rumblings of Bear superiority, should be a battle royal. It will be no 100 to 0 debacle, no massacre of defenseless innocents, no "save the women and children, I can swim" affair. It will be a fight, with a good team, battling for its life, up against an awful good team, scarcely battling that hard unless occasion demands it.

During the intermission between halves one section of the grand stands will be trying to figure out how best to celebrate the evening—the other section will be praying. And it will be the Bear fans who'll wonder about their table reservation at Tait's. The Trojans will probably have made theirs the night before.

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 2.—A new organization to be known as the Pacific Coast Association of Angling Clubs, which will take the place of the Pacific Northwest Association and be composed of clubs in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles, is being formed, it was announced here today. Jack Herman, secretary of the Multnomah Anglers' Club, said officers will be elected in a few weeks.

Conference Title at Stake in Armistice Day Battle.

Whittier's Full Strength is Unknown Quantity.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WHITTIER, Nov. 2.—Coaches Perry and Breuckner of Whittier may have all the confidence in the world of running off with the conference football championship when the Poets go gunning for Sagehens on November 11, but they aren't showing any of it. No sir! When the Quaker eleven moves in on Claremont on Armistice Day it is going to be primed, cocked and loaded for bear. All the talk of the Poets winning in a walk is foolishness. It's going to be a terrible battle and don't you forget it. Them's the sentiments of one E. H. Perry and Assistant Coach Carl Breuckner.

The full strength of the Poet eleven is still uncertain. As yet the Quakers have not been forced to show what they can do in the air. Neither have they uncovered anything but straight, good old-fashioned football. The Whittier machine has its full share of trick plays, clever scoring formations and reserve plays that they have not been called upon to use. Just how potent these may be remains to be seen. Some of it may not be found out until the Quakers meet U.S.C. on November 19.

DEPEND ON SUGGETT.

One thing the Quaker mentors are sure to do. Around "Big Ed" Suggett they will build a running attack that will give any team plenty to think about. Suggett can pass, kick or carry the ball all from the same formation, and he's no slouch at any of the three. Any team that is fortunate enough to be able to build such an attack and has a line that is good can always be a menace. Therein lay the strength of the Quakers in the days of "Bull" Finch. Occidental, in her palmy days, had Sam McClung. The Trojans have Charlie Dean. They're not one-man teams—far from it, but they carry a constant threat that isn't very good for the nerves.

In the line the Poets are sure to excel the Sagehens. For weight, experience and ability, Johns, Wingert, Pickett, Buckmaster and Madden could hardly be matched in the Pomona eleven. And the fact that the Whittier line is pretty likely to find the weak spots will give "Puss" Thompson, the Poets shifty right half, a chance to register. Thompson is undoubtedly the shiftiest man on his feet of any back in the conference. Given any sort of a hole in the line and he will go through it, and once through, it becomes a matter of trying to stop forked lightning. Thompson carries a spinning, rabbit punch that makes him a dangerous man behind a strong line.

Reece at full is not as sensational a player as either Suggett or Thompson, but he very inconspicuously makes much of their work possible and is in addition as steady as dependable as the day is long. When a few yards are needed Reece seldom fails to deliver the goods.

NOT MUCH CHOICE.

Ray Johns of Whittier and Wilson of Pomona are about a stand off for the signal calling berth. Both are heady and plucky. Neither is a figurehead when it comes to packing the ball for good gains. As a defensive player, Johns would have a little the edge. Next to Pickett he is the surest tackler on the Poet eleven, and a harder fighter would be difficult to find.

A comparison of the Whittier and Pomona backfields would hardly be to the point. Much depends on the quality of the lines, and as the Poet forwards seem superior to the Sagehens, the Quaker backs will be almost as certain to have it over the Claremont backfield.

SCREEN CLUB IS TO INCLUDE ATHLETICS.

Swimming, tennis and other athletic activities will be included in the regime of the new club of the Screen Writers' Guild of the Authors' League of America, which plans to erect a $50,000 clubhouse in Hollywood.

CONTEST WON'T BE A PUSHOVER.

battle, make no mistake about that.

Here's hoping that the boys play as clean football as California and Washington State put up last Saturday at Portland. They hit each other over with everything they had but every man on both teams played fair and there was not even a suggestion of unnecessary roughness.

Charley Dean, captain of the U.S.C. team, is considered the best football player in Southern California and down there they think he is the best on the Coast. Maybe so, but there are some mighty high-class players on the Pacific Coast right now and a man will have to show a lot to stand on a peak above all of them.

THEY KNOW HIM.

Dan McMillan and others of the Bears know Dean and played with him and against him in prep school days. They admit he is one of the best men backing up the line they have ever seen. He is also good at carrying the ball. But it is on defense that he really shines.

Word comes from the south that Dean has been ailing this week, suffering from a heavy cold, but he is expected to be in tip-top shape Saturday. Hope he is so we can see how good he is. He felt well enough last Saturday to rip off an eighty-yard run against Pomona, so his legs are evidently sound.

Dean weighs around 180 pounds and he is a high-class fighting man. He knows the game, for he has been well trained and has had a world of experience in high school and college football and he will try to make his game at Berkeley next Saturday the best one of his career.

Hope he has a good day. The customers always like to have a star live up to advance notice.

Some of Dean's admirers in Los Angeles say he is such a terrific linebucker that he makes yardage even when there is no hole for him to get through. If he can do that he is some man.

Then there is "Swede" Evans, a right tackle of great renown. Why do they call a man named Evans "Swede?" His nickname should be "Taffy," according to all the Welshman. Evans weighs 200 pounds and he is very active. He is a veteran, so he knows the tricks of the trade. Down south he is rated as among the best in the land. He will meet some powerful and clever linemen when he tries to brush these California forwards aside. It is not being done often.

SOFT SCHEDULE.

U.S.C. has a team composed of veterans. Their schedule has been an easy one and they have trained all season with the one object of beating California next Saturday. The friends of the U.S.C. players did a lot of talking last year, because California did not play U.S.C., and said the Bears were afraid of them. That's bush league stuff, but it was played up big. Now the two teams are to come together, the players are in shape and if the weather is nice and the field fast, something worth going to see should be staged on California Field next Saturday.

Brick Muller is recovering from his broken leg so rapidly that there is a chance he may get into action yet before the close of the season. But even if Brick gets into the lineup, little Brodie Stephens will not be benched. That boy has played such wonderful football at right end this year that he has cinched a place for himself.

Stephens has literally balled his way onto the varsity. He came up from the goofs last year and when Bob Berkey was hurt so badly that he could not play against Ohio State, Stephens got his chance. That's all he needed. He has been in every game this year; he has played every minute of every game; he has never been hurt, he has hurt a lot of his opponents and he has played right end as it should be played. In saying this about Stephens, no reflections are cast on Bob Berkey. Bob is a first-class end run and has been for two years, but Stephens has simply come from nowhere and that makes his case worth talking about just now. A coach is lucky to have three ends like Mueller, Berkey and Stephens.

DUCKS PLENTIFUL AT BIG BEAR LAKE.

The hot weather that has been spoiling the duck hunting in the surrounding country for the past week has not reached Big Bear Lake, according to Phil Carter, who came down from the lake recently. Flights of canvasbacks and redheads have settled in the Big Bear region, and many local hunters are planning to bag some of them.

FOR THE SECOND HONORS.

Northwest Colleges, Out of Running for Conference Title, Fight Among Themselves.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 2.—Now that both Oregon and Washington institutions have taken the count, so far as Pacific Coast championship honors are concerned, they are devoting more attention to the fight among themselves. Up to last Saturday the big objective was to eliminate California from the championship race. Now that all four of the northern colleges have themselves been eliminated they can scrap it out for supremacy in the Northwest.

This season has seen peculiar alliances in the Northwest. Washington and Washington State are bitter enemies and athletic rivals. Yet, when the Cougars played California the Sundodgers had a rooting section and boosted hard for Pullman. Likewise Oregon was behind the Oregon Aggies in their Stanford game. It is not that the teams have any special grievance against California; it is simply a feeling of sectional loyalty which would like to see a team from the Northwest grab the honors and represent the West in the Pasadena game.

The one circumstance that did tend to develop feeling in the Cougar-Bear game was the reported protest by California of three Washington Staters, Moe Sax, Mike Moran and Eldon Jenne, the latter two on the ground they had been in intercollegiate athletics more than three years, and Sax for leaving Pullman, registering at Stanford and returning to Pullman.

An acrimonious discussion about this protest developed prior to the game. The sting was taken out of it, however, when Andy Smith denied that a protest had been filed. The trouble arose, he said, because Washington State did not send in its list of players in accordance with conference rules. So a member of the California faculty wrote for it, incidentally inquiring about the standing of the three players named. This was explained satisfactorily.

"I want to say again that all this protest stuff was bunk," declared Smith after the game. "We never did enter any official protest and never intended to. The whole thing was merely a misunderstanding all around."

Washington and Oregon varsities, which appear to be the weak sisters of the conference, will strive hard to regain some of their lost laurels. Oregon goes to Pullman next Saturday to take on the Cougars. The team did not have a game last Saturday, and Huntington has utilized the two weeks in an attempt to instill a little real football into his players. Oregon's and Washington State's comparative scores against California do not hold out much hope to the Oregonians, but Huntington believes he has an improved team, although admitting that his prospects are not very bright.

PORTRAYS DUAL ROLE.

MARY PICKFORD INIMITABLE IN "FAUNTLEROY."

By Grace Kingsley.

Not since "Stella Maris" has Mary Pickford shown her acting ability as she does in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," which opened at the Mission yesterday. And I say this despite the fact that a mother crying with her hand over her mid-Victorian bodice because her small son is going to have his curls cut off, is a bit out of date. Also in spite of the fact that the normal tendency among human beings is to want to kill a boy who is as sweet as Lord Fauntleroy.

But "Little Lord Fauntleroy" is a great picture. It is great largely because Mary Pickford is great. The double roles of the tender young mother and the quaint, friendly little Cedric shows the wide range of this star's amazing genius.

You feel you have never seen anyone so appealing in your life as the sweetly prim, quietly dignified, but warmly and gently maternal Mrs. Errol, human even though she is a personification of all the ladylike mid-Victorian virtues and manners. Next minute you behold another Mary—a Mary changed into the more or less romping Cedric of the curls, who fiercely catapults Douglas Fairbanks-wise headfirst into a crowd of other boys, because the said boys have made fun of said curls.

He's no sissy, this Fauntleroy of Mary's; there's real boyishness in him, a characteristic, by the way, this boyishness, which Mary's kid roles have always had; he has a boyish slant of thought as well as a boyish stride, and a boyish carelessness, too.

If you would enjoy "Fauntleroy," you must park all your recently acquired love of mature years for the sophisticated and sardonic, and yank yourself back to the days when you sat in the arm chair and devoured the story. Then you will find you've never lost your liking for it. You'll recollect the quaint, world-old charm of the tale in which things are as they should be.

You will be hugely amused still at the way Cedric astounds Mr. Hobbs with the statement, "There an earl sitting right on your cracker box this minute!" You will be delighted when the small lord brings the whole gang of kids into the castle to be fed, and in the score of other merry touches, including Cedric's fight with the would-be Fauntleroy.

In this, forsooth, Mary uses some of husband Fairbanks' athletic tactics! She imitates Fairbanks' walk, too, which is very clever of her.

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" is picture perfect. Its types might all have stepped right out of the book, and its sets showing the castle are painstakingly and gorgeously realistic. Claude Gillingwater as the old Earl claims second honors to Mary herself for his fine acting, and all the other parts are well done.

Infinitely absorbing, charming and appealing as is "Little Lord Fauntleroy," but it has one big fault. It is too lengthy, and seems to drag in spots. Many shots could be cut out, and many scenes could be cut down without impairing the clarity or charm of the story and this would render it indeed not only unique, as it is now, but indeed quite perfect.

Al Green directed. He is to be congratulated on the beauty of the production, and on the manifest skill which he undoubtedly stimulated in the players.

Ward Lascelle Back.

Ward Lascelle, who made a film version of "Rip Van Winkle" which promises to be one of the big pictures of the year, has returned from New York and is planning to make four Ward Lascelle Productions for Hodkinson release during the coming year.

Fox Changes Policy.

The star system is evidently on the decline, so far as the Fox Company is concerned. It became known yesterday that in pursuance of this policy the organization is discontinuing entirely the Twentieth Century Brand Pictures, the stars of which are Lefty Flynn, Eileen Percy, Barbara Bedford and Johnny Walker.

In place of so many starring vehicles, big productions using featured casts are to be made and it is more than likely that all the four stars mentioned above will be used in these, as all have good drawing power.

The stars who are retained in stellar capacity are Tom Mix, Shirley Mason, William Farnum, Dustin Fornum, William Russell and Buck Jones. These have all been playing in stellar capacity for several years.

William Farnum is to make a costume picture, and it is expected he will begin work early in January.

Viola Dana Buys Home.

It looks as though at last Viola Dana, the lively young Metro star, means to settle down to a quiet life. She is leaving hotel life for her own home in Beverly Hills, having purchased the handsome residence formerly owned by Wallace Beery.

"You may expect to find me tatting almost any evening now," said Miss Dana.

Lorna Moon to Scotland.

Lorna Moon, who has been a dweller in Jack Donovan's quaint Greenwich Village an Sunset Boulevard, and who has been rattling the typewriter as story writer for Cecil de Mille for several months past, is leaving for a visit to her native Scotland. She expects to be gone several months.

Miss Moon has written a number of stories for Wallace Reid and Gloria Swanson.

Star Affianced, Report.

It looks as though one of our prospective stars, namely Jacqueline Logan, is going to be lost forever to all but one of her admirers. In short, if rumor be true, Miss Logan is to become the bride of Larry Fisher, wealthy automobile manufacturer of Chicago, whose business interests involve the Cadillac.

Mr. Fisher has been spending some time in the West, and during his stay here met Miss Logan while she was playing a leading role in "Molly-O," in support of Mabel Normand. The friendship rapidly ripened into romance, he frequently escorted her to and from the studio, and the two have lately been much in each other's company. Mr. Fisher has returned East.

On being questioned in regard to the matter the other day, Miss Logan did not deny the rumor. She smiled mysteriously, and then answered cryptically. "Well, I'll tell you all about it soon."

At one time Miss Logan was supposed to be engaged to Crayne Garts of Pasadena, but the affair was broken off.

Miss Logan is considered one of the most promising young actresses on the screen, and it is whispered she is shortly to become a star with one of the larger companies.

Will Rogers's Latest.

You just can't keep that rising young actor, Will Rogers, from making those killing cracks. Discussing the other day the recent film demonstration of surgical operations given before the American College of Surgeons, Rogers remarked:

"Seem to be almost as many cuts and slashes in that film as the censors made in "Theodora."

"FANNY'S FIRST PLAY."

SHAW SATIRE ON LIFE AND THE CRITICS AT COMMUNITY.

By Edwin Schallert.

What would the past generation think of us; what do we think of ourselves?

If you do not possess a ready answer to this apparently perplexing question, perhaps you will enjoy having George Bernard Shaw turn his searchlight of humor on it in "Fanny's First Play" this week at Hollywood Community Theater. And if you do not care to bother about questions and answers, and the first cousins thereof, namely problems, perhaps you will be satisfied to be merely diverted and amused—as you are seldom diverted and amused—by the characters of the ingenious playwright and the bon mots of the witty, whimsical philosopher in his immensely clever play within a play.

That, of course, is what "Fanny's First Play" is, at least in large part. It is undoubtedly the best part, too, from the audience standpoint, the dynamic comedy-drama that Shaw wrote for Fanny, and which is presented before the critics and the representative of the nineteenth century, whom Shaw introduces in the prologue and epilogue.

As usual, Shaw spares nothing or nobody that comes his way. He first gets at the stage and the critics in the prologue and then at life in Fanny's play, then he comes back to the stage and the critics again in the epilogue.

It all gives you the impression of viewing a sort of triptych, or painting with accompanying panels. You gain a certain depth of perspective on the sketching of life in the middle picture which fascinates you artistically, while it tickles your fancy, and at the same time goads your thoughts forward.

Shaw really was building for the future, and for democracy when he wrote "Fanny's First Play." It is a sort of protectorate in dramatic form for the younger generation. But dramatically the play is decidedly of and for the present. It is even strongly colloquial in spots. The lines in the central comedy-drama, especially, have a fresh imaginative flavor.

There is a bit of conventional unconventionality about the whole of Fanny's play. For this, an adroit alibi is supplied by Shaw in the fact that it is supposed to have been written by a Cambridge student, as her first dramatic effort.

Her father, who harbors a prejudice against everything that is not of the Victorian era, is supposed to present the play. It is reviewed by four dramatic critics and a producer.

The result is an entente cordiale, who extend their felicitations quite conventionally to the young author.

Of course, the lines are the thing. They crackle like a fire and snap like a whip. Their sting is not softened, never, but it is sometimes lightened by the grace of the humor.

And even if Shaw really expounds no more serious thing in his final tag line than that the players should always be duly applauded even if one does not like the play, his comedy is a jolt to the mind and a stimulus to thought that makes one feel intellectually invigorated.

George Bernard himself having said that the players should be applauded at all costs, I wish that I had more space to devote to the individual efforts of the community cast. The performance is an entirely acceptable one. There are even moments when it ascends to a peak of brilliance. There are few instances where it may be said to lag. All of it is refreshing.

To Madge Houghton, as the costermaid; Roy Atwell as the butler, Theodore Von Eltz, as the piquant French lieutenant; Eric Snowden as Trottter, the critic, and Miss Helen Eddy in the brief part of Fanny belong chief honors in order mentioned. But this takes little credit from the character of respectability given by Gilbert Clayton, the capital portrayal of callow youth by Wheeler Dryden; the Victorian gentleman of Thomas Ricketts; the stupidly domestic Mrs. Sibley of Helenita Lieberg—all excellent.

So, too, is the work of the others, among them, Felix Hubbard, Janet Scott, Mr. Pitcairn, Joseph Dilon, Mr. Chaldecott and Arthur Vlare.

Miss Neely Dickson, who directed the production, has really made dramatic history with this play.

Tandler Home.

Having attended various important musical events abroad, and assisted officially at one of several festivals, Adolf Tandler, formrely conductor of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, returned yesterday to resume his connection with music in this city. He has been absent for six months, and during his European tour visited England, France, Switzerland, Germany and other countries.

At Salzburg, Austria, the birthplace of Mozart, Mr. Tandler was invited to conduct one of the programs of the Mozart festival during the summer. The program which he directed, included the G minor symphony, the rarely played "Idomeneo" overture, a Serenade, and the Sonata for organ orchestra.

"As a member of the special committee of the Salzburg festival house committee," said Mr. Tandler yesterday, "I also came into close contact with that stage-master, Max Reinhardt. I attended every rehearsal, as well as the outdoor performance of 'Everyman.'"

Vera Gordon to Visit.

Vera Gordon, known for her portrayal of Mamma Kantor in "Humoresque," is to visit this city in vaudeville early in December. Mrs. Gordon is playing the Orpheum circuit in a sketch written for her by Edgar Allan Wolff, entitled "Lullaby."

It is considered likely that during her stay here, she will accept one of the local film propositions that she is now considering.

Choir in Prologue.

An atmospheric prologue of musical interest is being presented by a large chorus, under the direction of Thomas Taylor 'Drill, this week at Grauman's Theater. The presentation is accompanying the showing of "Ladies Must Live." The singers are members of the local choir conducted by Mr. Drill.

Tom Moore in New York.

BARRYMORE IN PLAY OF COMPLICATIONS.

In "The Great Adventure," which is now playing at the Alhambra Theater, Lionel Barrymore is seen in the most fascinating motion pictures that he has played in one of. "The Great Adventure" is a comedy, adapted to the screen from the play of the same name by Arnold Bennett, and in it Barrymore has the role of the eccentric artist.

In order to escape her, he hides his identity by posing as his dead valet. He enjoys the novel distinction of attending his own funeral, when the valet is buried in Westminster Abbey. How he subsequently meets and marries the pretty young widow who misstakes him for the dead valet with whom she has been carrying on a romantic correspondence through a matrimonial agency, and how he is forced to sell his pictures for a song because of this deception, while other serious difficulties confront him, makes for some engaging dramatic and comedy situations.

Mr. Barrymore is supported by Doris Rankin, as the feminine lead, beside Charles Lane, Arthur Rankin and Paul Kelly.

"For Land's Sake," a comedy full of thrills and laughs, is also on the bill.

"RIGOLETTO" FILM HOLDS INTEREST.

"Rigoletto," the film version of the celebrated opera by Verdi, is enjoying a favorable run at Philharmonic Auditorium. Showings will continue until the end of the week, except for the matinee tomorrow which is given over to the regular Philharmonic Orchestra concert; Friday night, when Heifetz will play, and Saturday evening when the orchestral program will be repeated.

"Rigoletto" was produced in Italy, and for that reason the settings given the story are especially interesting. So too are the players of the various characters.

The musical program selected from the opera which accompanies is also making an especial appeal.

HIGH JINXERS SHOW OFF SONGS AND GOWNS.

Headlining the offering is the popular favorite, Al Bridge, assisted by Gene Darby, Olga Brooks and Grace Jennings.

An additional bit of vocal entertainment is given by the Kimball Four, who have added much harmony to the show.

HEIFETZ HERE TOMORROW.

Jascha Heifetz, the brilliant young Russian violinist, arrived in Can Francisco yesterday, coming direct from a summer vacation in Russia, and a tour of Australia. There were five in the party accompanying him—the mother and father, sister, Samuel Chotzinoff, his accompanist, and J. C. Drake, his business manager. They were met by Jack Adams, Jr., representing the American managers of Heifetz. Heifetz will reach here tomorrow to play a program in the evening. He will offer the sonata in G major (Locatelli:) concerto in A minor (Glazounoff;) Andante and Allegro from the first Bach sonata for violin alone; Slavonic dance, E minor (Dvorak;) Saltarella (Wieniawski.) and the Souvenir de Moscow (Wieniawski.)

WATSON EGGS ALONG FIGHT.

Defies Investigation Committee Named by Senate.

Declares He Will Soon Tell Some Hot Stuff.

Floor Turbulently Debates Army Hanging Charges.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. — The Senate engaged in another turbulent debate today when Senator Watson of Georgia refused to recognize the authority of a special committee to summon him as a witness to substantiate his charges that many American soldiers were executed without trial in France.

Senator Watson denounced the attitude of Senator Wadsworth of New York, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee as insolent, supercilious, contemptuous and intolerant and declared that he would present his case in due time upon the floor of the Senate.

"I am not going to be bottled up in any committee room and have the evidence entombed in some report that nobody will read," shouted Senator Watson. "When I get through—and it will take some days to get through my testimony—what I say in answer to the Senator from New York will be read by millions of people because the newspapers will have to carry it for it will be good reading matter. I will assure that."

Senator Watson called attention to variation between the statements of Senator Wadsworth and Secretary of War Weeks.

"The Senator said that all the American soldiers executed in France could be counted on the fingers of one hand," he said. "The Secretary of War doubled this figure. Which is right?"

Today's outburst was precipitated by the introduction of a resolution by Senator Brandegee, giving the special committee authority to make a thorough investigation of Senator Watson's charges. In appointing the committee yesterday the Senate had failed to confer adequate powers upon it and Senator Brandegee's resolution was intended to correct this defect.

Senator Reed of Missouri hastened to Senator Watson's defense. He declared that the proposed investigation would be "a very grave mistake' and predicted that the Senate upon further consideration would abandon the plan. He objected to the proceeding because it suggested the setting up of a committee to censor remarks made by Senators on the floor of the Senate.

"If this is to be a precedent, every time a Senator makes some remarks here that some other Senator does not like we will have a special committee to investigate him," Senator Reed said.

Senator Brandegee retorted that there was no intention of placing Senator Watson on trial but he insisted it was the duty of the Senate to establish the accuracy or inaccuracy of such grave charges as those made by the Georgia Senator.

"If it is not true it is the most infamous scandal ever whispered about the Army," said Senator Brandegee. "If it is not true, it is an insult to the flag and to the honor of the country. If it is true the officers who ordered the hanging of men without trial are murderers and they should be hunted down and themselves hung."

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, insisted that a Senate committee could summon a Senator as a witness with entire propriety. He recalled that Senators were summoned in the lobby investigation and the sugar scandal investigation.

Senator Watson rose and with considerable heat demanded to be heard on a question of personal privilege.

"The Senator from Massachusetts has attempted to put me in the same category with men taking bribes," he said. "I am not going to dodge the issue but I am going to fight it out here on the floor of the Senate, squarely and openly."

ARMY BELOW MINIMUM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Latest official statistics on army recruiting show that the Regular Army is below the minimum peace strength of 150,000 set by Congress. The official total was 138,000 October 31.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Delegates to the Washington conference, their technical advisers and assistants are arriving daily, the American delegation has held several meetings and arrangements for the opening of the conference November 12 are practically complete.

The Senate engaged in another turbulent debate today when Senator Watson of Georgia refused to recognize the authority of a special committee to summon him as a witness to substantiate his charges that many American soldiers were executed without trial in France.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes yielded today to the decision of treasury officials regarding the beer regulations. Beer as a medicine and beer of alcoholic content that has been held by the brewers may be used under the new ruling.

The State Department has called the attention of the Chinese government to the effect upon its credit which might follow default of the $5,000,000 loan made to it by the Continental Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago.

Administration officials, having recovered from their apprehensions over the threatened railroad strike, are now perturbed over the danger of a coal miners' strike, protesting Judge Anderson's injunction against the Williamson field miners.

Evidences of increased strength for the sales tax movement in the Senate caused House leaders again to serve notice on Senate Republicans that under no circumstances will the House accept a sales tax as an amendment to the pending revenue bill.

Reductions in rediscount rates in eight of the twelve Federal reserve districts were announced tonight by the Federal Reserve Board.

Deaths resulting from automobile accidents numbered 9103 in 1920 as against 7988 in the preceding year in the thirty-six States included in the registration area.

TRAINMEN WILL GO BACK ON PROBATION.

TEXAS STRIKERS WHO WALKED OUT MAY RETURN TO WORK UNDER COURT'S DECREE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) Nov. 2.—Federal Judge Hutcheson late today ruled that the 500 odd members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen of the International and Great Northern Railroad, who have been on strike since October 22, should be taken back into the employ of the road. This does not apply, however, the decree said, to, the, four local chairmen of the union, whose status should be determined by James A. Baker, receiver of the road.

The men are given until Friday to determine whether they will accept or reject the decree.

The trainmen would go back on probation, under the court's decision. After thirty days, if the receiver and officials of the road are satisfied that the men have returned in a spirit of conciliation, the wage scale existing previous to October 22 and full seniority will be restored.

MANY CONGRATULATE PRESIDENT HARDING.

EXECUTIVE FIFTY-SIX YEARS OLD; KING GEORGE SENDS GREETINGS EARLY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Today was President Harding's fifty-sixth birthday. He refused, however, to observe the day as a holiday, arriving at the executive offices at the usual hour. One of the first congratulatory messages to be received by the President was from King George of England.

The President had as a luncheon guest Senator Watson of Indiana, whose birthday also falls on November 2. It was their custom to lunch together on that day when they were colleagues in the Senate.

Many messages of congratulation were received by the President. King George of Great Britain cabled:

"On the occasion of your birthday, Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to offer to you my heartiest good wishes for your health and happiness and to assure you of my cordial friendship and esteem."

The good wishes of Italy and of the Italian delegation to the Disarmament Conference were conveyed in a message from Ambassador Ricci.

PEACH GROWERS IN NEW ASSOCIATION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

STOCKTON, Nov. 2.—The California Canning Peach Growers, Inc., is the name of the newest farmers' co-operative organization in this State. Representative peach growers from all parts of Northern California are returning home today after a big meeting here yesterday at which the new association was launched. Dr. E. S. Moulton, president of the Sutter Peach Growers' Association, was chairman of the meeting and Senator M. B. Harris of Fresno acted as legal adviser. The Sutter County Association which operated in this county only will be merged with the new State organization December 1.

The State was laid out in five districts, each of which is to have two directors on the State board. There is also one director at large to be elected. An organization committee consisting of E. R. Williams, Modesto; F. H. Wilson, Dinuba; Frank Swett, Martinez, Dr. E. S. Moulton and R. W. Skinner of Yuba City, was appointed to start the work of the association.

FIFTH ADVANCE IN OIL PRICES NOTED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PITTSBURG (Pa.) Nov. 2.—The fifth advance in the price of oils within the last thirty days was noted at the opening of the market here today. Pennsylvania Crude advanced 50 cents to $4 per barrel, while Cabell at $2.61, Somerset, $2.40 and Somerset Light, $2.65, were up 25 cents. Ragland advanced 10 cents on the barrel to $1.25. Corning was unchanged at $2.15.

Oil authorities expressed surprise at the 50-cent advance on Pennsylvania Crude as a 25-cent increase generally had been expected. However, soon after the market opened, it became known that independent refiners already were in the field not only offering the new price, but in many instances premiums amounting to 25 cents a barrel. Some oil, it was said, was being sold at that price, but considerable quantities were being held for further developments.

ARBUCKLE CASE IS POSTPONED FOR WEEK.

ELECTION DAY AND ARMISTICE DAY CAUSE; AGREED TO BY BOTH SIDES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Both sides have agreed to a postponement from November 7 to November 14 in the opening of the trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress. Gavin McNab, chief defense counsel, announced today. The stipulation will be presented to the court when the case is called Monday.

The postponement is desired on account of election day and Armistice Day in the week of November 7.

Dr. M. E. Rumwell, charged with having performed an unauthorized autopsy on Miss Rappe, appeared in Police Court today and his case was continued until November 9.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Depositions by three witnesses, who testified regarding their acquaintance with Virginia Rappe, a film actress, who died after a party given by Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, who is charged with manslaughter in San Francisco, were signed here today and turned over to C. H. Brennan, attorney for Arbuckle, to be used in the film comedian's defense.

The affidavits included testimony by Dr. Maurice Rosenberg, who said he had treated Miss Rappe for chronic cystitis; Mrs. Josephine Roth, who declared the girl had been a patient at her maternity home five times in two years, and Miss Virginia Warren, a nurse, who said she had attended Miss Rappe on two occasions when she was employed by Mrs. Roth.

RAID ON HALL NETS MANY PRISONERS.

CHARGED WITH ATTENDING AN INDECENT SHOW, FREED IN POLICE COURT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Charges of attending an indecent theatrical performance, which were lodged against 276 boys and men who were found in a social hall last night and herded to the city prison in droves were dismissed today in Police Court. The composite defense was: "I did not know it was going to be that kind of show."

Harry Brown, motion picture operator, was held on a charge of exhibiting indecent photographs on the screen, and his case put over until Saturday.

Many of the spectators, unable to obtain bail, were compelled to spend the night in the city prison, which they overcrowded.

SEEKS TO COLLECT $40,000 IN TAXES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Nov. 2.—In the United States Supreme Court, Attorney Leslie Hardy will represent the county of Santa Cruz in a case wherein collection is sought of about $40,000 back taxes, alleged due the county and State from the Luis Maria Baca float grant No. 3, which embraces a material part of Santa Cruz county, covering 100,000 acres.

The grant dates from June 20, 1863, given in lieu of a tract in Northern New Mexico. Decision for the claims was given in the Supreme Court of the United States, in 1914, from which time it is claimed to have been subject to taxation.

HURRICANE VISITS REGION IN ARIZONA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

JEROME (Ariz.) Nov. 2.—Sunday night a hurricane dipped down into the forested region near Lake Mary, east of here, and cut a devastating swath half a mile wide and at least three miles long. Trees, bushes and fencing were torn away and dropped outside the storm's pathway.

The storm passed within 200 yards of a house where five persons were sleeping, and where the wind was of little force.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

KARACHI (India) Nov. 2.—Imprisonment for two years has been imposed on Mohammed Ali and Shaukat Ali and Dr. Kitchlew. These men were convicted of the charge of attempting to cause disaffection among the troops, and sedition. The Ali brothers were associated with the movement of the Indian leader, Gandhi.

REBUILDING RAILWAY LINES IN MEXICO.

ROAD TO TEPIC WILL BE OPEN BY JANUARY 1 FOR FIRST TIME SINCE 1913.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Nov. 2.—Reconstruction of the line of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, destroyed by revolutionists, has been started. The line to Tepic will be in operation by January 1, for the first time since 1913, when all the bridges were destroyed. Service is to be started about November 15 to Puga, about twenty kilometers north of Tepic. The road was designed to connect with the Mexican National near Guadalajara, to afford an alternative route to the City of Mexico. As this was considered of industrial and military importance, a liberal concession was granted by the Diaz government. It is assumed that the present government has continued this concession, for plans are being made for the filling of a 100-mile gap between Tepic and La Quemada. At the latter point is a short line that connects, at Orendain, with the Mexican National, affording direct access to the national capital.

CAUGHT, LAD TRIES TO KILL OFFICER.

ESCAPES FROM TRAIN, LATER IS PICKED UP BY DEPUTY IN AUTOMOBILE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MODESTO, Nov. 2. — James Morris, 15 years old, leaped from a train running twenty-five miles an hour today, escaping from Deputy Sheriff E. Pearre of El Centro, who was taking him to the reform school at Ione. Later he attempted to obtain a ride in an automobile in which the deputy was pursuing him, and when Pearre sprang from the machine, is said to have pressed a revolver to the officer's side and pulled the trigger. The shell did not explode, and the boy was arrested.

Morris was being taken to the reform school because of a burglary at Seeley. He leaped from the train near Turlock. The deputy sheriff came on to Modesto, hired an automobile and went in pursuit.

The boy told his captor he had obtained the revolver at a farm house after jumping from the train.

TOMBSTONE BANK PLANS TO REOPEN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) Nov. 2.—The reopening of the First National Bank appears to have been brought nearer by an agreement in Los Angeles, reported by Attorney W. A. Bowen, representing Mrs. Mary M. Costello, the bank's principal stockholder. Mr. Bowen has telegraphed that the main bonding company will make available all county moneys on deposit in the bank and will be credited as a bank depositor. Mr. Bowen will be in Tombstone soon, to consult with a committee that is securing pledges of continuing deposits in the event of the bank's reopening. There is report that the committee has made good progress among the depositors.

NEW TRIAL ALLOWED MRS. VIRGINIA CLARK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—A new trial was granted by the District Court of Appeal today to Mrs. Virginia Clark, convicted in Oakland of the alleged murder of her husband, Chester W. Clark, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The court found that "third-degree" methods were used on Mrs. Clark by the Oakland police to obtain admissions from her, and that the history of her life was admitted unnecessarily into the evidence.

BAY CITY BREWERIES ARE READY TO WORK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Three San Francisco breweries made application to the Collector of Internal Revenue today to manufacture and sell beer in conformity with the recent ruling of the Treasury Department allowing the beverage for medicinal purposes. They were referred to the State prohibition enforcement officer for the proper credentials.

The collector announced there were 50,000 gallons of beer in bond here, which probably will be disposed of before the breweries are allowed to resume.

COMMISSIONER CLOSES OKLAHOMA BANK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OKMULGEE (Okla.) Nov. 2.—The Bank of Commerce here was closed today by the State Banking Commissioner. Officials issued a statement that inability to realize on loans was the cause of the closing. Its last statement showed deposits of $2,340,918.61, guaranteed under the State guaranty law.

WILD PICTURES SEEN IN PARIS.

Crush at Opening of Salon is Greatest Yet.

Leader of Dadaist School Has Queer Canvas.

Large Number of Americans Are Exhibitors.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The Salon d'Automne, which opened its doors today, is a manifestation of all that is young and vigorous in French art. Since the most prominent savages have forsaken the Salon des Independants for the Automne, the latter also affords the best opportunity to study all that is wildest in the wilds of Montparnasse and Montmartre.

Varnishing day at any exposition is always an event to the Paris public. People who do not even look at a painting all the rest of the year consider their presence essential. This year's crush at the Automne was the greatest yet.

It is impossible to do more than pick out a few among the striking exhibits.

PICTURE DEFIES DESCRIPTION.

Then there is Picabia, the leader of the Dadaist school, whose two so-called portraits, "L'oeuil Cacodylate" and "Les Lieux Chauds" are excellent examples of this young artist's endeavors to amuse himself and bore others. The latter picture defies description. The former consists of a large canvas covered with senseless phrases in which the slogan of the Dadaists, "Agaga Adada" is frequently repeated. At the right-hand bottom corner of the canvas there is an enormous eye. Here and there scattered aimlessly around are pasted half a dozen photographs, including one of the futurist poet Cocteau and another of Picabia himself.

Auguste Matisse is also well represented.

Among the exhibits which will arouse the greatest interest is a statue of a nude woman by Maillol. This talented sculptor has not exhibited anything for several years. His work stands out far above anything else included in this year's salon.

MANY AMERICANS EXHIBIT.

An exceptionally large number of Americans have had works accepted, many of which show excellent qualities. Cameron Burnside shows a large naval yard. Hall Thorndyke has a number of landscapes of Southern France. Among the other Americans exhibiting are Barlow Brewster, Earl Butler, Charles S. Garner, R. W. Johnson, Myron C. Nutting, Clinton O'Calaghan, A. Robison and M. Snyder.

There are also more American women artists represented in this year's exhibition than in previous ones. Among them are Mrs. Louise Crowe, Miss Helen Dunlop, Mrs. Ada Gilmour, Mrs. J. Nichols, Miss Grace Ravlin and Mrs. Mary Seton.

Cyril De B. Howard shows the statute of a woman bather. It is a very beautiful example of his work.

Interest is added to the salon by an exhibit of the works of Russian artists and a retrospective exhibition of drawings by Daumier.

HUGE PETRIFIED FORESTS FOUND.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Nov. 2.—Discovery of great petrified forests on the high plateaux of Northern Sardinia, the trees of which are from nine to twelve feet in circumference, is reported in the Tribuna.

A government commission declares that the find is of world-wide importance as these forests are said to be among the grandest in the world.

JAPS NOT ANXIOUS TO RETAIN TREATY.

PRESS DECLARES TOKIO UNCONCERNED OVER ANGLO-JAP PACT'S FATE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Nov. 1.—Commenting on reports that it is the intention of the United States to urge abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, as a necessary preliminary to the achievement of limitation of armaments, both the Jiji Shimpo and the Chugai Shogyo Shimpo assert that Japan will not necessarily insist on maintenance of the pact.

In the opinion of the Jiji Shimpo the Japanese will be ready to support an Anglo-American-Japanese entente if suggested as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and fall back on the latter only if the conference results neither in a triple entente nor in limitation of armaments.

According to the Chugai Shogyo Shimpo, however, Japanese representatives at Washington will offer the explanation to the Americans that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance has never been designed as a measure against them, and will never prove a handicap to the realization of armament restrictions, nevertheless, it says, Japan will remain content if an agreement be reached in any form for the maintenance of peace in the Orient.

The proposed international control of Chinese economies and finance, this newspaper declares, is not considered by Japan as conformable with the fundamental policy of Japanese diplomacy.

DEMOCRATS IN HOUSE PAY WHITE TRIBUTE.

FORMER NATIONAL COMMITTEE HEAD IS LAUDED IN RESOLUTION; BODY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. — Democratic members of the House, at a conference today, unanimously adopted a resolution expressing "appreciation and thanks for the able leadership and faithful and unselfish service" rendered by George White as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and congratulating the committee on the selection of Cordell Hull as Mr. White's successor.

"Mr. Hull's patriotism, statesmanship, knowledge of political history and policy and his elements of leadership," the resolution stated, "peculiarly fit him for this position at this time of nationl and world stresse, when the country is in the control of a party without a program or guilding policy, wandering seeking the path of political expediency to lead it to safety, while every interest of this nation and of the world challenges us to definite constructive effort toward national and world readjustment and rehabilitation.

"Knowing his personal character, unselfish devotion to this country and his ability as a leader disclosed during his long service in this House, with confidence in the success of his leadership, we pledge to him as to our fellow Democrats throughout the nation, our united support."

NOTED PRISONER DIES IN SANTA CLARA HOME.

ONCE ORDERED TO PAY PENALTY ON GALLOWS, LATER GAINS FREEDOM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—John Byrne, once sentenced to be hanged for a saloon hold-up and murder here Nov. 15, 1906, and later granted a commutation to life imprisonment, died last night at the ranch home in Santa Clara county of Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Call and Post. He had been on parole since last April, and up to a week ago had been employed in Humboldt county.

The saloon was held up by bandits, and a bartender, a former policeman and one of the bandits were killed in a fight. Another one of the bandits escaped by running into a saloon across the street, where Byrne was sleeping. The escaped bandit had masked himself in a bandanna handkerchief similar to one found in Byrne's pockets.

The case attracted considerable attention, because of efforts made by Mr. Older and other persons to have the death penalty suspended and finally to obtain his breedom.

TITLED BRITON DIES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 2. — William Mansfield, first Viscount of Sandhurst, is dead. He was Undersecretary for War in 1886 and again from 1892 to 1894. The heir to the title is John William Mansfield, a brother.

BENJAMIN H. KAUFMAN, Reading, Pa.

"There's no doubt in my mind that Tanlac did the next to impossible for my wife," was the positive statement of Benjamin H. Kauffman, 505 Bingaman st., Reading, Pa., popular clothing salesman for the well-known firm of Croll & Keck:

"I was almost desperate from worrying over her condition, as she had suffered so long without getting relief and I can hardly believe my own eyes now when I see the change in her. Why, she doesn't show her age by twenty years and declares she never remembers feeling better in her life. Her health was failing steadily for a year as a result of catarrh of the stomach, and I have never seen anybody suffer as much from indigestion and nervousness as she did.

"After a five weeks' course of Tanlac she was like another person, and I'm firmly convinced that years have been added to her life. It makes me shudder now when I think what the result might have been if she hadn't taken Tanlac in time."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles by The Owl Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.—[Advertisement.

No More Gas in Stomach & Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in the stomach and bowels, take Baalmann's Gas-Tablets.

Baalmann's Gas-Tablets are prepared distinctly for stomach gas, and for all the bad effects coming from gas pressure.

That empty and gnawing feeling at the pit of your stomach disappears, that anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath, often prevented by gas pressing against your heart and lungs.

Your limbs, arms and fingers won't feel cold and go to sleep because Baalmann's Gas-Tablets prevent gas interfering with the circulation; drowsiness, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for some form of entertainment. Your distended stomach will reduce because gas will not form after using Baalmann's Gas-Tablets.

PRINTING INDUSTRY CONFERENCE IS ON.

EMPLOYERS MEET UNION OFFICERS TO ARRANGE NEW CONTRACT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2. — Representatives of five unions in the printing industry were in conference today with employers, negotiating a new agreement in place of the contract expiring November 7. The old contracts affect pressman, bookbinders and paper cutters, binder women, typographical workers and press feeders.

Rates of pay and hours of work form the main points of discussion. According to the employers, they desire a return to the forty-eight-hour week, which was superseded by the forty-four hour May 1, when present contracts were drawn up. Subsequent negotiations resulted in a decrease in wages.

Union representatives say they will fight any further reduction in pay, although denying rumors a strike vote is being taken.

15 Jewel movement $30

A 3/0 Size Ladies Wrist Watch of Exceptional Accuracy

This Waltham Convertible Ladies Wrist Watch is most attractive, and dependable for the price. In every respect it is an ideal watch—small, yet large enough to give exceptional service at a very low cost of up-keep.

It also provides a variation of fashionable wear. A patented disappearing eye in the case enables it to be worn upon the wrist, or upon a chain or chatelaine. This is a distinctive Waltham feature.

The Waltham "3/0 Size" Convertible all-the-year Ladies Wrist Watch, in a seven jeweled movement and a 20-year gold-filled case, can be purchased for $22.50, and a fifteen jeweled movement for $30. The famed Waltham quality, good looks and a remarkably low price.

Ask your jeweler. He knows what a fine time-keeper it is. And it is a watch which will surprise you with its dependable service.

Waltham Watches

In buying a watch sometimes it happens that price means a lot to the purchaser. You have a certain fixed amount to spend and you want good value for your money. Here's where the Swiss and Foreign made watch sellers flourish. They offer a small size watch at a low figure which is entirely useless to you as a timekeeper. You want a watch—not an ornament. We don't talk that way. We sell only reliable, accurated, dependable watches. We know the 3-0 size Waltham Wrist Watch is a good watch. We know at its price—$22.50—for a seven-jeweled, 20-year, gold-filled case—no watch equals it in value or goodness. We back it up with the strongest kind of a personal guarantee. We know we are doing you a favor in strongly recommending this watch to all our customers who must have accurate time, and $22.50 seems about the price you want to pay. We would be delighted to show you this line of 3-0 size Waltham Watches. We have them in Octagon and Cushion shape cases, also with Ribbons or Bracelet—ideas perhaps you will not be able to find elsewhere.

BRITAIN CHARY ABOUT RUSSIA.

Concession Regarding Debts is Not Enough.

Realizes Soviet Move May be Far-Reaching.

Tchitcherin Note Not Official, General View.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The official British attitude in regard to the Russian soviet government's proposals for an international conference cannot yet be indicated, for the reason that the British government has not yet come to any conclusion on the subject.

In a well-informed diplomatic quarter it was pointed out that apart from the limitation of date with regard to the loans a point of moment is that the question of security for repayment of the loans is not dealt with in the Russian note.

The Foreign Office, which is a stickler for diplomatic usages, is not prepared to admit that Moscow has made any move on which it can take action, for the simple reason that M. Tchitcherin's note was not communicated directly to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, but was issued to all and sundry by wireless from Moscow and distributed from the Russian trade delegation's offices in London.

MOVE IS IMPORTANT.

Nevertheless it is recognized in official circles that this further abandonment by the soviet government of its original positions is important both as an indication of the situation in Russia and as a potential opportunity of putting international relations on a better footing that hitherto.

The soviet's offer to acknowledge certain Russian indebtedness does not go far enough. It is conditioned by claims which Great Britain, among other European governments, will be reluctant to admit. Moreover, the success of the commercial agreement entered into between London and Moscow has not been great enough to encourage optimism in regard to soviet undertakings. It is the contention of the British Foreign Office that the soviet government has broken some of its pledges given under that agreement.

ARE LEARNING WISDOM.

On the other hand, it is held that Lenin and his colleagues are learning wisdom and should be encouraged to walk that path, not for their own sakes, but for the sake of the world at large. The Prime Minister, it is believed by those who know his mind, will be inclined to give the soviet government the benefit of every doubt because of his conviction that until Russia is brought again within the community of nations the world cannot be set right.

Liberal opinion here is generally disposed to take such a view. The Westminster Gazette, after hailing Tchitcherin's note as final proof that "the great communist experiment has collapsed" and arguing that recognition of the defects of the government of Russia is elementary wisdom for other governments, makes an important point.

"The nations," it says, "are shortly to enter upon the great Washington conference and they must be aware that the continued outlawry of Russia will leave a note of interrogation hanging over some of their decisions. Russia is potentially a great Pacific power and to leave her unpledged and her intentions unexplored must be a dangerous hazard."

CONGRESS DETERMINED TO INCREASE SIZE.

REAPPORTIONMENT BILL TO BE PUSHED EARLY IN REGULAR SESSION.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—California's Legislature will have an opportunity to redistrict the State into new Congressional districts shortly after the first of the year unless plans in Congress go awry. All of the members have agreed that no action on the reapportionment of the House can be taken at the special session which will close within three weeks or so. But at the same time the plans are equally definite to push the matter to conclusion immediately after the regular session opens.

The bill which once passed the House last session but died in the Senate is now back in the hands of the House Committee on Census. It provides for a House of 460 members, an increase of twenty-five from the present membership and is designed to prevent any large loss to any of the States in their present strength. Maine and Missouri alone would lose and they would lose only one member each. Even this modest increase did not suit the western and more progressive members led by Congressman Barbour of California, who made an uphill fight, and while they could not force through a bill limiting the House to 435 because of the absence of many members who want only the present number, they were strong enough to recommit to the committee, thus effectually blocking for the time any further consideration of a bill to create a House of 460 members.

When the regular session convenes the men who want the present number retained will be stronger than ever and while in order to get it before the House a bill calling for the larger number may be reported by the committee, Congressman Barbour and his associates are confident that they will have enough votes to amend the measure and send it to the Senate calling for only 435 members in the House.

If this is done it is not expected that the Senate will delay the legislation long as many State legislatures meet early in January and want to act on such reapportionment in the respective States as may be necessary. House Leader Mondell wants a House of 460 and says that is the only legislation that can get through. But Leader Mondell has been wrong so many times he may be wrong again.

JEWELS ARE SEIZED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 2. — Mrs. Tim P. Naradelli, said to be the wife of a Nogales (Son.) saloonkeeper, threatened with the smashing of the lock of a safety deposit box in a local bank, accompanied officers to the bank, where were seized jewels valued at $5000, claimed to have been smuggled. Mrs. Naradelli was not taken into custody.

LOUISIANA GOVERNOR DENIES OIL CHARGE.

EXPLAINS LICENSE AGREEMENT AT OFFICIAL'S CRIMINAL LIBEL TRIAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BATON ROUGE (La.) Nov. 2.—Gov. Parker, testifying at the trial of Huey P. Long, Railroad Commissioner of North Louisiana, on a charge of criminal libel, denied he ever entered into any agreements with the Standard Oil Company, as Long is alleged to have charged.

The libel proceedings were brought against Long by Gov. Parker, and the trial began today.

The Governor explained he entered into the 2 per cent severance license agreement with the oil, gas and lumber interests only to get money into the State treasury, and that the Standard Oil Company played no part in the agreement.

GOVERNMENT TO GET INCOME FROM BEER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The government will receive 40 cents in taxes on each case of beer sold for medical purposes under the new treasury regulations, it was said today by treasury officials.

Under existing revenue laws, officials explained, the tax on beer containing more than ½ of 1 per cent of alcohol is $6 a barrel of thirty-one gallons and the tax on smaller amounts in proportion.

THREE PRISONERS KILLED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SIMLA (British India) Nov. 2.—Three men were killed and more than thirty wounded, one seriously, when prisoners in the Lahore jail made a concerted attempt on October 30 to make their escape, it is announced here.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Day in Review; Commercial Arbitration; Eyes on Washington; Texas Oil Again; Gas.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

October balances available yesterday indicate a slight falling off in volume and receipts. The general tendency of the day was somewhat bearish, although as usual Los Angeles failed to concur in the deduction. In this city bank clearings increased, and retail trade was on a firmer basis than ever, with building records sky rocketing.

The average price of industrial stocks advanced twenty-three hundredths per cent while rails were off .03.

The depressing elements of the day's news are contained in the announcement that China defaults on the $5,500,000 loan made by the Continental & Commercial Trust Company of Chicago. That Montgomery Ward's October sales were $7,694,021 against $8,687,895 a year ago, and that the Pierce Arrow Company reports a deficit of $2,109,999 in the third quarter, bringing the total deficit for the nine months ended September 30 to more than $4,000,000.

The market found stimulation in the statement by Reginald McKenna, ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer, that Britain would pay the debts she contracted during the war.

Loaded revenue freight cars had increased October 22 by 56,525 over the number in service the previous week.

A Montreal dispatch to The Times says that the Dominion government will enter the market early next year for a loan of at least $300,000,000.

The Standard Oil Company of California declared its regular quarterly dividend of $1 payable December 15 to stock of record November 18.

Pennsylvania crude oil was advanced 50 cents a barrel to $4.

The price of copper is only slightly higher on the strength of large sales in October. Copper cannot be had in quantity under 13 cents, delivered, even for points near refineries. The European demand is quiet; domestic demand moderate.

COMMERCIAL ARBITRATION.

A few months ago Trade Talk discussed the desirability of establishing a court of commercial arbitration together with a proposed system of guaranted delivery which would do away with much of the red tape which hinders the development of our foreign trade.

At that time it was pointed out in a discussion at a meting of the foreign trade committee of the Chamber of Commerce that because of long delay in adjusting these differences, and because of careless shipping, and failure to adhere to samples and packing directions buyers in foreign countries, and especially in South America, preferred to deal with European exporters.

The movement looking to reform along this line has just been given new impetus in Chicago, where two score judges from the Federal, circuit, municipal, superior, county and probate courts approved, unofficially, the proposed rules of arbitration adopted by the Chicago association of commerce governing the commercial arbitration bureau.

This trade court, which has the approval of many Los Angeles traders, is a device by which all cases, other than criminal and divorce, may be heard and settled immediately instead of lingering for months upon the calendar of some overworked judge.

The scope of the plan is not necessarily confined to export cases, and already requests for arbitration have been received from Mexico, South America and many States in the Union. It is claimed for the court that it will be cheaper and much quicker than the regular procedure. It provides one or more to try the case who are qualified by long experience in business; it does not result in enmities between the parties, and it avoids unpleasant publicity.

The arbiters consist of more than a hundred of Chicago's leading lawyers, bankers, merchants and manufacturers. The contestants are allowed to pick their own arbiters from this number and as few or as many as they wish. On matters of fact, the ruling of the arbiters is final, and accepted by the judges in the courts. An appeal is heard only on matters of law.

EYES ON WASHINGTON.

The eyes of the world are concentrating on Washington as the time for convening the Disarmament Conference approaches, but no class is watching the whirl of the wheel of Fate more intently than financiers and big business everywhere.

There is a sentiment among bankers and business men that the conference will be bound, before it has gone very far in its deliberations, to take cognizance of the financial conditions with which the world is confronted, and which must be stabilized before there can be any very real progress along the road to normalcy.

Los Angeles men of affairs, and especially those who have recently been in Europe, reveal a growing conviction that a restoration of normal international trade conditions hangs upon the cancellation, of a part at least, of the Allied indebtedness to the United States. Some who do not care to go this far favor a moratorium in interest payments for a term of years. Views also lean more and more toward a revision of the reparations agreement. Trade cannot come back, they say, with such an intolerable load hanging over the countries to which the United States must look for her export market.

TEXAS OIL AGAIN.

Latest interest in oil production is again centered in Texas. This time in the Mexia field, whence come reports of several new wells.

According to advices yesterday two big gushers have been completed; one owned by E. L. Smith and the Harvey Oil Company which is said to have made 500 barrels the first hour. The other gusher is the property of Coyle & Co. and is reported to have started off at the rate of 375 barrels hourly.

Most of the excitement centers in the little town of Datura, which was just a wide place in the road, but which gives promise of becoming a second Beaumont. Among those said to be interested in the district is Capt. Leonard Wood, Jr., a son of Gen. Wood, and who, so the story runs, broke into the oil game under the late Jake L. Hamon of whose murder Clara Smith Hamon was tried and acquitted.

Another dramatic feature of the new field is the use of the wireless for location purposes. The inventor believes that since it is possible to send a message by wireless through the ether, it is also practicable to tune a wireless instrument to certain minerals under the ground.

Almost since the oil business started back in Titusville, Pa., there have been men with crooked sticks and other appliances who claimed

BUSINESS NEWS.

Commercial Aviation; New Issues; Cotton in Germany; Arizona Firm Redeems Its Bonds.

A uniform law governing the use of airplanes is essential if commercial aviation is to be developed on a business basis, in the opinion of the National Bank of Commerce in New York. Such a law must be at least national in scope and should be international, the bank believes.

"The development in the United States has been along lines different from that in Europe," the bank says, in discussing the subject in the November issue of its magazine, Commerce Monthly, "due partly to the fact that the public has not been familiarized with flying as were the populations of the belligerent European countries and partly to the absence of a definite governmental policy. Commercial transportation companies have received neither assistance nor encouragement and in consequence private enterprises of this nature have accomplished very little. On the other hand the government, in the Army, Navy and Postoffice departments, has been active in experiments of great value to commercial aviation so that in the United States the one distinctive example of successful aerial transportation on a large scale is not strictly commercial, but is merely civil, as distinct from military aviation.

"At the present time the air mail, including its contract lines, is the only manifestation of commercial activity in the air on any considerable scale in this country. It is estimated that there are about 100 air transportation companies in the United States, but regular operation of substantial commercial importance has scarcely begun.

"Commercial aviation is laboring under many difficulties. By far the greater part of the material in use is converted war material, built for extraordinary performance rather than economy. This material must in some way be worked off the market before new and better models can profitably be built. Traffic is light and variable and the uncertainty of its future volume and nature is a severe handicap. There are in addition many technical details, both in regard to material and organization, that appear to be of a minor character, but frequently turn out to be important to economical operation. The greatest handicap by far to further development lies much deeper than present financial prospects of the industry. It is the continued lack of public confidence in the safety and reliability of air transportation.

"Since the armistice accidents have been increasing in number in some countries at a higher rate than the increase in flying. The most carefully compiled figures, those for British commercial aviation, show the death rate of passengers to have increased from .10 per thousand passengers carried in the six months ending March 31, 1920, to .22 in the six months ending Sept. 30, 1920, and to .30 in the six months ending March 31, 1921. In the twenty-three months from May, 1919, to March, 1921, inclusive, twenty persons were killed and twenty-one injured in a total of forty-eight accidents, or one accident for every 33,200 miles flown. In the United States the number of casualties, both in military and civil flying, has been alarming, although it is not possible to determine the accident rate, as no official reports are required either of flights or accidents.

"Efforts to establish an American air law have encountered a fierce conflict in regard to the form of the supervising organization and as yet have been without tangible results. It is gradually being realized by all those concerned with the future of American commercial aviation that the need for an air law is so pressing that its method of administration is a secondary consideration. When this attitude becomes general substantial progress may be expected. Wise regulation may be expected to give a certain stability to the air transportation industry essential to any industry which must appeal for credit and for investment capital. Until this is attained air transportation cannot be said to be on a business basis."

HIGH SCHOOL ISSUE.

The California Cofnpany is offering $261,000 Citrus Union High School district 5½ per cent bonds, which mature serially in amounts of $10,000 annually from 1926 to 1951. The bonds are being sold at prices to yield from 5.50 to 5.30 per cent.

The district includes an area of approximately 84.3 square miles in Los Angeles county, including the towns of Glendora and Azusa, and has an estimated population of 9000. Its assessed valuation is $8,409,465 and its total bonded debt, including this issue, is $304,000.

COTTON IN GERMANY.

Despite the rapidly depreciating value of the mark, Germany has been the largest foreign customer, with the exception of Great Britain, for American cotton during the half-year ended July 31, 1921. Interesting statistical tables supplied by the Edward Fowler Company, Los Angeles cotton brokers, show that Germany consumed 344,401 bales of American cotton during the six months' period compared to 520,393 bales taken by Great Britain, and 274,544 by Japan, our third largest customer. American mills consumed 2,451,000 bales during that time.

TULARE LAND BONDS.

A syndicate of Girvin & Miller, Inc., and Hunter, Dulin Co., is offering a new issue of $470,000 West Tulare Land Company first mortgage series 7½ per cent gold bonds, due 1926 to 1935, inclusive. The issue will be secured by a first closed mortgage, or deed of trust, on 9546 acres of contiguous farm lands lying in the southern portion of the San Joaquin Valley, in the west and northwest section of Tulare Lake Basin, Kings county, California. These lands, together with improvements, have been conservatively appraised at $1,006,883, or nearly 2 2-10 times the amount of these bonds, which constitute the sole obligation of the company. The West Tulare Land Company, which owns the 9546 acres referred to above, also leases 6750 acres of adjoining land. Net earnings from these properties for the past three years on a basis of about 8000 acres cultivated, have averaged $62,714.23 per year, or nearly twice the annual interest charges. The bonds are offered at par and interest.

ARIZONA REDEMPTION.

The entire $250,000 issue of the Colter Livestock and Agricultural Company's first mortgage 7 per cent bonds was called for redemption yesterday at 102. This issue was brought out at par in 1919 by Carstens & Earles. The bonds were due serially until 1929. The early redemption of this issue is generally taken as a good indication of the healthy state Arizona investments are in at present.

MANITOBA POWER.

E. H. Rollins & Sons, Stevens, Page & Sterling, and Wrank & Lewis are offering a $2,000,000 issue of twenty-year first mortgage 7 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, series A of the Manitoba Power Company, Ltd. The bonds are offered at 90 and accrued interest, to yield 8 per cent.

This company was formed for the purpose of developing and furnishing additional hydroelectric power for the Winnipeg Electric Company and its subsidiaries, which own and operate an extensive electric railway, light and power system serving the city of Winnipeg and the surrounding territory, having a population estimated to exceed 275,000. This issue is guaranteed both as to principal and interest by the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company. Earnings of this company are equal to over 1 3-4 times the annual interest requirements of these bonds.

DROP REDISCOUNT RATE.

Federal Reserve Banks Take Action Showing Rising Ratio of Reserves in Treasury.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The incident of paramount importance in today's financial markets occurred after the formal closing of the markets. The New York Reserve Bank then announced reduction of its rediscount rate to 4½ per cent, as against 5 per cent maintained since the reduction of September 21. From Washington it was simultaneously made known that the official rate at nearly all of the other eleven Federal reserve banks had also been lowered half of 1 per cent.

The fact that this is the fifth consecutive reduction at New York since the fifth of May and that within that time the rate has come down from 7 to 4½ is less striking than the other fact that two consecutive reductions have now been made since the autumn season was under way. Such action with official bank rates is so unusual—an advance in rates being the tradition for the period of expanding trade which begins with the end of summer—that it greatly emphasizes the nature of the situation.

RATIO IS RISING.

Today's reduction was less a response to existing open market rates than recognition of the changing credit position and of the steadily rising ratio of Federal reserves. Last week the system's cash reserve reached the highest point on record while its rediscounts fell to the lowest weekly total since the summer of 1918.

The immediate effect of this latest rate reduction on the market for private discounts and merchants' paper cannot be surely judged. But there is not the least doubt as to what it foreshadowed, both in money market and bond market after the "year end settlements." It is also highly probable that the Bank of England's official rate will be reduced tomorrow. It was not changed from the 5 1-2 per cent of early summer when the New York reserve bank cut its rate last September, but in both of the years preceding reductions the London and New York institutions acted together.

STOCK MOVEMENTS.

Movement of prices on the stock exchange was as meaningless today as it has been throughout the week. Nearly all stocks whose value is subject to other influences than sharp professional manipulation were virtually motionless.

Others, which have came to be mere gambling counters or marked cards scored substantial advances and declines according to the whim of the manipulators. Among those the notorious Mexican Petroleum was again conspicuous. It is a little pathetic to read the daily announcements laid before Wall Street regarding new oil wells, prospective production and "Mexican policies on exploitation"—as if these matters had any relation to t he present movement of the shares on the stock exchange,

A Good Security Backed by a Good Company

THE 6% Gold Notes, due 1927, of the Western States Gas & Electric Company, which are priced at 91.25 and interest, to yield 8%, are an attractive investment.

These bonds are a direct obligation of this prosperous company and in addition the company is restricted from issuing new bonds on the property without equally securing these bonds. Also its net earnings must be equal to three times annual interest charges on all notes outstanding.

The company back of these notes provides gas and electricity for more than thirty communities in the central part of California, including Stockton, Richmond and Eureka, having a total population of about 100,000. The company's franchises in this territory are very favorable; maturities for its principal franchises ranging from 1953 to 1960.

The company has stability, due to its diversified service to a steadily growing, prosperous territory. Regularly for the past six years this company has added 7% to 10% yearly to its list of consumers.

We recommend these bonds for investment of $500 or more. It will pay you to ask us for full information about these bonds. Write, telephone or call at our office.

INVESTMENT FEATURES.

1. This issue of bonds will be secured by a first closed mortgage or deed of trust on 9546 acres of contiguous agricultural lands located in the Southern part of the San Joaquin Valley in the West and Northwest Section of Tulare Lake Basin, in Kings County, about eight miles Southwest from the town of Stratford, on the Southern Pacific Railroad.

3. For the years 1919, 1920 and 1921, the net earnings from these lands, on a basis of about 8000 acres cultivated, have averaged $62,714.23 per year, or nearly twice the annual interest charges.

4. The trust deed will provide for the continuing first lien of this mortgage and any district indebtedness which might be or become prior to this bond issue will be protected by depositing with the trustee a proportionate amount of the underlying indebtedness which the lands bear to the entire district, or a cash equivalent.

5. Mr. A. W. Goodfellow and Mr. L. R. Rogers of Fresno, California, in addition to other large interests, own the entire stock of this company and they have agreed to waive the Statute of Limitation on their stockholders' liability, which constitutes a guarantee during the life of this issue.

6. Sixty-five per cent of the net annual earnings will be used first to deposit with the Trustee the principal and interest requirements for the ensuing year; the remainder for the redemption of bonds.

All proceedings leading up to and including the issuance of these bonds are under the direction of Messrs. Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, and the title to the lands will be certified to by the Kings County Abstract Company.

Sierra & San Francisco Power Company Second Mortgage 6% Bonds, while not widely familiar to the investing public, are given, in a recent analysis an excellent rating by Moody's. In fact, they are placed on the same footing as to safety and general attractiveness, with such well-known issues as the following:

"Top Stories"

As previously shown, the "Number of Times" Interest or Dividend is earned reflects the Margin of Safety, which is a valuable Index of Investment Value.

However, there are two Methods in use for computing this Index, differing widely in results and value.

The one, Method "A" below, divides the Net Earnings by the 1st Claim; then by the 1st plus the 2nd Claim; then by the sum of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Claims, etc.

The other, Method "B," takes each individual Claim separately and divides it into the Balance of Net Earnings remaining after deducting the Prior Claims.

Observe the vast difference in Results!

Earning Statement

		Number of Times Earned "A"	"B"
Net Earnings	$10,000,000
1st Mtg. Bond Interest	8,000,000	1.25	1.25
Balance remaining	2,000,000
2nd Mtg. Bond Interest	1,000,000	1.11	2.00
Balance remaining	1,000,000
Pfd. Stock Dividend	200,000	1.08	5.00

The First Mortgage Bonds, with Interest thereon earned only 1¼ times, are not a strong Investment.

But observe that under Method "B" the Interest on the 2nd Mtg. Bonds is earned 2 Times, while the Preferred Dividend is earned 5 Times over.

Method "B" thus infers that the 1st Mtg. Bonds are poor; 2nd Mtg. Bonds good; Preferred Stock excellent.

HIGHER PRICES FOR SEASONED STOCKS INEVITABLE.

The ever increasing surplus of funds in various Banking Institutions will be at work through the purchase of high-grade securities, and the Bond Market is already beginning to give evidence of higher prices as a result of this class of buying.

Higher Bond prices mean lower Bond yields, and investment funds will necessarily be compelled to turn to high-grade seasoned Stocks in order to derive a fair return.

We suggest this move by making a selection of attractive Stocks and write for a copy of our leaflet describing the Monthly Investment Plan, which will enable you to accumulate good securities without risk.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The stock market pursued its irregular and professional course today, paying little heed to the lowest money rates in many weeks and other encouraging factors.

An abundance of local and interior funds forced call loans down from 5½ to 4½ per cent before noon, and effected moderate concessions on short-time accommodations, with mixed collateral. Announcement of the reduced rediscount rates by the Federal reserve banks became known shortly after the close of the market.

Steadier conditions and another moderate spurt in production were reported from leading steel centers, but failure of the railroads to make long-deferred contracts for new construction and equipment again was a source of disappointment.

Pools were active in many speculative issues, but according to disinterested observers, they made little headway in disposing of their holdings, public participation being negligible.

Oils continued to absorb the bulk of the dealings, domestic, Mexican and European issues repeating their erratic movements, but showing gains in the main.

United Fruit enlivened the final hour, heavy buying causing a net advance of 4½ points. Sales 875,000 shares.

The further collapse of German marks to .00495, a new low record, was the only feature in the foreign exchange market, most remittances including British, French and Italian rates recording moderate improvement.

A steady to firm tone marked the broader dealings in bonds. Liberty issues, as well as standing rails, industrials and some of the foreign division closed at advances. Total sales, par value, $15,875,000.

Manitoba Power Company Limited

20-Year First Mortgage 7% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series "A"

Guaranteed as to Principal and Interest by Indorsement by the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company.

Dated November 1, 1921 — Due November 1, 1941

Interest payable semi-annually, May 1st and November 1st, and both principal and interest are payable in New York at the agency of the Bank of Montreal in gold coin of the United States of America, or at the holder's option in Montreal, Toronto, and Winnipeg, Canada.

MONTREAL TRUST COMPANY, MONTREAL—TRUSTEE

Both principal and interest of bonds held by residents of the United States are payable without deduction for any tax or taxes which the Company or Trustees may be required to pay or to retain therefrom under any present or future law of any taxing authority in the Dominion of Canada or any Province or municipality thereof, and without deduction for United States Income Taxes lawfully deductable at the source, not exceeding 3%. The Company agrees to refund Pennsylvania 4 mill tax.

Coupon bonds in denominations of $100, $500 and $1000 with privilege of registration as to principal. Redeemable in whole or in part at the option of the Company at 105 and accrued interest at any interest date upon 90 days' notice.

Amount outstanding at any time limited to $35,000,000. Presently to be outstanding, $1,500,000.

Business and Properties:—

The Manitoba Power Company, Limited, incorporated under the "Companies Act" of Canada, was formed for the purpose of developing and furnishing additional hydro-electric power for the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company and its subsidiaries, which own and operate an extensive electric railway, light and power system serving Greater Winnipeg and the surrounding territory, having a population estimated to exceed 275,000. The location of Winnipeg in Canada, both geographically and in point of view of trade control, is similar to that of Chicago in the United States.

Security:—

These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage on the Company's new hydro-electric plant, with an ultimate capacity of 168,000 horsepower and an initial installation of 56,000 horsepower, and transmission line now under construction; and a first collateral lien through pledge of stock of the Winnipeg River Railway Company on 13½ miles of standard-gauge steam railroad.

Additional bonds may only be issued at not to exceed 80% of the cost of additions and betterments to the property and provided net earnings after sinking fund requirements are not less than 1½ times interest charges on all bonds issued and those proposed to be issued.

Earnings of Guarantor:—

The net earnings of the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company, the guarantor, have increased about 36% during the past 5 years, and for the 12 months ended August 31, 1921, the net divisible income, after payment of all bond and other interest charges, amounted to $957,674, equal to over 1¾ times the annual interest requirements of these bonds.

Sinking Fund:—

The Mortgage provides for a sinking fund which will require the payment annually from November 1, 1926, to November 1, 1930, inclusive, of a sum equal to 1% of all "Series A" bonds outstanding, and thereafter and until maturity, of a sum equal to 2% of all

Bonds Guaranteed by Pacific Gas & Electric Co. to Yield 8.75%

Sierra and San Francisco Power Company

NEW SHIP SERVICE.

Company May Inaugurate Through Sailings to European Ports.

United Steamship Company officials here have been advised by the New York office of the establishment soon of a regular service from Los Angeles to New York for first, second and third-class passenger accommodations. This will permit all-water booking to Europe via New York, company officials stated yesterday. The company may inaugurate a direct European service late in December, it is stated, running a 16,000-ton steamship between Los Angeles and European points, and if the bookings prove sufficient the service will remain permanent.

WORLD'S BEST CARGO CARRIER IN HARBOR.

NEW STANDARD OIL TANKER ARRIVES ON MAIDEN TRIP FROM GOLDEN GATE.

Rated in shipping circles as the finest cargo carrier afloat, the huge Standard Oil tanker F. H. Hillman arrived at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday on her maiden voyage in the Los Angeles-San Francisco run of the Standard Oil Company's tanker fleet.

The second largest tanker in the world, the F. H. Hillman, has a cargo oil capacity of more than 5,000,000 gallons in addition to space for 2000 tons of general cargo. She is driven by twin screws at a loaded speed of eleven knots, being propelled by latest-type triple-expansion engines.

Although the tanker is one of the largest craft ever to enter Los Angeles Harbor, being 528 feet over all, with a beam of sixty-eight feet and a loaded draft of over twenty-one feet—no trouble was experienced in taking her in and out of the harbor.

J. C. Rohlfs, marine superintendent of the Standard Oil Company of California, and J. A. Cronin, supervising engineer of the company, arrived on the F. H. Hillman to make a survey of the Los Angeles Harbor plant of the Standard Oil Company relative to enlarging the scope of the company's marine activities here. Mr. Cronin pointed out that over 60 per cent of the oil products shipped from Pacific ports went from this port. The F. H. Hillman is the first of three sister ships that will be operated out of Los Angeles Harbor by the Standard Oil Company. The second, the H. M. Storey, will be put in commission November 20, while the last of the three, the W. S. Rheem, will go into service a month later.

COTTON MARKET HAS A DAY OF FIRMNESS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The cotton market showed further narrowness and irregularity today, with occasional sharp rallies reflecting a firmer technical position rather than any special news feature. There was gradual improvement, however, as trading progressed and the market closed strong up 20 to 53 points from the previous close.

The early dealings saw both gains and losses established. After gaining 1 to 11 points at the outset the list weakened under Japanese and spot house selling, combined with new pressure from Wall Street. It declined about ¼c a pound all around, but toward the middle of the day rallied with further short covering and trade demand.

Up 5 to 10 points net at noon, the market showed more consistent firmness in the afternoon.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Wheat prices closed practically unchanged from the day before. There was good commission-house buying on the break, especially of May, and selling pressure let up late in the day, prices rallying to the high points of the session. A reaction from the peak was noted later. Winnipeg advices to the effect that the movement of wheat to that market would be regulated through a co-operative move between railroads and elevators, led to the belief that the market would be relieved of much selling pressure. Corn was 1c to ⅛c higher, and oats were ⅛a lower. Rye declined 2¼c to 2⅜c, and barley was ⅜c lower.

Wheat started cent lower, another new low record for the season being established, and values now are the lowest since October, 1915. There was further liquidation of orders, even while Northwest houses were putting out hedges and the buying power was insufficient to absorb these offerings until prices sold lower. Below $1.06 for May commission buying was picked up on the break by shorts who wanted profits and some of the Allen crowd. Wheat continues to come forward in volume, which exceeds requirements and one wonders if crop figures as estimated have been correct or if the acreage was judged accurately. The volume of receipts would tend to disbelief of the figures issued.

Corn met with good buying from the start. Locals sold on the weakness in wheat but houses with cash connections were persistent buyers and this buying was mainly around 40 cents for December. Local shorts covered when wheat had its rally. There was a broader domestic shipping demand for cash corn. Country sold little corn overnight to arrive, and there was little offered during the early session. Receipts estimated 180 cars.

Values in oats were forced to the lowest points on the crop early in the day. Weakness was attributable to general selling induced by the further break in wheat. The market was given support on the break by a leading elevator interest. A good part of the later trade was in way of taking December in exchange for May at a difference of 4⅝c. Local arrivals were estimated at 60 cars.

Rye was easier. Cash No. 2 sold at 76@77¼. Receipts, 10 cars. Sales 50,000 bushels were made to go to store.

DOWNWARD TENDENCY CAUSED BY HEAVY ARRIVALS OF STOCKTON TUBERS.

Features of the trading at the Los Angeles produce market yesterday morning were the low prices received for potatoes and the strength revealed in the demand for onions. Heavy arrivals from the Stockton district and Idaho have caused a downward tendency and easier feeling on the local market. The best Burbanks are selling from $2.75 to $3.00 per hundredweight and Rosets from $2.25 to $2.75. The sales compare with $3.00 a hundredweight received for the best stock of both varieties last week.

Stockton White Globe onions of the best quality sold mostly at $5.50 a hundredweight yesterday, with a few shippers asking $5.75. Stockton brown onions sold at $5.00.

The first ripe olives of the season are being shipped in from Ventura, 10 cents a pound. The demand is light yet and there is little activity in the market. The market is liberally supplied with persimmons, and buyers are paying from 10 to 14 cents a pound, according to the quality. A considerable portion of the stock is of a very good grade.

Good peas, lettuce and cauliflower are still hard to obtain on account of the unfavorable weather. Very little good stock is being offered to the retail trade.

MEMORY OF JURIST HONORED BY COURT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 2.—This morning the Supreme Court of Arizona held a special session in honor of the memory of former Justice Albert C. Baker, who died in Los Angeles two months ago. Practically the entire local bar was present.

Resolutions read by Chief Justice Ross recited that "the records of the courts of this State for the past forty years contain the most conspicuous and enduring monuments to his learning and acumen as a judge, and his earnestness and skill as an advocate."

Justice Edward J. Flanigan, appointed by Gov. Campbell to succeed Justice Baker, will be honored by the local bar November 10 at a banquet, to which also will be invited other supreme justices and the Superior judges of the State.

HOLD ANGELENO ON FALSE CHECK CHARGE.

MAN NABBED IN OAKLAND IS SUSPECTED AS MEMBER OF LIBERTY BOND GANG.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, Nov. 2.—W. A. Platt was arrested here today charged with issuing a fictitious check for $10,000, which he deposited at the Central National Bank of Oakland.

The check was drawn in the man's favor on the Citizens' National Bank of Los Angeles. Bank officials told the police he had attempted to purchase Liberty bonds with his credit, but that telegraphic advice from Los Angeles said his account there, in the name of W. A. Platt, contained less than $1000. The police tonight declared their belief that Platt was not only connected with several recent deals in which Liberty bonds were bought with worthless checks, but that he is only one of a ring of such bond buyers operating in Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco and cities from the west to east coast.

BATTLE WITH BANDITS IS FATAL TO FARMER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JONESBORO (Ark.) Nov. 2.—Marion Light, a farmer, was shot and killed, and two other men were wounded, during a pistol fight in a bank at Alicia, Ark., twenty-five miles west of this city, between three bandits and bank officials and employees, this morning.

Light and the two wounded men were struck by stray bullets. The attempted robbery was frustrated when a bank employee opened fire. The bandits escaped in an automobile.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY FEELS COMPETITION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Domestic competition with the textile industry of New England is more severe than that from any foreign country, Ralph E. Loper of Fall River declared today in an address at the opening session of the fall meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

Few new textile mills had been erected in New England in recent years, he said, because legislation and other factors, which resulted in shorter hours of labor and higher wages, made it more profitable to build in other sections.

"No tariff wall can protect us from this competition," he added.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.—[Advertisement.

FEDERAL BANKS CUT REDISCOUNT RATES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Reductions of 1 per cent in rediscount rates of Federal Reserve Banks at Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis and of ½ of 1 per cent at reserve banks at New York, Philadelphia, Richmond and San Francisco were announced today by the Federal Reserve Board.

Rediscount rates of the banks of Boston, Cleveland, Minneapolis and Dallas have not been changed as the directors of those banks have not as yet held a meeting on the subject.

New rates at the eight banks making reductions are as follows:

Four and one-half per cent, New York and Philadelphia; 5 per cent, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and San Francisco, and 5½ per cent, Richmond and Atlanta.

The rates in force at the other banks which have not been changed as yet are:

Five per cent, Boston; 5½ per cent, Cleveland, and 6 per cent, Minneapolis, and Dallas.

Conditions of the reserves of the banks and the general situation in the money market were said to be responsible for the reductions.

Banks whose rates were lowered to 4½ per cent were said to have reserves of 80 per cent and those whose rates were cut to 5 per cent have reserves of from 80 to 75 per cent; banks with a rate of 5½ per cent, it was said, still have to readjust with one another in order to maintain the lawful reserve of 40 per cent.

PERMAENNT TARIFF HEARING ON TODAY.

FINANCE COMMITTEE TO AGAIN TAKE UP BILL ONCE LAID ASIDE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Senate Finance Committee reopens public hearings tomorrow on the permanent tariff bill which was laid aside in September for the revenue bill. Chairman Penrose announced tonight that the first schedule to be taken up would be that of agricultural products and that at least the first day's session would be devoted to rates on wool and woolen products.

Suggestions for rates on farm products decided on by the agricultural group will be presented to the committee by Senators McNary, Capper, Johnson and Gooding.

There were indications that some differences might arise in the committee with respect to the emergency tariff extension.

PRO-CATHEDRAL SALE IS MADE.

Final Papers in Transfer of Site Are Signed.

Seven-Million-Dollar Hotel to Rise on Property.

St. Paul's Congregation to Keep Meeting Privilege.

The papers, whereby the site of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral on Olive street, opposite Pershiping Square, was sold to a local syndicate represented by Lee Phillips for $460,-000 in cash, were signed on Wednesday night by the vestry of that parish and Mr. Phillips, it became known yesterday.

Mr. Phillips acted as agent for the men who are to direct the drive for funds with which to erect a $7,000,-000 hotel, to be known at the Biltmore, on the southwest corner of Fifth and Olive streets.

The attaching of the signatures consummated a transaction which has been pending for more than six months, and which is expected to pave the way for the immediate carrying through of the plan for a gigantic downtown hostelry under the Newman management, which operates the Biltmore and a chain of other famous hotels in New York and the East.

For a number of months the syndicate held an option to the property of the church by the terms of which certain lots on Figueroa street and a stipulated amount in cash were to have been the consideration for the Olive-street property. However, it later developed that it would be impossible to secure the Figueroa-street site for the church, which intended to build soon, at the price at which it had been listed in the negotiations with the vestry. The result was that the property on Olive street was purchased outright in cash, the church being left to find a location which would seem suitable to its officers. Provision is also made in the transaction whereby the congregation of the parish will be provided with a meeting place over a period of at least eighteen months, or until a church building is completed for its use.

The site upon which the new St. Paul's, which will be one of the foremost church structures in the West, will be erected, has not as yet been definitely determined, although it is understood that it will be in the downtown district.

MASS FORCES TO ATTACK BURCH INSANITY PLEA.

State to Spring Nevada Sheriff as Witness; Erbstein Asks Freedom for Mrs. Obenchain.

While Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, through her attorneys, was asking for the dismissal of the indictment charging her with murdering J. Belton Kennedy, her avowed sweetheart, Dist.-Atty. Woolwine yesterday was awaiting the arrival of Sheriff Sam Gray of Las Vegas, Nev., as a highly important witness in the prosecution's opposition to the defense contention of insanity for Arthur C. Burch, who is said to have killed Mr. Kennedy to please Mrs. Obenchain.

Sheriff Gray was the first of the prosecution's witnesses to hold extended conversation with Burch after the latter's arrest in Las Vegas. That he has been requested to come to Los Angeles at once was learned last night from an authoritative source. His testimony is expected to be important not only for the insanity case, but also for the murder trial in corroborating Deputy Sheriff Nolan should Burch be found sane.

That the prosecution is planning to open a broadside of affidavits against the insanity contention next Monday in Judge Reeve's court is assured. Not less than seven counter-affidavits have been prepared. The defense attorneys yesterday also were busy and Richard Kittrella, associated with Paul W. Schenck and John J. Sullivan, spent almost half an hour in conference with Burch at the County Jail during the evening.

Mrs. Obenchain made a strong plea yesterday for freedom when Attorney Charles E. Erbstein of her defense counsel moved for the dismissal of her indictment on the grounds that sixty days have elapsed and that she has not been brought to trial according to law. Mr. Erbstein also scored when Judge Reeve admitted him to practice in the Obenchain case over the protest of Dist.-Atty Woolwine.

STATUS OF CASES.

Following the rapid moves of the defense in Judge Reeve's court the Obenchain-Burch murder cases stood as follows:

(1.) Arguments on the dismissal of the Obenchain indictment will be heard before Judge Reeve tomorrow at 2 p.m.

(2.) Mr. Erbstein, admitted to practice by Judge Reeve, announced that if the indictment is not dismissed he will immediately ask for her freedom on bail and demand that she be permitted to take the stand and tell her whole story without delay.

(3.) Arthur C. Burch, jointly charged with Mrs. Obenchain, will go on trial Monday to test his sanity. His attorneys announced they will not oppose any attempt by the prosecution to place him on the stand at that time, but instead, will court the fullest investigation of Burch's mental state.

ERBSTEIN'S MANEUVER.

The legal maneuver sprung yesterday by Mr. Erbstein deals with the statutes providing a defendant must be brought to trial within sixty days unless a continuance or later date is agreed to by the defendant. It is his contention that the sixty-day period has elapsed in the case of Mrs. Obenchain. Judge Reeve interrupted him to voice the opinion that he considered that Mrs. Obenchain had agreed to continuances in her case.

Little concern was evidenced at the District Attorney's office over the move. It was declared that the motion to dismiss can not succeed. The announced plan of Mr. Erbstein to demand release on bail of his client and to place her on the stand to tell her story as evidence that the presumption of guilt is not great, also failed to arouse any anxiety.

"Should the defense choose to place her on the stand to testify in a hearing for admission to bail," it was stated, "there probably would be no way to stop her unless the court should desire to have the case presented in affidavit form."

ERBSTEIN ADMITTED.

Deputies Keys and Van Cott yesterday represented the District Attorney's office when the matter of the admission of Mr. Erbstein to practice before Judge Reeve came up.

Attorney Warren Williams of Mrs. Obenchain's counsel and Dist.-Atty. Woolwine, leading the prosecution attack, were not present at the hearing. At Mr. Woolwine's office it was declared later in the day that his absence was in no way significant because he rarely attends preliminary actions, even in important cases.

Judge Reeve opened the proceedings by explaining the status of the motion to admit Mr. Erbstein and its opposition in the form of a protest from Dist.-Atty. Woolwine. He then said the matter had been referred to the Los Angeles Bar Association, that a report had been made to him and that he now would admit Mr. Erbstein to practice in Department Eighteen in the Obenchain case.

Mr. Erbstein then presented the following motion to dismiss the indictment against his client:

"Comes now Madalynne Obenchain, one of the defendants above named, and moves the court to dismiss the indictment on file herein and discharge the defendant here upon the ground and for the reason that she the said defendant, has not been brought to trial within sixty days after the filing of the indictment, without there being good or any cause shown for the said delay, and that she has made no application to have her said trial postponed, nor has she consented to a postponement of said trial."

SIXTY DAYS GONE.

Mr. Erbstein then stated he had been informed Mrs. Obenchain pleaded not guilty on last August 29, and her trial was set for November 1, or last Tuesday.

"Then, if Your Honor, please," he continued, "on the 30th day of October, 1921, the sixty days provided for in your Penal Code ran out."

During the course of Mr. Erbstein's argument, the court interrupted him and read from the transcript of previous proceedings on last Tuesday, as follows:

"Page 29, Mr. Obenchain, being a counsel of record representing Mrs. Obenchain, stated as follows: 'Your Honor, in the case of Madalynne Obenchain, she would like to make a statement to the court in that case.

"The court: 'All right.'

"Mrs. Obenchain: 'I would appreciate it, if nothing is done in definitely setting the date for my trial until Mr. Erbstein is here.'"

It was at this point Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keys remarked that the defendant was now in court. Bailiff Reader was dispatched for Mrs. Obenchain. During the wait for her, Mr. Erbstein and Mr. Keyes agreed to continue argument on the motion.

NEW FREEDOM MOVE.

"At this time I would like to give counsel notice, if he will accept it in this manner, that when this matter is disposed of," Mr. Erbstein stated, "if the decision is adverse, that I am going to make another application for admission to bail of Mrs. Obenchain, and offer to place her upon the witness stand and testify in support of the facts that we allege, that the presumption is not great and that the proof is not evident of her guilt. And furthermore, I understand, Your Honor, that she collapsed in jail this morning and I don't know whether it will be possible for her to be brought up here. I will ask Your Honor, now, if I may, to appoint a physician by this court to examine into the physical condition of Mrs. Obenchain."

During the discussion as to when the arguments on the motion to dismiss the indictment should be heard, Mrs. Obenchain, wearing a dark

Telegram Says Marshal and Staff Will Visit City About First of Next Month.

Marshal Foch, who is attending the convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, will visit Los Angeles with his entire staff about December 1, according to a telegram received yesterday by Mayor Cryer. The Mayor at once took steps to provide a program of entertainment for the famous soldier during his visit.

Mayor Cryer weeks ago invited the Marshal to visit Los Angeles, and then the Mayor delegated Walter K. Tuller, Buron R. Fitts, Congressman Lineberger and B. M. Brink, who are attending the Legion convention, to call upon Marshal Foch and renew the invitation.

The Marshal, in accepting the invitation, declared that he has long desired to visit California, which the soldier called "the enchanted land," the telegram from Congressman Lineberger to the Mayor stated.

Passer of Fake Bills Here Gets Term in Prison.

When John Parisi, alias Joe Parsi, was given an eight-year sentence in the Federal penitentiary on McNeil Island by U. S. District Judge Bledsoe at San Diego yesterday, Secret Agent Hazen of the Treasury Department made the comment that the source of the altered $5 Federal Reserve notes, raised to $20, would soon be behind the bars.

It was shown that Parisi had passed thirty of the raised notes in Los Angeles alone, thus accounting for the flood of counterfeits of the $5 note that has been in evidence for months in this city. The proprietors of small hotels and Japanese rooming houses were the victims of Parisi's activity.

Parisi formerly lived in Chicago. He is an Italian from Palermo. He pleaded guilty to three counts of an indictment. The judgment was eight years on the first count and the same on the other two, the sentences to run concurrently.

Agent Hazen is of the opinion that with the disappearance of Parisi, the chase for the maker of the altered notes has ended.

TAKES STEP TO PUT ON NEW POLICE.

Council Orders Ordinance to Provide for Hiring of Hundred Men.

The City Council yesterday took immediate action on Chief Jones's report on the need of an adequate number of policemen, and instructed the City Attorney to prepare the necessary ordinance to provide for the employment of eighty new policemen and of twenty clerks, painters and other men doing nonpatrol work, to take the places of an equal number of officers who are now on other than police duties, and who, the Chief reported, can be transferred to active, outside work without injuring the efficiency of the department. The net result of the Council's action is to increase by 100 the number of patrolmen actually on outside duties.

The Chief, in his report, again called attention to the need of more policemen and asked that reconsideration of the action giving him 100 men be taken, so that the additional 400 men needed to meet the original request for 500 men might be added to the department. Councilman Mushet, chairman of the Finance Committee, is expected to lead the fight for more policemen and if he receives the support of five Councilmen, it is expected that a second addition of at least 200 and possibly 300 officers may be ordered by the City Council.

The Chief's request for more men was referred to the Finance Committee, and when it makes its report, the battle for more police will be renewed before the Council by Chief Jones and the Police Commissioners.

Another Man is Drowned in Wine Vat.

The second death from drowning in a wine vat reported to the police in the past two days, occured late yesterday. John Pastore, aged 35, an Italian, was found dead, face downward, in the grape mash at the bottom of his wine vat, at 511 Casa Nova street. Police believe that Mr. Pastore in draining the vat had become overcome by the fumes from the mash.

Mr. Pastore was found by a neighbor's boy, Sevonvino Tazialiassolty, of 526 Casa Nova street, who went to Mr. Pastore's home on an errand. Deputy Coroner MacDonald was notified by the Lincoln Heights police and the body of Mr. Pastore was ordered sent to the John R. Paul undertaking establishment.

RICH MAN WARNS SON; KILLS SELF.

Pens Note Telling of His Plan and Then Fires Shot into Brain.

"By the time you get here I will be dead. My body will be in the back yard." This message, received by a son of Adolph Prior, wealthy retired brass foundry man of Kansas City, and communicated to the police of Santa Monica last night, caused officers to go to the Prior home, 308 Palisades avenue, just after Mr. Pryor had fired a bullet into his brain. He was found lying in the gardens of the Prior estate.

Mr. Prior was hurried to the Martin Sanatorium, where he died last night.

The message was sent to the son, Ray A. Prior, who lives at 1244 Fourth street, Santa Monica, and was immediately transmitted to Capt. C. E. Webb, of the Santa Monica police department, who with Sergt. Carrillo hurried to the Prior home, called Dr. W. A. Hodkinson, police surgeon, and made an effort to save the man's life.

No motive for the suicide is known to the son or friends of Mr. Prior. Mrs. Prior has been visiting at the home of a daughter in Kansas City for some time and it is said Mr. Prior has been quite melancholy for several days, but not so depressed as to cause alarm. The son insists that his father had no domestic or financial troubles.

Mr. Prior, who is 50 years of age, is the president of the Prior Brass Works, a nationally known manufacturing enterprise with its plant and main offices in Kansas City. He has resided in Santa Monica for several years and is reputed to be wealthy.

Junior Bryan Escapes Death in Explosion.

William Jennings Bryan, Jr., escaped serious injury and possible death last night when an automobile gasoline tank exploded under a window by which he was sitting on a Pacific Electric car en route to Long Beach.

W. L. Fulton, a drug clerk living at 440 East Seventh street, Long Beach, and Mrs. Maude Camblin, 2235 American avenue, Long Beach, who were occupants of the damaged automobile, were cut and bruised when thrown to the pavement. They were taken to Seaside Hospital for medical attention and afterward returned to their homes.

The accident occurred at Twenty-fourth street and and American avenue when Mr. Fulton is said to have driven his automobile on the railroad tracks in front of a fast approaching car. The automobile was dragged nearly a block and demolished. Just as the car stopped the gasoline tank exploded, causing much excitement but no injury to passengers.

DOG ROUTS BANDIT; SAVES OWNER'S CASH.

Routing a bandit armed with a large revolver, a bulldog owned by F. J. Jones of 5912 Barton avenue early yesterday morning saved its owner almost $100 and some jewelry. The animal, according to Mr. Jones's report to the police yesterday, first saw the bandit when Mr. Jones stepped from a milk wagon he was driving at Sunset Boulevard and McCadden street. As soon as the highwayman approached Mr. Jones the dog seized him by the leg and hung on until the thief fled,

RATES ARE CUT BY THREE ROADS.

Freight Tariff Slashed by Transcontinental Lines.

Many Reductions Voluntary on Part of Railways.

Others Represent Actions on Shippers' Applications.

Reductions in transcontinental freight rates, both east and westbound, for a miscellany of articles, both manufactured and for manufacture, and foodstuffs were announced yesterday by the Southern Pacific, the Union Pacific and the Santa Fe Railroads' agents in Los Angeles. The reductions average 20 per cent, some being as great as 50 per cent.

"The reductions indicate the policy of the railroads to reduce freight rates as well as wages where the reductions can be made in the public interest," J. T. Saunders, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, said. He added that the reductions are the most important since the general increase was granted the carriers in August, 1920.

The new rates to and from points West of Chicago and the Mississippi River will be effective as soon as the tariffs can be published, and to and from points east of the Mississippi River and Chicago as soon as the eastern railroads concur in them. In the case of reductions designed to meet competition by steamships through the Panama Canal the rates will be effective as soon as they are approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Some of the reductions are voluntary on the part of the railroads. It was explained, while others represent action taken on applications of shippers that have been pending in the Transcontinental Freight Bureau.

Some of the important reductions for westbound articles apply to dry goods, iron, steel, tin plate, glucose products, machinery, refrigerators, pitch, turpentine, hardwood lumber, resin, glass, vehicles, furniture, paint, beverages, cash registers, coal, canned goods, linoleum, drugs and soap.

Among the eastbound reductions are borax, vegetables, hops, kapoc, lumber, coffee, grape syrup, pickled fish, infusorial earth, feldspar, paper, flour, nuts and fruit and vegetable waste.

CHARGES MEAN TRICK.

Suing Wife Says Spouse Turned Out Lights on Her Guests.

Andrew R. M. Gordon would come home when his wife was entertaining company, walk through the gathering without a word and turn out the lights, according to divorce action filed yesterday by Mrs. Audra B. Gordon. According to the complaint, the Gordons were married in 1911 and Mr. Gordon in 1919 started a campaign to annoy his wife. Turning out the lights was, according to the action, a part of the scheme.

SHIP FROM PORT HERE HITS ROCKS

The steam schooner Thomas Crowley, with a crew of fifteen aboard, is on the rocks along the shore between Point Concepcion and Point Arguello. The steamship Humboldt is standing by while aid is sent by the Navy from San Francisco, said word from the north last night. It is believed the schooner is in no immediate danger. The crew is safe.

Reports of the beaching of the craft were received late yesterday by Pacific Fleet ships at Los Angeles Harbor. Local Navy officials at once ordered the tug Brandt and the Eagle boat No. 11 to proceed to the Crowley's aid, but such orders were canceled when it was learned that succor would arrive more quickly from San Francisco.

Amateur wireless operators at Santa Barbara said they had caught radio messages indicating the Italian cruiser on route from Santa Barbara to Monterey was among ships standing by the Crowley.

Ranchers near Point Concepcion said the vessel went in too near the point during a heavy fog and struck upon a reef.

At 2 p.m. yesterday, they said, one vessel was standing by.

The Thomas Crowley left Los Angeles Harbor Tuesday, in ballast, for San Francisco, her home port. She is of 1000 tons registry and is owned by Thomas Crowley. She is in the lumber trade between Vancouver and Los Angeles Harbor.

The Thomas Crowley figured in a liquor hunt just before her departure from this port. It was reported she had 500 cases of liquor aboard. But a search by revenue inspectors disclosed only a few bottles.

The place where the boat is beached is among the most dangerous along the Pacific Coast between here and San Francisco.

Delorey Made Public Works Board Member.

Edward J. Delorey, former Supervisor and former member of the City Council, was appointed by Mayor Cryer yesterday as a member of the Board of Public Works, at a salary of $300 a month, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of P. P. O'Brien, who gave up the place to become postmaster. Mr. Delorey's term will expire in January.

Immediately after the Mayor's message, announcing the appointment, was read, Councilman Mushet moved that it be confirmed immediately, and this was done unanimously, eight Councilmen being present. President Criswell was absent when the vote was taken.

The Board of Public Works as now constituted consists of Charles H. Treat, president, and Hugh McGuire and Edward J. Delorey, commissioners.

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

The Sporting Attitude.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

An old man, looking back across the long stretch of more than eighty years, said to me:

"I have eaten what was set before me, and asked no questions."

Could any philosophy be broader or more comprehensive than that? Could any attitude toward life be braver than that? Isn't it the very quintessence of the sporting spirit to take fate as it comes without whining when things go badly, without boasting when things go well?

All of us would like to be born with the traditional gold spoon in our mouths, and to have life to be a perpetual banquet at which every dish was a masterpiece of the culinary art, prepared by a chef.

Unfortunately, the dish that fate sets before most of us in youth is poverty, garnished by self-denial and flavored with hard work, and whether we get joy and strength and health out of the eating of that, or whether it sours upon our stomachs and gives us the bilious dyspepsia that we call socialism and anarchy, depends altogether on the spirit which we bring to the meal. We can make it either a feast or a famine.

We can rail at the destiny that cast our lines in hard places. We can rage because others have automobiles, while we have to walk. We can be filled with envy of those who are better off. We can turn the whole life into wormwood and gall that so embitters the very breath we draw that we are ready to curse God and die.

Or we can eat what is set before us and ask no questions. We can accept our portion of poverty, and find in it much of sweetness and goodness, much that nourishes soul and body. Or, if we crave finer fare, we can still eat with gratitude the humble food that gives us the huskiness and, the spiritual vitamines that enables us to climb the ladder of success. For there is no education like the education that poverty gives. There is no spur to ambition like the desire for better things than one was born to. It is the men like Andrew Carnegie, and Rockefeller, and Schwab, and a hundred others you might name, who ate oatmeal and mush and milk in their boyhoods, who feasted on turtle soup and vintage wines in their middle age.

How much of scandal and divorce, and domestic misery might be prevented, how many children might be saved from being half-orphaned, and how many homes might be kept together, if only husbands and wives would make up their minds to eat what was set before them at the domestic table, and ask no questions!

Of course every young couple that gets married believes that for the next forty or fifty years they will live on angel's food. The husband thinks that marriage is going to be nothing but a love idyll with a woman who is going to remain perpetually young and beautiful, and eager to please him, and full of joy and gayety.

The wife thinks that marriage will be one glad sweet song with a romantic lover, who is always telling her how beautiful and wonderful she is, and who brings her violets, and feeds her on candy, and spends his time trying to amuse and please her.

The man finds out that even the most lovey-dovey sweetheart is converted by marriage into a prickly creature, all feelings, and nerves and temper. He also ascertains that matrimony is an expensive luxury that takes all and a little more than a man can earn.

The woman finds out that marriage changes her husband from a handsome matinee hero into an unappetizing stranger, who is often unshaven and unshorn, and whose principal indoor sport is knocking her. She also finds that marriage has brought her sickness, and suffering, and sacrifices of which she has never dreamed.

So the man is disillusioned with the woman and the woman is disgruntled with the man, and they try to find consolations for their disappointment on shady pathways, and the result is disaster for everybody concerned.

How much better if they would eat what was set before them, and ask no questions. If they would make the best of each other, and the situation, and try to forget that they ever had a sweet tooth, or thought that marriage would be all pie.

All of us make mistakes as we go through the world. We are blind and stupid, and we blunder into pitfalls. We are foolish and credulous, and easily hoodwinked. We are careless, and inexpert in our work.

Some of us have intelligence enough to acknowledge our mistakes, and profit by them, and to accept the criticism gratefully and learn from it. Others never acknowledge their errors. They always blame others for their failures, and spend their time bewailing the victims they havetbeen to circumstance.

It takes courage and wisdom, and breadth of view, to eat crow and ask no questions, but the men and women who can do it shall one day sit in the seats of the mighty.

Hardest of all and truest test of character, is it to eat what is set before you and ask no questions when fate spreads the banquet table. Then it is that some become pompous and chesty, and swell-headed; that they forget the friends of other days who gave them hand-outs when they lacked the price of a meal; it is then that they become arrogant, and boastful of their achievements, and when they tell a weary world all about their limousines, and palaces and French chefs, and what sort of sauce they always have on their nightingale tongues.

But others eat their feast of success in silence and humble gratitude for what they have been permitted to do, with the same calm acceptance of good fortune that they give to the bad.

Happy those brave souls who at the end of life can say, "I have neither whined nor boasted. I have eaten what was set before me and have asked no questions."

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Gallons of Garbage.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If you are a housekeeper and contemplate becoming a resident of this city, I beg of you do not expect to leap into a garbageless city life unless you own a pig and chickens. I hear you say, "Where is the garbage collector?" That is something we old-timers, who have lived and payed taxes here for forty years, would like to know, also.

For a month or more we have had to beg and implore the garbage collector to pick up the garbage in our block, but our patience has gradually diminished as our garbage cans have increased in number. It has been a week since the wagon was around, and we will soon have to follow the example of our neighbor's dog, and bury our bones in the back yard.

The garbage question has never troubled us until the last year, as we have always had a few hens to dispose of the table scraps, but rats became such a menace we had to dispose of our luxuries and lead the life of the rest of the city dwellers.

We have called up every office in town, beginning with the police, and on through the list, including the Health Office, the Board of Public Works, and finally the Council headquarters. Each one is very sorry, but he, personally, cannot do anything—just call up so and so, and he adds another number to our list of useless red tape. The garbage collector has not enough wagons; the Board of Public Works has no money to hire more wagons; the Council has no authority to get the money to hire the wagons to collect the garbage that has accumulated at the house that Jack built. We can all go off and die of pestilence and plague for all they care—the quicker the better, then they will perhaps have some peace.

Our education in "The Etiquette of the Garbage Wagon" has evidently been neglected, and we have failed to please the colored gentleman who condescends to appear on the scene semimonthly. He informed us one morning as we were putting out our can, that we had better be pretty nice to him or he would not come around here, he had so much to do. Now we are not snobbish, nor are we sticklers for class or race distinction, but we will not rush out and smile on the dark man who torments our lives.

Instead we are seriously thinking of carrying our twenty gallons of accumulated garbage up to the Council chambers so the city fathers may have a whiff of the ant-infested perfume that assails our noses for a week at a time in our front yards.

MABEL CHALFIN.

Picking a Duck.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] When my friend on the rancho sent me a fine plump duck last week, tears welled in my eyes to think of her generosity. Several times nice cuts of pork loin, then pounds of fancy raisins, and now here was my Thanksgiving dinner! Upon receipt of my acknowledgment, she replied, facetiously I thought at the time, that I'd better finish him now, as it might take me till Thanksgiving to pick it, but I discovered there was more truth than poetry in the words.

During the hours spent on this bird, I covered every inch of his anatomy, from east to west and north to south, and then back again many times, and no chiropractor ever studied the vertebrae more closely than I. Of one thing I am certain, there never was a cleaner duck ever lived or expired than this one, for to aid me in my labors, I prepared several kettles of boiling water. For the first time in my life, I began to doubt my eyesight, for pin feathers seemed to shoot up in the very spot where I had picked them out a second before, and I finally came to the conclusion that the hot water was making them grow out as fast as I could pick them. To hinder me, and show my lack of foresight, for I surely knew I'd have the job to do I had manicured my nails as closely as possible. I thought once of cutting the bird in pieces, and giving the children each a piece and offering a prize for the one who picked it clean first, but the children were all at school. I had a wonderful idea of using a vacuum cleaner on the bird—inasmuch as vacuums will pull dirt, pins and every conceivable object through thick carpet. I felt sure that would be the real thing to use, but that idea died at birth as I possessed no vacuum.

I finally decided to devote my energies to the torso. If it came to a pinch, I could cut off the wings, and do those at my leisure, so after many weary hours of sitting and standing alternately, I seemed to get a resemblance of a fairly well-dressed or undressed duck.

Resolutions I made during my hours of labor were that I'd lived thirty years without the pleasure of dressing a duck, and I could live thirty more very nicely without doing it.

To let it be known I prefer a piece of pork, veal or mutton, any day to the tenderest young duck.

That no matter how high the price goes, I'll consider them cheap at that.

Say, but it was good though.

ANNA R. REDPATH.

WILL THEY EVER LEARN?

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] When will the city of Los Angeles learn to improve a street in the way in which it should be done. After about ten years of looking over a street they decide it needs paving. They immediately set to work digging. This lasts for at least six months. In a year's time they have completed the work. The very next day after the finishing of the street one of the officials thinks it would be a good idea to start laying the sewers.

This work is then started. The street is again torn up, making it look like a wilderness road or worse. This would not be so bad if the taxpayers did not have to pay for it.

Every time some one on the street wants the sewer put in, the street is again torn open, in the end it amount to quite a bit of money out of the people's pockets.

Why not lay the sewer pipes before the road it put down. Then when a new house was being built and it is time to put the sewer in it would be unnecessary to dig outside of the lot at all, as all the pipes would be within and behind the sidewalks.

FRANK CORNELSON.

Why Not Wisconsin?

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Juht a word or two in reply to the Princeton man, Mr. Sampson, and to the Iowan, Mr. Harrison, in regard to the eastern football team likely to be represented here this New Year's Day.

My opinion of the fact is, that Princeton has already been eliminated as a contender, by virtue of its defeat at the hands of the "fresh-water" Chicago eleven. However, do fans here realize that the Wisconsin team so far this year has not mat defeat and has not been scored upon? In two weeks they line up against Chicago and Michigan, and if they are victorious in both these battles, as they will be, I should see no reason why the Badgers should not represent the Big Ten here this winter. Their 35-0 victory over Minnesota yesterday proved that as championship contenders they are not to be scoffed at. In the event that a Big Ten team is not chosen, I see no reason why efforts should be made to have Centre College show here, as I am postive that the "praying colonels" would be a much better drawing card than any of the "big three," which has not quite been "big" enough to defeat the smaller boys this year.

F. W. GUIBER.

Mr. Neverwrong.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Why is it that so many of the residents of our fair city are such a crabby lot? Especially about the traffic. Most of them own machines of their own, but to hear them talk one gets the impression that they are the only ones who know how to drive a car. They talk about the dumbbells that nearly run into them and about the other one who forgot to hold out his hand when he wants around the corner, nearly causing them to run into him. According to most motorists, they never speed, drive recklessly, pass a standing street car, forget to hold out their arm while turning, or do anything else wrong. I wonder if they ever stop to think that all motorists are about the same when it comes to the opinion of themselves. Who ever heard of anyone admitting an accident occurred through their negligence? Not many, if any at all. When people start to realize that they are not so good as they think they are, we will then start to reduce our accidents.

JOHN KELLER.

A Tribute.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The philosopher of Eagle Rock Valley has gone home bearing his meed of ripened years—well earned and honorable. I remember him with gratitude for the good he did—me. Surely scores of other can say it. He will be sincerely mourned by every man who enjoyed his acquaintance on this side.

George W. Burton was another of those master craftsmen who left his sturdy imprint upon two generations of Californians. So frequently as it almost form the rule, the light of the anonymous philosopher was hidden from view, only to be seen between the lines by those who knew him well. He was prophet as well as philosopher. Fifteen years ago, when Seventh street was well outside the business zone, and the retailers had just begun to gravitate toward Broadway from Third and Spring, he made this prediction:

"Twenty years from now Figueroa street will be the principal retail thoroughfare of Los Angeles."

Why Should You Follow A Crooked Path?

Often a cowpath has been allowed to become a village street, and as the village expanded, tradition has made the winding way an expression of a cow's will.

Habit is always forging chains to enslave us, so that what has been found bearable by the fathers is accepted by the sons.

Who cannot recall the coffee-pot Mother put on the stove early in the morning, warning us not to let it boil over?

As children, we were not permitted to drink tea or coffee, because it would stunt our growth or make us nervous and irritable. When older, however, we craved a hot drink with meals, and custom gave us our tea or coffee.

Finally, upon the instructions of the doctor, Mother gave up her tea and coffee. But that meant nothing in our young lives. Our vitality was then strong enough to throw off any ill effects.

But our time came, and we learned by experience that we could not drink tea or coffee. When we had it for breakfast it put our nerves on edge. When we drank it at the evening meal, we tossed about in wakefulness most of the night.

And then we found Postum, a pure cereal beverage, free from the harmful drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee. We liked the rich, satisfying flavor of Postum—and also the better health which resulted. And, too, we were surprised to find how many of our neighbors had made the same discovery—had learned the value of "health first."

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

Postum for Health—"There's a Reason"

ENOZ

WILL NOT STAIN

If you packed away any summer clothes without spraying thoroughly with ENOZ better do so right now. And right now is the time to carefully go over all your upholstered furniture, rugs, carpets and draperies and spray them with ENOZ also.

All summer long the busy moth has been laying egg. Millions of them have probably been laid in your fine fabrics, furs and feathers. These will soon hatch into destructive moth worms. Remember moths work every day of the year.

ENOZ kills moth. And it kills moth eggs and moth worms. It is not a mere repellant which only smells them away. It instantly kills them.

And it won't stain nor injure the finest furs, fabrics or feathers. The biggest clothing, fur, feather, and carpet houses use ENOZ to preserve their own stocks from moths.

ENOZ is imitated. But it is the original, guaranteed moth killer. Be sure you get ENOZ.

A Sale of the Barmon Frocks You Like So Well

—and there's a demonstration of them too. We want every woman who is interested in house frocks that fit as perfectly as tailored suits and that are clever as can be in style, to give us an opportunity to show her the advantages of the Barmon dresses.

—By simply buttoning two buttons the waistline of many of the Barmon Frocks may be extended or contracted to fit irregular proportions.

—Under arm shields assure double wear by giving reinforcement just where the frock is apt to wear first.

—Every BARMON FROCK has an adjustable hem. To lengthen the skirt you need only pull a thread.

—With your BARMON FROCK you get two pieces of the material—"Menders" to use for patching or other repairs.

One Style—$1.98

—A loose-line house dress of plaid gingham, having three-quarter sleeve and prettily trimmed.

Four Styles—$2.98

—Aprons of plaid and solid color gingham and house dresses of checked gingham and percale in popular colors.

Four Styles—$3.98

—They are made of solid, check and plaid gingham and are unusually smart and pleasing. All have three-quarter sleeves.

Extra Sizes—$4.98

—A particularly attractive style in checked material and prettily trimmed. For women who wear 48 to 50.

Second Floor, North—Jacoby's

—An exceptionally interesting assortment that includes Satin Crepe Sable, Silk-and-Wool Crepe and an excellent weight of Crepe de Chine.

56-Inch Tricotine of Unusual Quality—$2.95

—This is a quality of unusual merit and we have it in black, navy and midnight blue.

54-Inch Velours and Chiffon Broadcloth—$2.95

—And these two greatly favored woolens come in practically all the desirable street and pastel tones at this 'way less price.

Second Floor, South—Jacoby's

100 Sets of 6 Madeira Napkins, $4.19

AFTER A WHITE MAN.

The Democrats are shifting their national leadership. They may not control the ship of state, but they have a Hull of their own.

SEEKING COUNSEL.

The Secretary of War has asked Henry Ford to hold conference and converse. Maybe he wants to learn how to start his engine on a frosty morning.

SEEING THINGS.

Marshal Foch says that America has enlarged his vision. He is seeing things on a bigger scale. There is little danger, however, of his seeing things double. That danger is about over.

ON THE DEAD.

Prohibition enforcement officials located and captured three stills in a Massachusetts cemetery. It does seem tough for the government to pass laws forbidding a man from keeping still in a graveyard.

CAN HAPPEN.

A man is complaining in the local divorce court because his wife has been feeding him on dog's biscuit. It hath been ofttimes said that a married man leadeth a dog's life and here is a concrete example.

TO REPORT PROGRESS.

William Jennings Bryan will be one of the reporters at the Disarmament Conference—if reporters are admitted. It was as a reporter in the Democratic National Convention of 1896 that Bryan bagged a nomination and formed the habit of running for the Presidency. Before this thing is over Bryan may have himself named Dictator of Disarmament and will be out with a monkey wrench taking the navies of the world apart.

OVER THE BORDER.

The administration of Quebec reports cleaning up a profit of something over $4,000,000 a year on the liquor it sells. Looks as if there would be no municipal tax in Quebec and the citizens would get a dividend instead of an assessment notice. When an administration has a monopoly in the treatment of thirsts there is no trouble about raising money. Americans are flocking to Quebec in large numbers to have their flasks filled.

DAYS OF FRIVOLITY.

The president of Vassar says that the college girls of today are not satisfied to perpetuate frivolity. They are becoming weary of a world of jazz. They want to do something more than dance and pay the fiddler. We are glad to hear these cheering words and hope they will be borne out. Up to press time, however, the college girls were still jazzing with the rest of the folks. It takes more than a college training to extinguish frivolity. Nor is the world sure that it wishes to have it mopped out.

HEROIC MEASURES.

A Methodist publication asserts that the only good bootleggers are the dead ones and suggests that, instead of being put behind six inches of stone and steel, they should be planted under six feet of earth. It does look as if that would be the only system. Give the bootleggers their choice between the firing squad, the gallows tree and the death chair—but not much else. But the bootlegger is not the only one who merits harsh fate. The man who seeks his infamous ministrations; the man who craves his poisonous wares, must also be wiped out. Those also who would prolong our national debauchery by encouraging the use of beer as medicine should likewise be shot at sunrise that the orb of day might ride its course over an unspoiled and unsoiled land. Severe measures are sometimes best and, in fact, seem to be the only effective ones. Death to every one who passes the cup or takes damnation therefrom! The depraved thirst of the nation must be penalized to the limit. Let him who putteth forth the glass be himself given to the executioner. Let him also who partaketh thereof be hanged at the yardarm.

SCHOOLS AND THE DANCE.

The California District Court of Appeals has ruled that a pupil in the public schools does not have to learn dancing if the parents object. In a school in the northern part of the State certain folk dances became a part of the program of instruction authorized by the local board. Two children from the family of a patron would not participate in the dancing because of the objection of the parents to anything that suggested shaking the hoof. The youngsters were finally expelled under the authority of the school board. The parents took the matter into court. The trial judge held that the Board of Education had the right to introduce dancing as a part of the school curriculum and that pupils might be expelled for failure or refusal to comply with the course of study. It is this decision which is reversed by the Court of Appeals. The case was presented as a question of religion and conscience and the court rules that the schools may not require anything that trespasses upon the conscience or theology of a pupil or parent. The Board of Education may insert the shimmy and the toddle in the students' bill of fare, but there is no way of compelling the pupil to indulge—that is, if it is a matter of religious scruple. A horse may be led to water, but cannot be made to drink. Liberty of conscience must be preserved at all hazards.

LLOYD GEORGE'S TRIUMPH.

One could almost suspect Lloyd George of staging that Unionist motion of censure himself, the result was such an overwhelming political triumph for the amazing Welshman. He wanted a vote of confidence in the Irish negotiations and he got it—439 to 43. Which means that the House of Commons is staunchly behind him, not alone on the critical Irish question, but personally, individually.

The forty-three irreconcilable Unionists who suffered such a pronounced snub are the dwindling residue of that once mighty party which formed itself in Gladstone's day to defeat any measure of home rule for Ireland, fiercely upholding the cause of Ulster, which at that time declared it would never, never leave the United Kingdom or accept any form of government that was not wielded directly from Westminster. It is therefore rather ironical that Ulster itself has the first separate Parliament today, under almost identical conditions claimed for all Ireland by John Redmond twenty-five years ago and which "Ulster would fight, and Ulster would be right."

And it is the same Ulster which is now clinging so passionately to its separate Parliament, hazarding a successful outcome of the Irish negotiations for making Ireland a united, self-governing dominion on the same lines as Australia, Canada and the Union of South Africa.

Although the conference debates have been kept secret, it seems fairly obvious that the Sinn Fein contingent is prepared to accept the dominion idea, always providing it includes Ulster, and that Ulster, as ever, remains the stumbling block to settlement.

In this connection it is interesting to recall that Gen. Smuts, who, before his departure for South Africa, played an important role in the peace negotiations, foresaw this impasse and, while deploring the adamant attitude of Sir James Craig and the Ulsterites, addressed an eloquent plea to De Valera to "leave Ulster alone."

He based his advice upon the fact that "Ulster will not be moved from the constitutional position which she occupies under existing legislation. She is satisfied with her present status and will on no account agree to any change."

Hence he pointed out to the Sinn Fein party that if they insisted upon Ireland coming into a united Ireland constitution no further progress could be made. "There equally immovable. Both you and Craig are equally immovable. Force as a solution is out of the question, both on your and his premises. . . . My strong advice to you is to leave Ulster alone for the present, as the only line along which a solution is practicable is to concentrate on a free constitution for the remaining twenty-six counties, and, through a successful running of the Irish state and the pull of economic and other peaceful forces, to bring Ulster into that state."

This advice, however, is just exactly what the Sinn Fein will not accept, hence the impasse which resulted in the motion of censure against Lloyd George, which proved that public feeling and an overwhelming majority in the House of Commons are not only behind Lloyd George, but unsympathetic with Ulster's stubborn stand.

As usual, the trouble is the mutual distrust of the north and south of Ireland, which somehow, some way Lloyd George must overcome. Nothing could have been more opportune for the Prime Minister, therefore, than this motion of censure so overwhelmingly defeated, which is likely to act as a strong lever upon Ulster. It does not seem possible that either side would be willing to throw the country into war or to take the responsibility of more bloodshed. Hence whatever settlement is made, whichever side makes the necessary concession, the eclat will reflect back to Lloyd George.

In the meantime Ulster has relented so far as to declare that she will be "ready to co-operate with Southern Ireland on equal terms for the welfare of the country," which, while ambiguous, may be construed as at least a desire for a peaceful solution. And it is safe to say that imperial opinion and sympathy, once so stern against Sinn Fein and for Ulster, is now tending in the other direction, since, as Gen. Smuts declared, "What is good enough for these nations (i.e. the other British dominions) ought surely to be good enough for Ireland, too. For Irishmen to say that they will not be satisfied with the status of the other great British dominions will be to alienate all that sympathy which has so far been the main support of the Irish cause."

And this, which once applied solely to the Sinn Fein party, must now apply also to Ulster if she remains stubborn in this latest effort at settlement. In fact, the responsibility for antagonism has been artfully shifted from Sinn Fein to Ulster, as the defeat of that motion of censure clearly emphasized. With this weapon to work with there seems every possibility that Lloyd George, with his supercozening, may effectually bring Ulster into the fold. In any case his plausible explanation of the delay in permitting the separate Ulster Parliament to commence operations would indicate that his own hopes tend that way.

It was quite obvious that, with the multitudinous crises that Britain has passed through during the last decade, she needed just such a man as this brilliant little Welshman who, of all the statesmen of his time, remains triumphant. Lesser men, and even more idealistic men, have fallen by the wayside, and he alone, having gone through debacle after debacle, reaps a complete triumph and receives what almost amounts to a mandate of benevolent despotism. But he is a cheery, subtle, diplomatic despot who leads rather than drives, wins rather than coerces. And if he cannot settle the age-old Irish controversy Britain will despair of ever settling it at all.

RUSSIA AND THE FUTURE.

Kipling says that a Russian is an altogether charming person until he tucks in his shirt. In other words, as the most eastern of western peoples, Russia is one thing; as the most western of eastern peoples, Russia is something entirely different.

One of the present perils of the world is that Russia may take it into her head to pick up her heritage and become oriental.

The Nippu Jiji of Honolulu has published a cable from Tokio saying that the soviet government of Russia has called an international gathering of the Far Eastern republics, kingdoms and independencies in what is regarded as opposition to the Washington Armament Conference.

Whether or not this ever comes to anything, the present uncertain position of Russia is a difficult diplomatic problem.

It is as though a pot were boiling and the great powers were unable to find out the nature of the dish to which they are to be invited. All they can see is that the lid is steaming and raising and puffing and something that looks dangerous is going on.

Should Russia take it into her head to go on with the oriental policies of the Czar and start rushing back to Siberia and to the Pacific it would be embarrassing for a lot of nations, especially the United States.

It was Russia's activity in the Pacific that kept alive the Anglo-Japanese treaty which has been a thorn in our flesh. It was to the interest of England to keep Russia busy on the coast of the Pacific and to support Japan to that end. Thus she gained a breathing space in Europe, where she dreaded Russia's uneasy squirming down toward the Mediterranean—and Constantinople.

If Russia does not come back to life as one of the powers of the Pacific she is very likely to turn toward Europe again and push on against the nations of Western Europe, which would present an entirely different problem for England.

The ideal situation for England was the Bismarck policy—"Drang Nach Osten"—Germany resolutely pressing back against Russia and keeping the Czar too busy in the cold regions of the Baltic to bother either about the shores of the Pacific Ocean or about Constantinople or about India.

The truth is the world cannot be easy in its sleep until Russia comes to roost somewhere.

Within the next few years Russia is certain to become one of the most powerful and dominant nations in the world. She has the population, the untouched resources and the strategic position.

There is nothing to be done, permanently, toward peace until we find out what kind of a boy Russia intends to be when he grows up.

OUR MODERN YOUTH.

This vogue for hurling indictments at the rising generation ought to be discouraged. It is a cheap and nasty way of getting notoriety and, we firmly believe, most unwarranted. It is so easy to rush into wholesale condemnation, and a complaint which the older generations have ever suffered from. Our grandparents had the poorest possible opinion of the young people of their day—ourselves—and were assured we were heading for eternal damnation. In those days any signs of independence in us was shocking. If a girl walked down street without an escort it was regarded as outrageous. If, in many circles, she went out to earn her own living it was regarded as rather shameful. The old-fashioned mazurka and the barn dance were most improper dances—indeed, in Byron's day the waltz was viewed with horror and alarm.

It has always been the same in every generation, but somehow we have grown up fairly successfully, established homes and business, raised healthy, happy children, progressed nationally, civicly, commercially, culturally, intellectually and, upon arriving at middle age, felt comfortably assured that we had not disgraced our forebears. Yet they once felt about us just exactly as the critics and calamity-howlers feel about the youth of today.

As a matter of fact, the girls and boys of today are fundamentally sound and the great majority of the young men and women in our universities give promise of excellent citizenship. They have a fine independence of spirit, a development of character, a physical and mental efficiency that is way ahead of ourselves at the same age. They develop earlier and so seem to us too precocious, yet this precocity is undoubtedly the result of improved methods of education, of better training, of wider interests, of those progressive methods we have been at such pains to institute and to which they have responded beyond our expectation.

Of course, there is the element that goes in for excesses, but there always has been in every generation. The only difference is that they have wider opportunities for expressing these excesses nowadays and we hear more about them. But, for all that, the great heart of our youth is sound and true. They may have shed some of our mouldy old idea of etiquette; they are certainly freer in their conversation and manners; they are unquestionably more independent and therefore, perhaps, a shade less respectful; but, at that, they have lost chiefly hypocrisy and gained mainly in greater frankness and personal decision. But this frankness is not necessarily vulgar, these personal decisions not necessarily unworthy.

We can no longer get away with the "infallibility" of parental judgment. We can no longer insist that such and so must be done just because we say so. Because these, our children, have alert, keen, young minds and they see through our weaknesses. We can win them with reason and guide them with love, but we can't prevail with the old sumptuary laws that the elders once considered irrefutable for the young. Of course, we elders find it difficult to readjust ourselves to this new condition—but that does not make our boys and girls all wrong, it only makes them different, and possibly, who knows, even better than ourselves.

These boys and girls of ours are not quite as susceptible to the old kind of discipline as we could wish—for our vanity's sake—but they are very susceptible to a new kind of personal discipline of their own. To know and associate with our modern young people is to respect and love them. And to understand all is to forgive all. Precious few of them but are earnest, ambitious and as truly imbued with the best ideals of their country as we ourselves ever were.

THE NATION'S GREATEST HERO.

Sergt. Samuel Woodfill has been proclaimed the nation's hero of heroes by Gen. Pershing for the honor of bearer of the unknown dead to be buried at Arlington National Cemetery on Armistice Day.

His record of valor is staggering, comprising as it does the single-handed attack on a series of German machine-gun nests, the killing of nineteen Germans and the capture of 132 others.

Yet, even as we wonder and acclaim, we shudder for the ghastly condition that necessitated this sort of heroism. This young man rose to the dread needs with amazing courage, gallantry, valor, yet how hideous the occasion that could demand such patriotic brutality from any man, what a sorry reflection on civilization that should demand that honor be won in such a way! It was an amazing, a stupendous feat and deserving of the national recognition it has inspired. Nevertheless, with the hates and flaming vengeance of war abated, we can but shudder that, under the ghastly conditions of war, killing nineteen men should be glorious, should, indeed, have been entirely admirable, a dire and shameful necessity.

It is such things as this which have made the Disarmament Conference an urgent, vital, essential thing. We want such heroes as this spared the horror of such valor, to spend their courage and dauntlessness upon the sweeter, finer needs of peace. How dare we put our young men to such ghastly, incredibly horrible tests of endurance and aggression! How dare we submit any mother's son to such an appalling experience? It is through these very heroisms that the odium of war is brought most graphically home to us, that we realize the unspeakable tragedy of valor applied to such a purpose.

It is our heroes and our dead who are crying out to us to make this Disarmament Conference a real and determined thing, to banish our cynicisms and establish some intellectual and moral substitute for war.

Many of the burdens that "crush the workers" are put on by themselves.

OUR SUNNY FRIEND

The Wooing.

Love wooed Marie with roses,
Yellow and red and white,
And Mae Louise with lutestrings
Upon a summer night.
He brought Laurette soft, silken gowns
And perfumes from Cathay
And wooed Elaine with bitter pain
A twelvemonth and a day.

Marie's love, like her roses,
Withered when autumn blew,
The lutestrings broke, Louise awoke,
Her love all shattered, too.
Laurette found silk a flimsy garb
That perfume scentless grows,
But fair Elaine, the wooed with pain,
Held love forever close
Within her heart till death did part
Perhaps beyond, who knows?

Pyce Kinnamon says his Cousin Cynthia pulled a pretty good one the other night.

She is out spending the winter in California and the month at Pyce's and Pyce's wife gave a dinner party and it was a pretty swell affair and, of course, some of the ladies present wore gowns of a little more modern tendency than are generally seen in Weaubleaue, Mo., which is where Cousin Cynthia came from.

And she happened to be near the door when the bell rang and there wasn't any of the servants handy to answer it and she answered it and it was a young woman at the door and she said she came to cover the party for the newspaper and Cousin Cynthia said, "Come right on in and get busy, the most of 'em need covering bad enough."

Billie Lale says he started to walk to the postoffice yesterday and when he got as far as Lee Gammon's store Chet Hedge was sitting on a dry goods box there and Billie said, come on, Chet, and walk down to the postoffice with me, the walk will do you good, and Chet said, I don't know, I haven't lost anything at the postoffice, and Billie said, come on, don't be so lazy, and finally he did.

Well, just before they got to Lin Bascom's, Chet said, I'd like to cross over here, and they did, and just before they got to the Dead Shot meat market he said, I'd like to cross back here, and they did that, he didn't stop anywhere or buy anything, but just kept on dodging back and forth the same way all the way to the postoffice.

Well, when they got there Billie said, Chet, I'll buy you a cigar if you'll tell me why you crossed the street six times coming three blocks, and Chet said, I'll go you, I did it to dodge stores where I owe money.

Professor Dink Beeson says heredity has a way of cropping out in a family sometimes after hundreds of years have passed and so history tells us of a Hapsburg who lived three or four centuries ago who used to take a melancholy interest in digging up corpses in the graveyards of old Madrid to see in what condition of decay they might be, and now, in 1921, we find his descendant just simply can't stay away from the place where the Hungarian monarchy was buried by the World War, but must go back every once in a while and dig it up and see if it really is dead.

The Wisdom of Haroun al Raschid.

When the good caliph returned from a hunting trip and found that one of the younger favorites of his court had been tried by a jury during his absence and sentenced to death and duly executed he was pretty wrathy.

It was the first slip of the young man and, while it was a pretty severe slip and punishable by death, the caliph thought they might have considered the youth of the defendant and given him a chance to make good.

He called the foreman of the jury to the throneroom and questioned him about the affair.

"To tell the truth," explained the foreman, "I was in favor of giving the youth another chance, and so were nine other members of the jury."

"Like all juries, though, we got tired of wrangling and sleepy and anxious to get back to our fig and pomegranate crops and rug factories and there were two members who held out for the full measure of the law and the rest of us yielded in the end."

"Woe be to those persistent ones when I learn who they were," proclaimed the caliph.

"If you can find out," said the foreman. Of course, his oath would not permit of his telling their names.

Al Raschid secured a list of the names. He studied it closely. The men were all well known to him. After a few minutes he sent for one of the members of the jury, Al Ibn Molar, a model for mosque attendance, a perfect saint of a man, who during his entire life had been as chaste as ice, as pure as snow and as blameless as the suckling lamb of Mount Moawyah.

Then he studied the list again for a few minutes and sent for Ibn Al Mooman, a hoary old sinner who had slipped and slipped all his life long and had ever enjoyed the process of slipping. The rest of the jurymen were just average men, men who had sinned a little and repented a little less, but "these two will be the men," said the Sultan, and tradition says he was right.

THREL FALL.

THE GAME OF MAKE-BELIEVE.

BY JENNIE VAN ALLEN.

Make-believe is life's most ravishing game.

Youth strives to be sophisticated.

Age is an arrant masquerader.

Youth having no past and no vision of the future is a cruel and merciless critic.

Age, remembering its own follies, is lenient in judging the fatuous.

Yet youth, galloping towards age and age speeding to second childhood, meet on the race track without a friendly hail.

Youth flings a brutal word into the ears of those whose lives are at their zenith.

It is the most crucifying word in the language.

It has only three letters, but it stupefies the mind, paralyzes the will and throttles the imagination. Better be slain by the sword than hear this word when we are on the firing line.

And yet this word has tracked us since the day we were born. It has dogged our footsteps and been closer to us than the skin that covers our quivering nerves. We have watched it clutch the minds and bodies of men. But we have affirmed that time will never spike our guns; that our powder flask will never be empty; that we will never be a blank cartridge in a Quaker gun.

In the insolence of youth we expected to forever travel at high pressure. We believed our blood would always flow like quicksilver and that to the end of life we will be a dynamic force and a live circuit in the electrical current of life.

We believed that time could not incapacitate or disqualify us for the task we chose; that our endeavors would forever be fed by the flame of determination; that we would always be in the full possession of our faculties and that our bodily strength and endurance would never fail.

In youth we never expect to be a dead letter in the book of life.

For us the brasier is full of glowing coals; delicious incense is in our nostrils. Life is beautiful, for it is full of activities. The past has its precious memories of childhood, youth and middle age—memories of love, memories of fatherhood and motherhood. Our pattern of life is etched in gayest colors. We know life's splendid possibilities and are equipped for the task.

But all our precious store of knowledge, all we have learned in the school of life becomes a mockery when youth cries derisively:

"The old man!"

"The old woman!"

The blood-red coals are covered with ashes. The pains and penalties of parenthood flit like ghosts across the horizon where the sunset glow is hidden by fast-moving storm clouds. The gorgeous colors have faded and our pattern of life is a scrawl. In a moment life is a fiasco. We are bankrupt in hope and courage. We have flashed in the pan. We have ended in smoke.

All our lives we have thrown this phrase like a ball of flame and never dreamed that it seared the souls and scarred the spirits of men and women who have lived too long.

And now we hate old Father Time!

We hate him for what he has done for us. We hate his scythe that he seems to have fashioned from the tallest tree that grows upon a wind-swept cliff—a tree that neither icy blasts nor weight of snow could shake its topmost bough. We hate its blade, fused from the metal that bubbled in a volcano's blood-red heart, a blade chilled in the frozen currents of the poles and sharpened on the iron wills of men like us who hate old age. Oh, how we hate old Father Time for the strange hieroglyphics he has etched upon our faces and for the hoar frost upon our hair! How we hate him when he smites us with his scythe and pinches our muscles and nerves and when he flings his long, white beard around us like a strangling veil.

In this crucial hour we must cease the game of Make-Believe. We must cease to grieve for our radiant youth and know that all that is unreal in us is what we bury in the grave. That our splendid temple, where our spirit lives, is like all created things, the perishing part of us.

But alas for us when our mind grows old with our body!

When our mind becomes inactive because it is too lazy to learn; when it is palsied because it is like a prize fighter who refuses to fight; when it is weakened by wicked sophistries and has wasted its forces on a false hypothesis; when it has quibbled over error and cavilled at truth; when it has denied the eternal verities and squandered its energies on futile, flimsy and frivolous issues, until it has become a worthless fabric of cobwebs and smoking flax.

Lo, we are living on lotus leaves, eating its fruit and drinking its acid wine.

All that is real within us is ageless and will never see death.

Therefore we have nothing to fear if our brain swings as steadily as the earth on its axis; if our minds are as sensitive to thought as an aeolian harp to the whisper of the wind; if our memories are like a flock of snow-white lambs; if our dreams of the future reflect the ecstasies of youth we have nothing to fear; when we hear the cry at midday:

"The old, old man!"

"The old, old woman!"

The soul is incorruptible. It is the glorious part of us that lives forever. It cannot grow old. It is forever young if we are in tune with the Creator of all things.

Though the mountains quake and cry, "Old! Old! Old!" Though the rivers on their way to the sea are singing, "Old! Old! Old!" we can say to the earth, "Thou art old, but thou keepest thy course!" We can say to the sun: "Thou art old, but thou art always shining!" We can say to the moon and stars: "All that is worth while in the universe is old!"

Therefore we are content. We have been young and played the game of Make-Believe.

Now we are old and we are numbered among the things that are eternal!

THE SLOGAN OF THE WORLD

Let us have peace—the world is tired
Of killing one another,
Or only making graves for his
Whom God has made our brother.

Let us have peace—the time is come
When men, no longer cattle,
Will solve their wrongs in Parliaments
And not in bloody battle.

Who leads himself with ships and guns
To keep his neighbor steady
Will find his neighbor, like himself,
Is also getting ready.

There is no recompense for war—
Hate is its only guerdon.
Look at the nations staggering
Beneath its cursed burden.

Blind is the nation now that builds
Its war machines the faster,
And cursed its fate, for it will have Another world disaster.

Disarm's the slogan of the world—
Oh, hear the bugles playing!
They play for peace, and not for slaying,
For love and not for slaying.

Then hail to him who led the way
And hail to every other
Who sheaths the sword this happy day
And calls his brother BROTHER.

WHOLE NATION IS PROSPERING.

Immense Shipping Growth Here Told to Chamber.

President Obregon Declared Square-Shooting Leader.

A satisfied reflection of national optimism was mirrored for members of the Chamber of Commerce by R. Harold Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, at the semimonthly noonday luncheon of the chamber held at the Alexandria yesterday.

"An increased buying power of the country for next year over 1921 and the maintenance of Los Angeles as the white spot of prosperity for 1921," were high spots in Mr. Powell's message.

By unanimous decision, President Byron of the chamber was empowered to send a telegram to Senators Shortridge and Johnson of California, Chairman Lasker and Meyer London of the United States Shipping Board, urging that the board immediately give due consideration to the needs of the port of Los Angeles regarding the allocation of freight and passenger business between Los Angeles and Honolulu and the Orient, to the end that 500 tons of merchandise, ready monthly for shipment to those points from Los Angeles, may receive the justifiable advantage of direct transportation.

As the vote was taken, it was stated that 302 ships were offshore, either bound for or from Los Angeles, this fact clearly demonstrating how the business of the harbor is growing. In this connection, President Weaver announced that the Los Angeles Commercial News has instituted a daily shipping bulletin.

Col. E. W. Clark, in charge of the tickets and admission committee of the Tournament of Roses, Myron Hunt, architect for the stadium, also spent the day at the stadium offices co-operating with the committee.

Mr. Hunt said all the best features embodied in the plans of ancient and modern stadia are included in his design for the Pasadena plant. He expressed the opinion that the new Pasadena stadium will be the last word in architectural design for structures of its type.

"We are very enthusiastic over the results of our first two days' campaign for public subscriptions," said Mr. Bertonneau. "Indications are we shall go over the top in the next six weeks with our financial program. This is a great California project and all Californians should give us their enthusiastic support."

NORMALCY RETURNING.

In part Mr. Powell said: "Indications observed on a recent trip through Canada and all the principal States of this country are that a gradual and permanent return to prewar conditions is under way. There is nothing rapid or spectacular in this progress, but it is marked by a certain stability that is reassuring."

"Wheat, produced under high costs, has been subjected to a fearselling unloading of primary crops at prices as low as $1 against $1.68 of last year," he said, "and as a result, the buying power of wheat producers for 1922 will probably only be 70 per cent of their buying power of last year. Owing to the heavy sale of hogs during the war the usual outlet of surplus corn for feeding of hogs has fallen off and the prohibition ruling also has put a noticeable crimp in the corn products market.

SOUTH IMPROVED.

"All through the South I found improved conditions reflected in the textile trades, among the cotton growers and in banking circles.

"Cattle interests are an exception to the general improved buying power conditions. They have suffered and will not have the buying power next year that they need.

"The citrus interests of California have had a good year, even in face of the fact that they are farthest from eastern markets with maximum freight rates to pay. This success has been due to the perfection of the machinery of marketing and any product that is not organized for the marketing of its crop will suffer under conditions which now prevail.

"The return to citrus growers of the State has been $83,000,000. Of this amount $44,000,000 was paid out to the railroads for freight. The crop represented $128,000,000 to the distributors, $145,000,000 to the retailers and $202,000,000 to the consumers, who finally pay that amount for the crop."

BANKING HEALTHY.

The speaker indicated a healthy condition in banking interests throughout the country in that saving accounts are now being augmented and said that reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission show that the railroads are slowly taking up betterments as a result of the increased earning power of the railroads. Both the steel products and automobile industries are showing marked improvement, but petroleum interests are still depressed, he said. In this State lumber mills are operating to 80 per cent of their normal capacity.

OBREGON LAUDED.

The personality and business qualifications of President Obregon of Mexico were sketched in an address concerning Mexico by Harry Chandler, who has recently visited that republic.

"He is a man of judgment, is intense in his patriotism, thinks straight, is well poised and is devoted to the best interests of his country," said the speaker.

"There is no foundation for propaganda to the effect that President Obregon is in poor health or suffering a decline from disease. I found him the picture of health and strong in mental and physical energy, fully qualified to handle one of the most difficult problems ever confronting a man for mastery."

The speaker read excerpts from a speech delivered by President Obregon at the close of the centennial celebration in Mexico City and pointed out that, "he has succeeded in pacifying Mexico, not by force of arms, but by sending most of the soldiers back to peaceful pursuits, representing Obregon's best hope of a return to a stable form of government. During the celebration which lasted one month, 400,000 people visited the City of Mexico, and no murders, thieving or banditry resulted, which may be taken as a strong indication of the right of that republic to recognition by this government."

RICH POTENTIALLY.

Lower California was then discussed by Mr. Chandler, who said: "The general public does not appear to realize that there is an area in Lower California equal to all of Southern California, south of the Tehachepi, with practically the same endowments of climate, soil and water that are enjoyed here. It is reasonable to assume that the day will come when that area will produce as many grapes, figs and other products as are grown in Southern California and that thriving cities there are to constitute a future market for Los Angeles. All that it needs is the support and confidence given by one neighbor to another to develop the area and to that end recognition of Mexico is a natural and just conclusion."

MANY BUY STADIUM SEATS.

Progress of the drive to finance the million-dollar Pasadena Tournament of Roses stadium was emphasized yesterday when A. J. Bertonneau, manager of the stadium committee, announced that approximately 1000 seats offered for public subscription Tuesday have been sold.

Interest in the project was intensified yesterday when hundreds of men and women visited the Pasadena Tournament of Roses headquarters in the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce Building to make their selection of seats for five and ten years in the new athletic plant.

The applications were handled by J. J. Mitchell, president; Mrs. R. C. Barstow, manager; A. T. Welles, vice-president; A. J. Bertonneau, manager of the stadium committee, and George H. Frost, chairman of Reserve Officers' Training Camp activities in this district, received an ovation when asked by the chairman to stand and the gratitude of the chamber was expressed for the courtesy which has been extended at the regular meetings by musical organizations from the Reserve Officers' Training Camp. The orchestra of the Lincoln High School played during yesterday's luncheon.

BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

Frank Ryan, president of the Los Angeles Realty Board, who has undertaken the duties of chairman of the American Red Cross annual roll call for 1922, spoke of the drive that is to be made.

"We feel that in the past there has been too much semihysteria and emotionalism in connection with roll call campaigns and this year we intend to make the drive a plain business proposition," said the speaker. "Arrangements have been made for the taking of enrollments of members of the American Red Cross at $1 per year at real estate offices of the city, thus saving the expense of establishing booths as has been done in the past. We also propose to underwrite a heavy enrollment by asking the business interests of the city to subscribe for large blocks of membership, either to resell them to employees or deliver them as a present. This plan, it is believed, will cover much ground in short order."

HUGE CITRUS CROP RECORDED

Nearly Hundred Million Dollar Total for Year Makes State Horticultural Leader of World.

Figures showing that the citrus industry of the State is one of the greatest horticultural enterprises on earth featured the annual report of F. Harold Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, which was made public yesterday. In the report Mr. Powell sets forth that the orange and lemon growers got $82,537,344 for the 1920-21 crop.

According to his figures the exchange marketed $61,080,003 worth of citrus fruits, while the remainder of the crop was handled by independent organizations. Despite the fact that financial conditions were decidedly uncertain at times, the exchange managed to close the year's business showing a loss of only $3570 from bad accounts. This was three five-hundredths of 1 per cent of the crop's f.o.b. value. Mr. Powell, in his report, set forth the following interesting facts:

"The total citrus shipments from California for the year ended Aug. 31, 1921, were 45,236 carloads of oranges and grapefruit and 11,659 carloads of lemons, making an aggregate of 56,895 carloads. The shipments through the exchange for the same period were 31,183 carloads of oranges and grapefruit and 9792 carloads of lemons, totaling 40,975 carloads, or 72 per cent of the citrus fruit shipments from the State.

SHIPMENTS ENORMOUS.

"Expressed in terms of boxes the exchange shipments for the year ending August 31 were 14,018,602 boxes of oranges, 206,197 boxes of grapefruit and 4,107,086 boxes of lemons.

"The returns for exchange shipments f.o.b. cars California for the year ending Aug. 31, 1921, were $56,904,262.82. Based on exchange returns California received $79,166,314.18 for the season's citrus crop, the delivered value being $121,443,742.82, including $42,277,428.64 of freight and refrigeration.

Navel shipments of the exchange for the year equaled 7,491,776 boxes, as compared with 4,955,000 boxes in 1919-1920 and 5,723,000 boxes in 1918-1919.

Exchange shipments of miscellaneous oranges, exclusive of Valencias, for the year amounted to 563,534 boxes, as compared with 576,481 boxes the previous year. There was a good demand for all of these varieties except extremely small sizes.

Grapefruit shipments amounted to 450 cars as compared with 494 cars for the previous season. The large production of Florida grapefruit gave little opportunity to market California grapefruit in the East, and even on the Pacific Coast, where advertising and trade promotion work have been carried on for several years, the effects of increased competition from Arizona and a new district in the Imperial Valley were plainly felt.

Prospects for the satisfactory marketing of the lemon crop at the beginning of this season were not favorable. California had the largest crop in the history of the industry; a quantity sufficient to supply the normal demands of the United States and Canada if no foreign lemons were imported. Imports have been averaging 84,000 carloads a year. The summer of 1920 had been very cool; there was a large carry-over of lemons in the hands of the trade and extremely low prices prevailed. These factors, in connection with the high cultural and packing costs, the high freight rates, the depreciation of Italian exchange, the low duty on foreign lemons and the low prices at which these imported lemons sold resulted in abnormally low returns to the growers on the season's business prior to June 1, 1921.

CALIFORNIA LEADS.

During the eight weeks of hot weather, the total supply, including California and imported lemons, was 4274 carloads, compared to a four-year average for this period of only 2813 carloads. The heaviest supply in previous years was 3377 carloads. Of this total, California supplied 93 per cent. In spite of these large supplies, the continuous hot weather created a demand in excess of the supply. During August, the weather was exceptionally cool throughout the country, and the market dropped to a point where lemons were again sold at less than the cost of production.

California shipped 4,663,600 boxes of lemons during the year ended August 31, compared with 3,317,480 boxes the preceding year, and an average of 3,190,732 boxes per year for the last five years. The total supply of foreign and domestic last year was 5,548,000 boxes. This is an increase of 17.5 per cent over the average of the last five years. During the year ended October 31, California shipped 4,718,800 boxes.

The present bearing lemon area in California comprises 33,000 acres, which are now producing more than the normal consumption of the United States and Canada. The 17,000 acres of nonbearing trees, if properly cared for, will create a supply greatly in excess of present demands.

'Fruit Growers' Supply Company, operated by members of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange for the purpose of securing essential packing-house and orchard supplies for its stockholders, at equitable prices, has transacted a business for its members during the past year of approximately $12,600,000. In addition to this, it has sold approximately $700,000 worth of lumber from its plants.

MUSIC STRIKE NEARS FINISH.

Union and Theaters Reach Agreement at Meeting.

Orchestras Expected Back on Jobs in Few Days.

Question of Salaries to be Paid is Left Open.

Settlement of the theater musicians' strike within the next twenty-four hours and return of the musicians to work within the next few days were believed assured following a meeting yesterday of a committee from the musicians' union with a committee representing the Los Angeles Theaters' Association.

"I hope for a settlement satisfactory to all concerned within the next day or so," said W. T. Wyatt, president of the association, "but I am not at liberty to state what agreements were reached at the meeting with the musicians."

Members of the union were not so reticent regarding what happened at the meeting and they asserted the theater owners had agreed to meet the demands of the men regarding working conditions and to maintain the closed shop at all theaters. The matter of salaries was reported left open for adjustment by each of the theater managers, but it was understood there would be few salary reductions such as had been proposed by the association.

A committee from the union headed by Secretary Moore and Business Agent Carruthers conferred for several hours with the executive committee for the association. Discussion was friendly and efforts were made by both sides to adjust differences. The union representatives reported they will recommend that the union call off the strike under the proposals advanced by the employers.

PLAN MEETING.

The union has a meeting scheduled for Friday evening, but it was said yesterday an effort will be made to have a special meeting at which the ratification of the committee's action may be had. If the special meeting is held it is possible all theaters of the city will have their old orchestras in place and playing by the first of the week.

"There are too many circuit houses in Los Angeles for the owners to declare an open shop," stated a theater manager yesterday, explaining why the strike settlement was reached. "The local houses were willing to ignore the union, but those theaters that play circuit attractions and have theaters in other cities would find no end of difficulties should they enter into any controversy with union organizations here. It would mean their employees in other cities would be called out by the national unions and many attractions billed throughout the circuits would be unable to play here."

SPEED DEMONS' SHOW DECREASE.

Only Hundred Twenty-five Appear in Hinshaw's Court in Day.

That the policy of the local justice courts for certainty of punishment for violators of county and State traffic regulations has borne fruit was indicated yesterday when the number of violators dropped again. Only 125 appeared before Justice Hinshaw, who assessed fines totaling $1150. G. A. Denison of 1014 East Fourth street, Long Beach, was fined $50 for going forty-eight miles an hour on the Palmdale road.

Eddie Young took the court by surprise.

"Are you Eddie Young?" asked the court.

"Yes," came the answer from a Japanese.

"How did you get that name?"

"I don't know. But it's mine."

He was fined $10 for having a glaring spotlight.

Guard Millions in Films Here from Robbers.

Precautions were taken yesterday to protect motion-picture films stored in the exchanges and at theaters, in view of the reported thefts of films at Buffalo and San Francisco. It is said pictures valued at $300,000 recently were stolen at Buffalo and shipped to the Orient. Motion-picture men see what they think is a plot to steal copies of costly pictures and ship them to Europe, South America or the Orient, where they may be copied.

Film exchange managers were called together yesterday by David Bershon, general manager of the First National Exchange, and plans made to place extra watchmen in the exchanges at night. It is said the value of features in the vaults of the Los Angeles Film Exchange exceeds $50,000,000. The West Coast Theaters, Inc., is co-operating in the work.

CHINESE CELEBRATE TONG CLUB OPENING.

FIRECRACKERS AND BANDS WAKE UP CHINATOWN FOR FESTIVAL.

The Wong family staged a party last night.

Had it been any other but the Wong family, the occasion probably would pass by unnoticed—but when the Wongs mobilize for a celebration it is an epochal event in Chinatown, for the family extends into the furthermost corners of the world wherever there is a Chinatown. Its membership reaches into the hundred thousands and even the small percentage that gathered together in Ferguson Alley last night resembled a convention.

It was the gathering of the clan to celebrate the opening of the new clubrooms of the Wong Wun Sun Society. Five hundred Wongs were there, all slicked up in their best native garb, silks and satins and rich brocades—stately old patriarchs of the clan in the raiment of their ancestral gods, Chinese girls that looked like wixen dolls, feeble old women smoking cigarettes.

Fifteen hundred dollars' worth of firecrackers opened the celebration like a machine gun barrage. On a brilliantly illuminated balcony, adorned with silken banners and huge Chinese inscriptions, was an American brass band, playing all the popular Yankee airs. Within the clubrooms, lavishly draped with flowers and fruit, sat the older members of the family. Outside the doors, in the alley and crowded on the stairway, were the American-born Chinese children.

The brass band was replaced by a Chinese orchestra, which began to play a Chinese love song at 9 p.m. and had played only half through it by midnight when the official banquet begun in the Tuey Far Low Cafe. And the feast is to continue for two more days.

COUNCIL VOTES FOR NEW JAIL.

Supervisors to Prepare Plan for Project at Once.

Structure Expected to Save Taxpayers Huge Sum.

That Los Angeles is to have at last a modern City Jail, Receiving Hospital, police court rooms, police headquarters and offices for the City Prosecutor and other criminal departments, was assured yesterday when the City Council formally went on record in favor of joining with the county in defraying the cost of erecting the proposed new $2,500,000 Hall of Justice to be built on the site of the present County Jail and adjacent buildings.

The vote in the Council on adoption of the committee of the whole's report favoring the consolidation was: In favor, Councilmen Allen, Conaway, Langdon, Mallard, Mushet and Ward, (5;) opposed, Councilmen Bowen and Wheeler, (2.) President Elliott was absent when the vote was taken. He voted against the project on Tuesday, at the meeting of the committee of the whole.

The Supervisors will proceed at once to prepare plans for the proposed two-story building, working in co-operation with the special committee of the City Council, consisting of Councilmen Mushet, Langdon and Allan, which had reported unanimously in favor of the plan. The city is to pay as its share of the cost of the new building annual rental for a period of twenty years, which, it is now estimated will be about $33,000 a year, as the city probably will occupy about three-tenths of the new building.

In addition to providing the city with a modern jail and criminal departments, the Supervisors and the Councilmen who voted for the joint project believe that the taxpayers will be saved thousands of dollars each year as a result of the improvement.

Assuming that the city will have at least 600 prisoners in the new City Jail, an estimated saving of more than $46,000 a year likely will be made, on the cost of feeding the prisoners and this amount will more than pay the annual rental to be paid by the city for its entire share of the cost of the new building.

After the new Hall of Justice is built, the city will have available for sale the present jail and police headquarters property on First street between Broadway and Hill streets, and the money received from this sale, would further offset the city's share of the cost of the new building. The city is now paying $8700 a year for rental of the Receiving Hospital and additional police offices, and this amount will also be saved when the new Hall of Justice is built.

Chief Jones's request to reconsider his original request for 500 additional policemen will come before the City Council this morning.

ARMISTICE BALL PLANS MADE

Armistice Day plans were well under way yesterday. Preparations for the annual ball at the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, were completed and the Disabled Veterans of the World War, Los Angeles Post No. 3, announced that its members will participate in the parade.

The second annual Armistice Day ball is to be given on the evening of the 11th inst. by the Pasadena Post, American Legion. Admiral Eberle and staff of forty officers are to attend. Prior to the ball the admiral's party will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coulston at a dinner.

Eleven hundred invitations have been issued for the affair. Arrangements also were made for a sailors' band of 220 pieces to be present at the Army-Navy football game to be played at Tournament Park.

Requests for automobiles, to enable the disabled veterans to appear in the parade, were sent out yesterday. Without them the wounded men will be unable to participate in the celebration. Offers should be listed at the post headquarters, 111 West Third street, by mail or telephone.

On Armistice Day the post, beginning at 8 p.m., will give a program and dance in the Goldberg-Bosley Hall, Sixteenth and Flower streets, to which the public is invited.

"Mack," the poet, pedestrian and mountain climber of Eagle's Nest, Mont., and Inglewood, also has contributed his bit toward Los Angeles' greatest Armistice Day celebration. He has dedicated his latest poem, in Miltonic meter, to the occasion. "Mack's" real name is J. Nelson McDaniels.

COW NEGLIGENT, COURT'S RULING.

Judge Reverses Judgment Against Owner of Car That Hit Animal.

Recently an automobile hit a cow. The injuries resulting from the impact made her a fit subject for hamburger. The owner of the animal sued and won a judgment in the justice court against the owner of the machine.

Yesterday Judge Myers reversed the judgment of a lower court and stated that "In this case of a cow versus an automobile I find that the cow was criminally negligent for getting in the road of the machine."

A lawyer representing the owners of the deceased asked the judge if he had taken into consideration that the cow was nervous and high strung. The jurist thought a moment and then stated that in spite of the cow's temperament he still believes her guilty.

Priest Appeals Jail Terms for Auto Offenses.

Rev. Father J. B. Roure, a Catholic priest living at 719 Brand Boulevard, San Fernando, was ordered to jail for ten days late yesterday afternoon by Police Judge Chambers after he had been found guilty of reckless driving. An appeal was taken and the prisoner released under $100 bail.

Witnesses declared that Father Roure, while driving his automobile on West Eleventh street on October 20, became involved in an accident with two other automobiles. They stated that the priest, just before the accident, was driving his automobile in a reckless manner and that following the collision, he drove away without waiting to learn if anyone had been injured.

Roure denied the statements of the witnesses, but was found guilty by the court.

SUIT TO HALT SALE OF PICTURE FILED.

A suit to restrain the H. and F. Film Laboratories from disposing of a cinema picture entitled "When A Woman Turns" and asking $5000 damages was filed yesterday by Leonard Clapham, Ivor McFadden, A. E. Reeves and A. W. Moore. The film is valued at $25,000, and it is stated that a notice of sale has been published to satisfy a lien.

WILL DEVELOP WHOLE RIVER.

Edison Company Expands Its Plans for Colorado.

To Start Simultaneously at Glen, Boulder.

Electrical Chief Home From Trip of Inspection.

The party headed by R. H. Ballard, vice-president and general manager of the Southern California Edison Company, returned yesterday from Glen Canyon on the Colorado River, which the engineers of the Edison company declare is the logical point on the stream to provide flood control, increase the dependable all-year water supply for irrigation and make complete power development down stream economically possible, to the extent of over 4,000,000 horsepower.

"Nature could not have constructed a more ideal power site," said Mr. Ballard, "if in the prehistoric ages she had had the advantage of the advice of the best hydroelectric engineers of 1921. Everything is at hand and made to order, excepting the great controlling dam which we propose to throw across the river, impounding two and one-half years' run-off, effecting absolute flood control for the Imperial Valley and adjacent lands, reducing the construction of dams and power sites for the 300 miles below to a matter of detail, and the development of 4,500,000 horsepower of electrical energy to a simple matter of building, according to the demands of the market.

"Above this proposed site, there will be impounded a lake 200 miles long, storing water sufficient to flood the entire State of Arizona six inches deep, and to prevent the floods, which, when the river is at maximum height, contains a volume of water equal to that which plunges over Niagara Falls.

DEVELOP WHOLE RIVER.

"A look at the Colorado River canyon and the high water marks scored far upon the boulders will convince any practical man that to control the titanic force of this stream once is a big enough job for the present generation. By filing on Boulder Canyon, while in Phoenix on Thursday, the Edison company has signified its willingness to develop the Colorado as a whole—not as a piecemeal proposition. If our applications are granted by the Federal Water Power Commission and the State authorities of Arizona and Nevada, we contemplate beginning development almost concurrently at Glen Canyon and at Boulder Canyon. From a power development at Glen Canyon, the upper country, which is 200 to 300 miles from Boulder Canyon, could be most economically reached by distribution lines. Albuquerque, N. M., is the nearest large center of population to Glen Canyon, with Phoenix, Ariz., close second; Tucson, Globe, Bisbee, Douglas and the mining regions of Southern Arizona, and the rich farming lands which can be quickly brought into production by electric pumping are within easy reach."

PARTY'S ITINERARY.

Responding to invitations from commercial bodies, to appear before them and explain the Edison project for developing the electrical resources of the river, providing for flood control and irrigation, Mr. Ballard made a flying trip through Arizona, complying with as many of these requests as possible and going in person to the State house, where he made the Boulder Canyon filing with State Water Commissioner Norvell. Mr. Ballard was accompanied by George C. Ward, vice-president in charge of construction; Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. Ward, Harry Schenck, an Edison engineer, who has been in charge of the survey parties which have been working in conjunction with the U. S. Geological Survey in establishing levels in and about Glen and Marble canyons, and Charlie Peirson of the general office staff. At Phoenix, Mr. Ballard addressed a large meeting of citizens, at which Gov. Campbell of Arizona and Water Commissioner Norvell, were present, and Sims Ely, Secretary of the Arizona Resources Commission, presided.

The party was also entertained at a dinner given at the Arizona Club by Ray S. Masson, an officer of the two power companies, which operate in Eastern Arizona, and the pioneer of hydroelectric development in that State. At Prescott the Rotary Club meeting at noon was attended, and in the evening a large meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, later attending a gathering of prominent citizens, which was given by Francis S. Viele, president of the Arizona Power Company. Reaching Flagstaff on Saturday morning, the party crossed the Painted Desert and the Navajo Reservation, reaching Lee's Ferry on the Colorado River late in the evening. There they were joined by the chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Coconino county, most of the board's members, the County Engineer and District Attorney, the Sheriff, newspaper men and camera men, who had been inspecting a point on the river where the county proposes to build the high span suspension bridge with government aid—if they can get it.

Returning to Flagstaff on Monday, the party was entertained by the business men of that city, who asked many questions concerning the proposed development.

CLUBS ARE PLEDGED TO BOOST SOUTHLAND.

OPTIMISTS' AND ADVERTISERS' ORGANIZATIONS JOIN IN ALL-YEAR DRIVE.

Heads of committees representing the Optimists' Club and the Advertising Club, named by these clubs recently to assist in the All-Year movement, reported yesterday to the All-Year Club of Southern California that they had completed organization and would be ready within the next few days to take an active part in the All-Year campaign. Glen W. Duncan is the chairman of the Advertising Club committee and Harry Watson heads the Optimists' committee. They and their assistants are planning to enlist the support of individuals and firms who have not yet been asked to participate in the All-Year movement.

The pledges of several new All-Year contributors were turned in yesterday to the Executive Committee by D. H. Jones. These new subscribers include the Rampart Apartment, Regent Apartments, Spiegelman Brothers and Soronow, Morris & Snow Seed Compny and the Continental Building Company for the Hibernian Building.

"We first became acquainted with Formamint when our doctor, several years ago, prescribed it for an epidemic of sore throat. You know how it runs through a family.

"We like Formamint because it relieves so quickly and is so much more convenient than gargles and sprays, especially for the children who hate such remedies.

"Then you remember the 'flu' epidemic. How fearful we all were of crowded, stuffy places; theatres and shops; crowded cars and ill ventilated school rooms. Again the whole family 'Formaminted' their throats and mouths, by using the pleasant tasting tablets freely, whenever there was danger of contagion.

"Formamint must be really antiseptic, because none of us had the 'flu,' and few had sore throats, that whole winter. You can put our family down as Formamint enthusiasts."

What Women Are Doing in Widening Fields of New Endeavor.

SOVIET MENACE IN CLASSROOMS?

Ebell Club Speaker Sounds Warning to Mothers.

Says Dr. John R. Haynes is Supporter of "Cause."

Professor of Chemistry in Role as Defender.

BY MYRA NYE.

Woodworth Clum, manager of the Better America Federation, dropped a good-sized bomb into the peaceful meeting of Ebell Club members and a large group of distinguished guests yesterday when, in his after-luncheon talk, he said: "Club women and mothers of Los Angeles have a task ahead of them to prevent our high schools from being sovietized."

Advising the women to question their children as to what they are being taught under the guise of social economics he declared that the text book studied here was written by a former college professor of Princeton who is now a member of the faculty of the Rand Socialist School of New York, that at the bottom of each chapter are references to the works of Scott Dearing, whom he termed the "arch and insidious promoter of Bolshevism and Communism."

"I'm going to do the thinking for my class and make them all socialists. If that party does not accomplish more definite results I will myself join the militant part of the Communist party and help to see that things are done," Mr. Clum quoted from a letter of a college professor, Prof. Evns Clark, formerly of Princeton.

"Professors gathered at an inn on the Hudson in the moonlight and toasted marshmallows while they listened to stories extolling the Russians in their Bolshevistic movements and lionizing Lenine and Trotzky as the hroes of the ages," said Mr. Clum.

BRANCHES EVERYWHERE.

"From their teachers' influence," the speaker continued, "there was formed an Intercollegiate Socialist Party which stands for the most dangerous radicalism in government. It has branches all over the country and has representatives in this city. It is supported by such men as Max Eastman and Jack Byers," he said. He concluded by reading a list of names of men who are supporting the movement. The only supporter from Los Angeles, Mr. Clum said, is Dr. John R. Haynes who, according to the report, had given $500 for the "cause."

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the club, said at the conclusion of Mr. Clum's talk that she had in the past feared the result of just such teachings upon her own sons. It was, however, upon the introduction of Dr. W. C. Morgan, professor of chemistry, that the fuse of the bomb began to emit real sparks.

"I was scheduled to speak upon radium," he began, "but I can't begin on that at once after hearing what the preceding speaker had to say." Dr. Morgan then defended vigorously the professors of high schools and universities. "They have to teach what the facts indicate, not some theory some one may evolve concerning those facts. Further than that a teacher in such a subject as sociology must teach the facts as he sees them."

Among those guests who spoke were Mayor Cryer, President Criswell of the City Council, Councilman Conaway, Chaplain Oliver Lazare, head of the educational department at San Quentin, Mrs. Carrie Parsons Bryant, who told of her stay in Mexico during the recent celebration of Mexico's independence from Spain, Councilman Wheeler and W. J. Sanborn, chairman of the Public Utilities Committee of the City Council.

Robert E. Lee Chapter.

At the Ebell Clubhouse this afternoon the Robert E. Lee Chapter Daughters of the Confederacy will hold their monthly assembly with Mrs. Leonard Frey in charge of the musical portion of the program which will be augmented by southern dialogues, read by Mrs. William Barber.

Tea will be served by Mrs. Mary Bigga assisted by Mmes. John Darling, Earl Odell, Melville Christian, Kate Hathaway, Mary Pitts, Earl Leaf, Lottie Fletcher and Edward Nance.

Mrs. Phil Brady, the president, will extend a cordial welcome to all visiting southerners.

Travel Club.

Los Angeles Travel Club will meet this afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Prince Rupert Apartments, corner of Whitmer and Ingraham streets.

Three Arts Club.

Mrs. W. S. Bartlett, former president of the Ebell Club, will give a talk at the usual Saturday afternoon tea of the Three Arts Club this week at 3:30 p.m.

DOCTOR ANSWERS SUIT.

Denies Charge of Alienating Love of Other Man's Wife.

Dr. Charles W. Bryson, prominent surgeon, who was sued by Philip Rosenfeld for $50,000 damages for the purported alienation of the affections of his wife, Sarah Rosenfeld, filed his answer, denying the charges, yesterday. The case was set for trial before Judge Hahn next March 21.

When the charge was filed, Dr. Bryson declared it was ridiculous and absurd. The complaint states that Dr. Bryson visited Mrs. Rosenfeld, called her endearing names and kissed her.

ALUMNI TO BANQUET TROJAN GRID SQUAD.

THE NEW.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

Up-to-Datest:

A slip-on sweater of fine ribbed wool, destined to be the joy of the maiden with a flare for vivid color above the sober tweeds of her golfing skirt or knickers. This particular type of "jersey," as our British cousins insist upon calling the indispensable sports garment, suggests, in its design, that the wickiup of a Navajo blanket weaver has been raided to furnish the decoration which is worked out in warm reds, deep blues and a touch of white on a tawny background.

Dinner dresses and dance frocks, made with tight, pointed bodices of the shoulder-to-shoulder neck-line and full, flary skirts, of heavy gold-and-silver-threaded brocades. The quality of these quaint-looking and rich materials merits the application of the old-fashioned phrase, "silks that stand alone." Back-groupds of robin's egg blue or lemon color show sprawly bouquets of loosely tied flowers or huge baskets spilling lilies and autumn leaves. They make gowns that are enormously effective in their unusual contour.

An ornamental headdress for evening, adaptable, in particular, to the young person whose bobbed hair gives her head an appearance more or less reminiscent of a page of medieval days. It consists of a width of tulle, matching the hair in color, drawn softly over the top of the head and puffed at either side. Two flat, oriental-looking jewels are used in front.

The Land of Child Romance.

Chiefest among thrills each year, to some of us elders who have never quite grown up, as we commence writing November dates on our letters, is the flashing glimpses we get in shop windows and the broad displays when we pass book counters, of the red and blue-covered, rainbow-hued pictured editions of the stories that, in our own remote infancies, flung wide for us the portals the Land of Imagination. The magical kingdom of what-might-have-been, where were recorded the deeds of what-might-have-happened-to-us if we had been hidden under King Arthur's Round Table; if we had only been lucky enough to get ourselves born in Cinderella's day-night, rather; if we might have timed our appearance on earth to co-ordinate with the golden age of fairies and of animals that talked and played like Mowgli's and Alice's and like Peter Rabbit.

Personally, I am always dreading the approach of a holiday season that will put me into an age dead and gone by showing a list of holiday books for children with the favorites of my own tender years shouldered out of the way to make room for a new and strange brood. One must be prepared to slough off old tastes and old loves at high speed in this futuristic era or sink dully into the barnacle class. But it would be asking more than flesh can bear, to my way of thinking, to accept, meekly, a superior young generation that looked critically at Andersen's fairy romances and was only mildly tolerant of the doings of Toby Tyler and Tom Sawyer.

Children's Books—Old and New.

From the appearance of the feast on the tables and shelves of the booksellers, this November, there is no need for immediate anticipation of a cataclysm of this sort. For the old favorites are all there, newly dressed as to type and pictures and binding, but with the same endearing characteristics of fragrant memory that bound to them, with hoops of steel, our childish hearts. All of you who are interested—and who is not?—will be able to obtain a far fuller idea of the realm of books for children than a word or two, like this, may give, by spending an hour or two of "Children's Book Week," which will be happening shortly, in a book-to-book contemplation of contemporary juvenile literature.

You will find at that time, your own exalted heroes of childhood, cheek by jowl with new ones, but neither usurping the place of the other. Robin Hood and his Merry Men of Sherwood Forest have donned jerkins more historically correct than the crude brown and yellow ones our books of the early 90's clothed them in, but they are the identical lovable outlaws whose deeds made us regret times of peaceful government. Little Women and Little Men; Jack and Jill; Rose and her Eight Cousins and the others of that wholesome troupe Louisa Alcott made live for us, are here for the present and rising generation. Nelly and Rob are still discovering a silver mine in Colorado and the childhood of Stevenson is as vividly alive as ever in The Child's Garden of Verses.

And there are a host of new stories and rhymes, in addition, which, no matter to what lengths our prejudices go in the matter of old favorites, we should have opened our hearts to include had they been written in our childhood.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

A NOURISHING HOME DINNER.

The following dinner menu is what a jolly little bride friend of mine calls a "regular hold-a-husband dinner!"

Oyster Soup
Veal Cutlet Brown Gravy
Lyonnaise Potatoes
Spinach
Coffee Snow Pudding

Oyster Soup—Clean and pick over 1 quart of oysters; heat these, chopped, in thier liquor, and let simmer twenty minutes after the boiling point is reached. Then strain through cheesecloth, discarding the chopped oysters. Reheat the strained liquor and thicken it with ½ cup of butter and ½ of flour which have been heated together and rubbed to a smooth paste. Now scald 4 cups of sweet milk with 1 large slice of onion, 2 stalks of celery cut small, 1 blade of mace and a spring of parsley; strain this scalded milk to remove the seasonings and add it to the oyster liquor. Season to suit taste with salt and pepper, and serve very hot.

Lyonnaise Potatoes—This is a most delicious way to serve boiled left-over potatoes. Slice the potatoes and set them aside to add later to the frying pan. Put first in the pan 1 tablespoon of finely chopped onion and 1½ tablespoons of butter; fry the onions until a light brown, then add 1 quart of the sliced boiled potatoes with 2 more tablespoons of butter. Cook until the potatoes have obsorbed the butter and then pack down to let the mixture brown a little on the bottom. Turn with a spatula to allow the top to brown also. Serve at once. If onion is a favorite vegetable in the family, a more generous amount of it may be used to 1 quart of potato slices.

Snow Pudding—Soak 1 tablespoon of granulated gelatine in ¼ cup of cold water; add 1 cup of granulated sugar and 3 tablespoons of lemon juice, and strain through a fine sieve into a china bowl. Set the bowl aside, but from time to time tip it up on one side to see whether the gelatine has begun to congeal. When the liquid begins to cling to the sides of the bowl and seems quite thick, it is time to beat into it, with a wire whisk, the whites of 3 eggs which have been beaten stiff. Continue to beat until the pudding is stiff enough to hold its shape. Pile this by spoonfuls into individual glass dessert dishes or cups and serve with a cold boiled custard made in the following way:

Boiled Custard Sauce for Snow Pudding—Beat yolks of 3 eggs slightly and add to them ¼ cup of sugar, a pinch of salt, and—very gradually—2 cups of scalded milk. Cook this mixture in the top of a double boiler, stirring constantly, until it thickens and will coat a spoon. Then strain immediately into a bowl to cool. If cooked too long after coating the spoon, custard will curdle; when this happens it may be restored to a smooth consistency by beating with an egg beater of the wheel type. (But it is not quite as thick as if it had not curdled). If the housewife cannot afford to use the yolks of 3 eggs, she may use the yolks of 2 eggs and ½ tablespoon of cornstarch.

[All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.]

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

At Charming Tea.

Mrs. William Kenyon Young (Mary Dockweiler) presided at a charming tea yesterday. It was particularly interesting because it was the first large affair that she has given since her marriage in September and she is the first bride to give any pretentious party this autumn. She plans to take an active part in society.

Golden dahlias and maiden hair ferns adorned the tea table, while in the library and living room dahlias and chrysanthemums were used abundantly. Dahlias and chrysanthemums mixed with roses in mulberry shades were in the hall.

Mrs. Young was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Isidore B. Dockweiler and by Mr. Young's mother, Mrs. Milton Young and a bevy of girls and young matrons among whom were Mmes. Thomas A. J. Dockweiler, Myron Etienne, Hayes Busch, Robert Frank Gross, Frank Casey, Paul B. Hammond, Herbert McGaffey and Misses Marion Wigmore, Eleanor MacGowan, Aurelia Hogan, Eleanor Anderson, Olga Simpson, Gertrude Grant, Wilma Hines, Genevieve McDonald and Rowena Schneider.

Henry Dockweiler, who has been attached to the American Embassy at Peking, China, the past three years returned home last evening for a visit.

Mrs. Ely to Entertain.

Mrs. T. L. Ely of 615 St. Andrews Place is to entertain at tea Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Percy L. Whitehead, Mrs. Fred M. Martin and Miss Mary Ely, who have recently come here to reside, the former and Miss Ely from Chicago and Mrs. Martin from Texas and New York. Mrs. Ely has invited 100 guests to greet them.

Assisting her will be Mmes. William Rhodes Hervey, C. W. Thompson, William Waycott, J. K. Wilson, Gilbert King, George Safford, J. A. Vaughan, Chappell Q. Stanton and Miss Forrester.

For Miss Zane.

Miss Margaret Zane, an attractive subdebutante, daughter of the late Admiral Zane and Mrs. Zane, now of this city, was cause for an enjoyable dance and supper party at which Misses Hortense Hiller and Lorna Daniels were hostesses. Miss Hiller is the daughter of Mrs. Fannie Warren and Miss Daniels is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Daniels, at whose home the party was given.

Farewell Bridge Tea.

Mrs. Samuel Arthur Bixby of Pasadena, who is leaving for Montecito this month to reside, was charming motif yesterday for the farewell bridge tea at which Lady Popham-Young entertained. Her rooms were gay with autumn flowers. She had thirty guests. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bixby are to give a bridge dinner for thirty guests at the Vista Del Arroyo Hotel. There will also be dancing.

Dr. and Mrs. Hughes.

Dr. and Mrs. West Hughes are giving a buffet supper party this evening, followed by bridge. They will have sixteen guests. They have just returned from Bolsa Chica where they went last week-end with friends.

At Wilshire Christian Church.

The Wilshire Christian Church yesterday afternoon was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding, when Miss Eleanor Gardner of this city became the bride of John Edward Doty of Fullerton. Rev. Howard Fagan officiated. The church was decorated with chrysanthemums and dahlias.

Mrs. John Holcomb of Fullerton was matron of honor while the bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Wheat, Mrs. Raymond Smith and Miss Zemula Pope. Three-year-old Mary Louise Crum, in a ruffled organdie frock, was flower-girl, and little Frances Gardner was train bearer. Raymond Smith stood with the groom and the ushers were Joe Mullarky, Fred Owen and John Holcomb. The bride's gown was made of white satin, heavily embroidered with pearls. Her veil was of tulle and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Holcomb wore orchid velvet with silver and the bridesmaids were dressed in georgette in pastel shades. Three hundred guests witnessed the ceremony. A supper was served later at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gardner of 259 South Normandie avenue. The couple left by motor for Santa Barbara, where t hey will spend their honeymoon at the Samarkand Hotel. Later they will visit San Francisco and will make their home in Fullerton.

For Toronto Visitor.

Mrs. Jess Applegath of Toronto, Can., was cause yesterday for a very enjoyable luncheon at which Mrs. J. S. Farrow of Harvard boulevard was hostess. There were forty guests seated at tables centered with flowers in gold and orchid shades.

At Bridge Luncheon.

Miss Marie Nichols of West Sixth street entertained yesterday at an elaborate bridge luncheon in honor of Mrs. Raymond Taylor (Edna Schneider), a bride, and for Miss Fannie Thompson, a bride-elect. There were fifty guests all seated at one round table which was centered with flower pots filled with pom-pom chrysanthemums in pink and yellow shades.

For a Bride.

Mrs. Wilbur Beckett, a bride of last year, is the inspiration for a luncheon at which Mrs. Walter Lindley will entertain a dozen guests on Friday.

Home From East.

Mrs. Ella Brooks Solano and her grand-daughter Miss Catherine Lent Barlow, with Miss Elizabeth Wolters, have returned from an extended trip East and while waiting until her own home is ready Mrs Solano is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Frederick H. Stevens of South Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena. Miss Wolters is there also and Miss Barlow is at home again with her parents Dr. and Mrs. Walter Jarvis Barlow.

For a Future Bride.

Mrs. E. H. Newland of Arden Road will be hostess this afternoon at a tea in honor of her future daughter-in-law, Miss Joyce Percy, who is to marry Harvey Newland on the 16th inst. The rooms are bright with chrysanthemums and dahlias. Assisting Mrs. Newland will be Mmes. Harvey Titcomb, William Arkins, George Chambers, A. A. Nisson, A. C. Koch, Charles McKeever and Misses Mildred Titcomb, Gladys Percy and Cordelia Chambers.

At Theater and Supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd are to be hosts at a loge party to see Rigoletto this evening at Philharmonic Auditorium and later will entertain their guests at supper. Their company is to be made up of the cast taking part at the opening of the Harlequin Theater at the Ambassador next Monday evening and includes Misses Mary Forbes, Dorothy Conroy, Lucille Bennett, Marie Bollman, Priscilla-Wilde, Mmes. J. Anthony Smythe David Imboden, Otto Matiesen and Allen Connors.

Dance is Given.

Mrs. Frank Pellier of 737 South Burlington avenue gave an attractively arranged dance last evening in honor of her daughter Miss Constance Pellier. There were twenty-five guests. The decorations were most artistic and unusual.

Hallowe'en Dance.

Miss Alice Jolley, hostess at the Bryson Apartments, entertained with a dance at which there were 100 guests. The ball-room w as decorated with sun flowers and corn-stalks and other Halloween motifs and there were attractive favors.

Smart Wrap.

A smart wrap made of bands of moleskin in an odd design is one of the latest fashions which comes to us from England. [From Keystone View Company.]

IRVING WALLACE IS NOW IN OUR MIDST.

Irving Wallace, who holds the world's record for circling the bases on a baseball diamond, arrived in Los Angeles recently. Wallace is looking around for a place on a ball team, and is at present parking at the Auditorium Hotel.

Wallace made his record at Minot, N. D., while a member of the Burlington Independents. It is claimed that his record, which is 13 seconds flat, has never been bettered.

WHY

IS SING SING SO NAMED?

Like so many other penal institutions through America and Europe, the famous prison of Sing Sing owes its name, through a peculiar modification, to the name of the town in which it is situated. The original name of this town was Ossining, a title of Indian derivation, which the white settlers appropriated and corrupted into "Sing Sing," which eventually became the official name of the town itself.

When the prison was erected, it, too, was christened Sing Sing, but as the grim structure became more and more widely known, the inhabitants of the town, which was by no means so famous, did not relish the odious association. Some years ago, therefore, it was decreed that the name be changed back to the orginal Indian spelling of "Ossining," by which it is known today, but the prison itself still bears the corrupted pronunciation of the early settlers—Sing Sing.

The Daily Fun Hour.

BY HONOR WALSH.

SCOTLAND BORDER.

This old game is usually played out-of-doors, but it may be adapted for Halloween, playing indoors in a large room. The players choose sides, Clan Tartans and Red Coats. The two leaders, called Chieftain and General, join hands and raise them high as in London Bridge, to let the other players pass through, at the same time repeating the traditional rhyme:

Brother Jock (or Sister Jean,) if ye'll be mine,
I'll give ye stoups o' claret wine;
Claret wine, good and fine—
Through the needle ee now!

As they come to "the needle ee" (eye) the leaders let their arms fall, and incloasing the passing player, ask him which side he chooses, Clan Tartan or Red Coat. After he has chosen he stands behind the leader of his choice until both factions have taken all the players. Then every player deposits some article on the "cairn" or heap of handkerchiefs, pencils, caps and other personal belongings behind each camp. If it is not convenient to have a chalk-line, an imaginary border is fixed between the two camps. Clan Tartans and Red Coats stand in line, shoulder to shoulder, with a "cairn" of belongings behind each faction, and the border line between the two forces. The object for each player is to run across the border and back again, taking with him an article from the enemy's cairn. If captured he becames prisoner. Game is won by the side gaining all the players or the property of the other faction.

Gentlemen:

We have had Lux analyzed and know there is nothing in it which could injure the delicate wool fibre. An ordinary harsh soap will make the tiny wool scales draw up and shrink.

Lux is also excellent for woolens because its thin flakes dissolve quickly and completely. This means that no solid soap can stick to the wool and yellow it.

We are glad to endorse Lux because its use in washing our garments means greater satisfaction to our customers and thus to us.

LITTLE MARY'S CASE PREPARED.

Attorneys Here Make Ready Nevada Action Briefs.

Miss Pickford, in Paris, Will Not Have to Appear.

Divorce Will be Upheld, Say Film Star's Counsel.

The continuity for the final episode in the "Trials of Mary Pickford" is now being written in Los Angeles with several attorneys doing the writing. While the location for the final act will be in Nevada, all preparations are being made here so that shooting the event will take only a brief time, and will not require the presence of the star, who now is in France.

P. A. McCarran of Reno, former Chief Justice of Nevada, and the attorney who tried Miss Pickford's divorce case at Minden, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to confer with John G. Mott, the motion-picture star's local attorney. Mr. McCarran spent a couple of days with Gavin McNab in San Francisco, going over the case and briefs are now being prepared for submission before the Nevada Supreme Court, opposing the contention of Atty.-Gen. Fowler of that State, that the divorce was illegal. The Attorney-General's brief has been submitted, and the answering briefs of the defense will be filed within the next ten days, according to McCarran.

"There is no question regarding the legality of Miss Pickford's divorce," said Mr. McCarran yesterday. "The Attorney-General of Nevada was looking for some publicity when he began his action to have the judgment of Judge Langan divorcing Miss Pickford and Owen Moore set aside. Every statute of the State was complied with in every way."

McCarran himself was Chief Justice of Nevada when a similar case was before the court and the precedent established at that time favors the contention of the Pickford attorneys now, although it may be worthy of note that Chief Justice McCarran dissented then, although favorably impressed with the decision now.

"The brief to be filed by myself and associates will be complete and will be rather voluminous," said Mr. McCarran. "We expect to cover every angle of the case and we are satisfied there will be no more annoyance for Miss Pickford. The brief should be submitted before the 15th inst., and an early decision of the Supreme Court may be expected.

"The case has attracted much attention over this country," he continued. Nothing would have been done by the State authorities of Nevada if the persons involved had not been so well known."

Miss Pickford is abroad with her husband Douglas Fairbanks. Her attorneys stated there was no reason why she should be called upon to appear here unless the decision should favor Atty.-Gen. Fowler, but that is a contingency none of her attorneys think is possible to come about.

MRS. EDGAR GERMAN FUNERAL IS TODAY.

FORMER VICE-PRESIDENT OF STATE CLUB FEDERATION WILL BE BURIED.

Mrs. Edgar German, who was formerly vice-president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs and president of the Ebell Club of Pomona, is to be buried this afternoon. The funeral will be conducted at the Pierce undertaking rooms at 1:30 o'clock.

In 1918 Mrs. German was appointed by Gov. Johnson to serve on the board of directors of the State School for Girls at Whittier. She was deeply interested in municipal matters; in the protection of working women and girls and in the enforcement of the child labor law.

In connection with the latter she suggested the creation of a scholarship fund from which the equivalent of a poor child's earnings could be paid to dependent mothers, so that the child should not be deprived of an education.

Mrs. German had been a resident of California for thirty years. She moved to Los Angeles from Pomona twenty years ago. She leaves a husband, a son, E. P. Dewey, and a daughter, Mrs. M. M. Kingman of this city, and a sister, Mrs. W. P. Brown of Santa Ana, and two brothers, D. F. Pride of New York City and C. A. Pride of Powankee, Wis. She died at the Methodist Hospital Tuesday after an illness of three months.

GUNS ROCK HARBOR.

Four Dreadnaughts in Director Fire Jar Glass and Plaster in Homes.

Residents of Los Angeles Harbor and surrounding towns were put on the nervous edge yesterday by four dreadnaughts of the Pacific Fleet engaged in director fire.

Falling glass, bricks and plaster in the beach towns followed the first salvo from the dreadnaught Mississippi, repeated in lesser degrees as the guns of the New York, Idaho and Pennsylvania roared in turn. Although the fighters were more than twenty miles off the coast, the concussion resulting from the firing shook the clothing of harbor residents.

In director firing, as explained by Lieut. George L. H. Dolan, signal officer of the flagship New Mexico, one man in the director towers of the dreadnaughts controls the firing of every gun on the ship. In practice, as was held yesterday, all guns on the ship are discharged simultaneously to test the accuracy of the director system.

FRED VOGLER WILL NOT ATTEND RACE.

Fred Vogler, owner of Vogler Boy IV, wires from Portland that he will not be able to attend the Dyas race on December 4 on account of pressing business, but is endeavoring to get his crew to bring the boat down without him. This will be a cruel disappointment to Mr. Vogler's many friends here for Vogler Boy without Fred Vogler is like "Hamlet" without Hamlet. He is a great old sport and is half of the show himself. However, he promises to appear for some of the races later in the winter season.

AUTOMOBILES FOR HEROES WANTED.

Cars to Bear Veterans on Armistice Day Are Sought Here.

Wanted—Two hundred automobiles for the use of disabled World War veterans and G.A.R. veterans on Armistice Day.

That appeal was issued yesterday by Col. Charles F. Hutchins, director-general of the Armistice Day celebration, after the Disabled Veterns of the World War reported that many ex-soldiers and sailors could not take part in the celebration unless free automobile transportation is afforded.

Firms or individuals wishing to donate use of their cars for November 11 should communicate with the Disabled Veterans of the World War, 111 West Third street.

TWO ADMIT RUG THEFT, SAY POLICE.

Confessions Clear Up the Robbery of Store, Assert Officers.

Confessions from two of the five men held in the City Jail charged with the theft of $16,000 worth of rugs from a storeroom at 357 South Western avenue on September 8, were obtained by Police Detectives Cline, Cato and Cahill yesterday, the officers say. They declared late yesterday that the confessions clear up many points in the mysterious burglary and may involve several other persons not now under arrest. The officers withheld the names of the men who are said to have made the confessions.

Benjamin Windsor, former head of the Windsor Patrol, a night watch service; M. T. Wilhoyte, Charles Smith, Jack Teberman and M. D. Harley, with Mrs. Lillian Siegel, are the prisoners held now by the police and charged with having been implicated in the theft and sale of the rugs. The woman was arrested after the five men had been taken into custody and according to the police had disposed of some of the stolen property.

Following his arrest Benjamin Windsor told the arresting officers that he was the head of the Windsor Patrol, but yesterday the police learned that he severed his connections with the patrol almost a year ago. It was discovered yesterday J. W. Windsor, father of the man under arrest, now owns the patrol service and that his son has no connection with it. Mr. Windsor, Sr., informed the authorities that since he took charge of the patrol only ex-service men have been employed as watchmen.

Benjamin Windsor, Wilhoyte, Teberman and Smith were accused of burglary in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClelland. The four were arraigned before Justice Hinshaw, who fixed bail at $1500 each. Hearing of the cases was set for the 16th inst.

Man Tries to Hang Himself by Suspenders.

Using his suspenders for a rope, Karl Wilhelm Gottwald, 40 years of age, of 151 West Eighty-ninth street, yesterday attempted to end his life by hanging himself to a bed post in the Receiving Hospital. He was discovered by Nurse Pierce of the hospital staff and cut down before he had done himself any serious injury.

According to police records Gottwald called the University Police Station by telephone from his home and notified the police that they had better send an ambulance to his home as he was about to end his life. The police arrived before he had injured himself and removed him to the Receiving Hospital. Police surgeons who made an examination declared Gottwald insane and ordered him removed to the County Hospital.

While waiting for transportation he was locked in a hospital cell and a short time later was discovered by Nurse Pierce hanging by his suspenders.

FOUR ARE BANKRUPT.

William G. Lopez, a clerk of this city, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court yesterday. He owes $1435.51 and has assets of $310, which he lists as being exempt. D. J. McMurtrey, a mechanic of Santa Maria, filed a similar petition. His debts amount to $3366, and his assets to $195. Marshall A. Newell, a real estate manager connected with M. A. Newell & Co., this city, filed a petition in the United States District Court yesterday, giving his liabilities as $201,887.70, of which $178,195.79 is owed in San Francisco. He schedules no assets of any sort. Harry C. Hervey, a hotel man of Redlands, confessed his inability to pay his debts in a petition filed in the local Federal court yesterday. He owes $5374.45, with assets of $200, listed as exempt.

OPENS OFFICE HERE.

Japan "Times" Picks Los Angeles for American Headquarters.

Recognizing Los Angeles' commercial and industrial importance and increasing foreign trade potentialities, the Japan Times of Tokio is making this city the headquarters for its American representative.

Cruse Carriel, formerly publisher of Outwest Magazine here, who recently returned from Japan, yesterday opened offices in 531 Byrne Building, where he will represent the Japanese newspaper.

"The Japan Times is a Japanese-owned, English-language newspaper designed to interpret the national policy of Japan and the fundamental characteristics of the Japanese people to the English-speaking world. It is the oldest English-language newspaper in the Japanese empire," Mr. Carriel said.

STATE AUTO DEATH RATE IS HEAVIEST.

California Leads Nation in Number of Fatalities; Los Angeles is Near Top.

California leads all the States of the Union in the number of persons killed by automobiles in 1920, according to population, said advices from Washington yesterday. The general average for the United States per 100,000 of population was 10.3, while California showed a death rate of 21.1 per 100,000 persons. In the United States during 1920, there were a total of 9103 persons killed by motor vehicles. In 1919 there were 7963. In 1915 there were but 3978 deaths from this cause.

In California in 1920, 734 persons met death from motor accidents, an increase from 1915 when there were but 411.

Los Angeles was a dangerous city during last year, and fatalities due to motor accidents were almost the highest in the country, based on population. There were 142 deaths in Los Angeles, due to automobile accidents, as against seventy-four in 1915.

Of every 100,000 population in this city, 24.1 persons were killed by automobiles. Only Hartford, Ct., Youngstown, O., and Memphis, Tenn., exceeded this tragic record.

Wife Ties Up Oil Operator's Large Estate.

A restraining order was issued late yesterday in the Superior Court here to prevent W. F. Rusk, a wealthy oil and cattleman of Portland and Oklahoma, from disposing of any part of his $125,000 property before the merits of his wife's separate maintenance action can be decided. Mr. Rusk was sued yesterday by Mrs. Belva Rusk, who now lives in Long Beach.

According to Attorney William M. Morse, Jr., the Rusks were married at Baker, Or., in 1910. They separated September 12 of this year. Mr. Rusk is said to have extensive stock holdings in Oklahoma and is interested in oil leases.

"Other Woman," Bad Check Are Wife's Charges.

On September 19 of this year Robert E. Law, of Pasadena, cashed a check on a bank in Illinois and departed from the Crown City with another woman, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Mrs. Kathleen M. Law. She charges that there were no funds in the bank to meet the check and that officers are hunting for her husband.

Mrs. Law further remarks that she recently found several pictures of women in immodest attire, or lack of it, in the back part of the family car and her husband is said to have admitted that the girls were friends of his. There is other incriminating evidence, she avers. The Laws were married in June, 1912.

Seek Funds to Keep Plants in Sunken Garden

President Bowen of the Board of Park Commissioners yesterday asked the Finance Committee of the City Council to recommend the appropriation of $7500 to continue permanently the seven-acre sunken garden floral display at Exposition Park. This is one-half of the annual cost of maintaining the exhibit, the County being willing to pay the remaining $7500.

If the city does not appropriate the money, it will be necessary to remove the flowers and re-convert the space to its former use as a grass plot.

The floral exhibit has been visited by thousands of persons who have asked that it be made permanent.

The Finance Committee took the matter under advisement.

McCLELLAN COMBING HILLS FOR TWO ELKS.

Chairman McClellan of the Board of Supervisors is hunting in the Elk Hills for two elk. If he succeeds in bagging them he will turn them over to the Museum of History, Science and Art to be placed with the collection of wild animals he obtained in Alaska. In order to shoot in the Elk Hills, Mr. McClellan had to obtain a permit from the government.

"The First Thing You Think Of"

Mrs. Mary Blake SUGGESTS

IT is easy to whip Carnation Milk, after which it can be used as a filling for cream puffs or for any other purpose calling for whipped cream. To assure the most satisfactory results, place a can of Carnation in water and heat to boiling. Remove promptly and thoroughly chill by placing can on ice or in cold water.

When cool, open can and pour milk into chilled bowl placed in another bowl filled with cracked ice. After milk has become thoroughly chilled, whip in regular way with ordinary egg beater for about five minutes.

Carnation Milk can be whipped without heating but you will find the method suggested above will give you a stiffer whip.

I will send you my complete course of Home Cooking Lessons and a book of 100 selected recipes if you will write me care of the Carnation Milk Products Co. of Cal., 740 N. Main St., Los Angeles, California.

NEWEST PLAN OF BOY SCOUTS.

Troop to Learn Navigation Now in Prospect.

Taxpayers Object to Payment of Special Items.

Dancers of Peabody Prance Ask New Trial.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 2.—Plans for the establishment here of a troop of sea scouts with headquarters at Alamitos Bay were disclosed at today's session of the executives and lay representatives of the twelfth region of the Boy Scouts of America at Hotel Virginia.

Admiral James Wilder of Honolulu, chief sea scout, who has developed this new and interesting phase of scout work, announced that the United States government is ready to give a boat fully equipped to any troop of sea scouts who can pass the necessary examinations, which include questions on seamanship and an expert knowledge of swimming.

That Long Beach is ideally situated to take advantage of the offer was pointed out and then came the announcement from Scout Master Merwin that plans are all prepared for such a troop.

"Real preparedness," said the admiral, "demands both land and sea training. It is not our intention primarily in this work to make sailors. That is a side issue. The big idea is to make men and carry the scout movement on to an older age. Boys drop out of the scout movement as they approach their seventeenth year. This new idea will give a new interest.

"The thing that holds boys is the teaching of unselfishness. The greatest thing in this sea scout movement is to teach boys how to do something for the other fellow. The need of the world today is not more smart men, but more good men. There are now more Phi Beta Kappa key men in Sing Sing prison than in the entire faculty of Harvard University. That shows the peril of making men simply smart. We must instill fundamentals of goodness into the lives of our boys and the sea scout movement will do that very thing. The boats the government offers are excellent ones. They demand real seamanship.

"Had the men in the passenger list of the Titanic been given the lessons the boys will learn in sea scouting, the loss of life would have been far less. The trouble then and the trouble in almost every maritime disaster is the improper manning of the life boats. The boats are overturned or are jammed simply because men know nothing of handling them."

TOO MANY PROTESTS.

Following protests from apartment-house owners and other taxpayers who recently received their blue slips on which were enumerated tax items for the year, the City Council has decided to abandon the proposed plan of making an additional monthly charge for the collection of garbage. Some other method of meeting the situation will be devised, it was learned today.

ASK NEW TRIAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schfani, found guilty by Police Judge Carl V. Hawkins of alleged indecent dancing in the exhibition of the Peabody prance in a local dance hall, today filed a motion for a new trial through their attorney, E. E. Tincher.

Hearing on the motion was set for Tuesday. The progress of the case is being watched eagerly by the naval authorities and men of the fleet, it is said, because of the large part in naval dancing affairs taken by Mr and Mrs. Schfani in the past.

DISCUSS NEW WATER PROJECT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 2.—A mass meeting of citizens of the north and east section of the Redlands citrus growing district was held at the City Hall last night and a movement put under way to develop 600 inches of water from the Mill Creek cone in the Santa Ana basin at a cost of about $250 an acre. This would furnish plenty of water for about 1500 acres in that section and give the section its own water system, whereas it is now dependent on other systems.

The plan is to lease 1000 acres with Rainbow Trout ranch as the east line, and the Bear Valley canal as the west line. Three factions hold water rights in the cone and have been in litigation over them for thirty years, the Great Republic Life Insurance Company, the McIntosh and Tench interests and the Greenspot interests. These factions have reached an agreement for the sale of their land.

It is believed that 600 or more inches can be developed at the tunnel at the head of the cone and carried under pressure to Wabash avenue to provide power there for pumping 300 inches more from wells to be sunk.

There is a tunnel there now which has developed 100 inches of water, and it is only a small one, half caved in now. The plan would be to put in a big tunnel, a shaft and a pump so that all possible water could be developed. A committee composed of Mr. Shield, J. J. Prendergast, C. H. Clock, L. L. Moore, O. W. Harris, Charles Limberger and W. E. Grigsby will work out the plan.

GOATS CAUSE OF SUIT IN COURT.

Owners to Force Return of Wandering Flock of Irish Cows.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

UPLAND, Nov. 2.—How a herd of 119 goats, Angoras at that, have gotten the goats of Constable Jedd F. Sawyer of Upland and L. T. Cutler, poundmaster of Cucamonga township, came to light today when the owners of the herd, George Dickinson, Eddie Maben and H. E. Robinson, filed court action demanding the return of the animals.

The goats were taken into custody a few days ago after they had wandered about the country between Upland and Cucamonga for some time, apparently without a home. Property owners complained and the herd was rounded up by Constable Sawyer and his deputies and placed in charge of Poundmaster Cutler, who still has them, but who doesn't know what to do with them.

The defendants in the suit are Poundmaster Cutler, Constable Sawyer, Deputy Constable Robert Beard, John H. Rupp and C. J. Minor, bondsmen for the poundmaster; Judge George R. Crane and Ernest C. Mehl, bondsmen for the constable; Julia Cutler, wife of the poundmaster, and Hazel Beard, wife of the Deputy Constable.

DETERMINE CAUSE OF BOY'S DEATH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Nov. 2.—A Coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow morning at the Robert Sharp & Sons funeral parlors to determine the responsibility for the accident Monday afternoon in which Billy, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Swan, 26 Vista avenue, met his death.

The child was run over by a truck which was delivering coal at the Nightingale School on Island avenue. George C. Cripe, 6707 Washington Boulevard, Culver City, driver of the truck, reported to the police that he had warned several children playing near the truck to keep away, but that little Billy slipped beneath the wheels unobserved. His head was crushed and he died almost instantly.

Cripe was held by the police while an investigation was made, and released a few hours later.

Funeral services for the child will be held at Sharp & Sons' funeral establishment Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made at Inglewood Cemetery.

CITY CONSIDERS MUNICIPAL PLANT.

SAN DIEGO MAY MANUFACTURE PAVING MATERIAL USED ON STREETS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 2.—A municipal paving plant to manufacture asphalt and concrete for city streets will place the city in competition with the paving companies and contractors.

Mayor John L. Bacon and the Councilmen are considering the plan. The cost of the plant, according to Mayor Bacon, would be $20,000.

A municipal plant has been advocated by City Engineer Fred A. Rhodes almost from the time he took office, and he has stated that he could save the city much money in repair work and could reduce the cost of paving in general.

The initial investment, however, in the minds of some of the Councilmen, is not the only point to be considered. Operation of the plant is thought to be quite an item. When the budget committee meets next month, an item to provide for a municipal plant is to be considered.

PROPERTY SETLEMENT IS CAUSE OF TRAGEDY.

FRESNO, Nov. 2.—Verdict that Mrs. Ella Hedges came to her death through a gunshot wound inflicted by her divorced husband and that John Hedges, who shot the woman, died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds was returned here this afternoon when the inquest was conducted. Hedges shot his former wife Monday afternoon and inflicted wounds on himself which caused his death a few hours later. Trouble over settlement of property rights is said to have caused the shooting.

MINING MAN DIES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 2.—O. B. Warren, who came here three years ago and purchased the G. S. Myers home on the heights, is dead at his home in Minneapolis. He died suddenly after an operation. Mr. Warren was a wealthy mining man, one of the principal operators in the Messaba range. Mr. Warren bought the Myers home three years ago. The house was built by G. S. Myers, junior member of the old tobacco firm of Liggett & Myers, and he lived there until the time of his death, about five years ago. Mr. Warren had planned to make his home in California every winter.

He leaves a widow and four children, three of them living in Minneapolis.

Valley Business Men Discuss Proposed Amendment.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Nov. 2.—All valley roads will lead to Chino, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, when the first Chino Community Fair will be held under the auspices of the Business Men's Association, assisted by the Chamber of Commerce. All of the exhibits, tents and awnings were up and decorated today, and the exhibits were being arranged in preparation for the big opening Thursday morning, at 11 o'clock.

TEMPLARS' FIELD DAY.

Plans are being completed this week for the Knights Templar field day, which is to be held in Pomona on Saturday, November 5. Word has been received that practically every commandery in Southern California, south of Santa Barbara, will be represented with a large delegation when the Knights gather here for a day of fellowship, competition and a general good time.

DISCUSS AMENDMENT.

At a meeting of more than 500 members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley, meeting at the Claremont Inn, advocates and opponents of the proposed constitutional amendment which sets up a State water and power commission with almost unlimited powers over the State's water and hydroelectric resources were heard in a spirited and intensely interesting debate last night.

The speakers who discussed this question were Mayor Louis Bartlett of Berkeley and Mayor Horace Porter of Riverside, for the affirmative and Volney Craig of Los Angeles and State Senator L. H. Roseberry of Santa Barbara for the negative. Many phases of this great problem were presented by the speakers and the San Gabriel Valley boosters followed the arguments closely. The arguments clashed sharply in many points, but the debate was largely over the effect and advisability of municipal ownership of water and power resources, as compared with private ownership.

Pledging their support to the disarmament conference and praising President Harding for calling the representatives of the leading nations of the world together to discuss methods of reducing armaments and removing the causes of war, the members present unanimously passed a resolution which was ordered sent to President Harding.

The meeting followed a dinner served in the dining-room at the inn. Frank Wheeler opened the meeting as the Claremont director of the association and referred to the fact that the assessed valuation of the San Gabriel Valley is now $108,000,000 as compared with $51,000,000 seven years ago.

Wife Objects to Being Nice to Hated Rival.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Nov. 2.—After relating how her husband took Mrs. Adelaide Rollins riding in a motor car which was her own personal property and how she was forced to entertain the rival for her husband's affections at dinner in her own home, Bertha L. Taylor Trickey was today granted a divorce in the Superior Court from Samuel D. Trickey.

Mrs. Trickey sought her decree on charges of mental and physical cruelty, charging that her husband swore at her repeatedly and on frequent occasions struck her. Several instances were recited upon which the husband and the other woman went riding in the wife's car and on at least one occasion Mrs. Trickey's machine was turned over to Mrs. Rollins for her private use, it was alleged.

Mrs. Trickey was represented in her suit by Attorney Archie D. Mitchell.

Riverside Court Sets Trial Date for Mexican.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 2.—Louis Guillen, alias Lavincente Melgosa, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned in Judge Freeman's court this morning on the charge of murdering Deputy Sheriffs Henry Nelson and Theodore Crossley a few weeks ago.

The prisoner acknowledged his identity for the first time when he informed Dist.-Atty. Kelley where he had a certain picture taken. Guillen's trial was set for November 22 and Attorney C. W. Benshoof was appointed to defend him.

Following the arraignment, the prisoner was taken to the San Bernardino County Jail, where he has been confined since his preliminary hearing.

PUNISH PHYSICIAN.

Fresno Doctors Expel Member of Association.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Nov. 2.—Dr. F. L. R. Burke, who was expelled from the Fresno County Medical Society at its meeting last night, said today that reasons for the action in his opinion were personal and not ethical.

Burke said that he did not know whether he would appeal to the State Medical Society. The society voted to expel Dr. Burke by a vote of 30 to 9, and formulated plans for a campaign against State compensation and social insurance.

The society claimed that Burke violated professional ethics by distributing cards bearing his name and address and telephone number to firms which retained him for this work.

PAYS TO CARRY COPY OF BIBLE.

Highwaymen Donate to Victim After Finding Book in His Pocket.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 2. Bert Mengor of this city is $10 richer because he carries a New Testament, but is $77 poorer because he encountered two highwaymen last night.

The man was on the wharf watching the searchlight of the Italian cruiser Libia play over the city when two men stopped in front of him, each leveling a revolver in his face. One went through his pockets, securing a roll of $85. He also drew a New Testament from the victim's coat pocket.

Seeing the volume, the robbers at once commended Mengor, one saying, "It shall be a light to thy feet; here's $10 as a reward for thy faith." They kept the balance.

SAYS BOYS GUILTY OF KILLING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 2. — That Mrs. Mary Ricketts, Long Beach matron, who met death near Seal Beach yesterday evening when she attempted to resist boy bandits, was killed by a gunshot wound in the heart, inflicted at the hands of Robert Rosser, aided and abetted by Charles Handy, was the verdict of the Coroner's jury here late today.

During the inquest, the five children of Mrs. Rickett were present and wept through the entire proceedings.

Handy, the older of the two boys, is said to have remarked in Seal Beach following the shooting, that he was going to give his age as 16, as the worst that could happen to him as a juvenile was to be confined to the State Reform School at Ione. He intended to do this because he knew if he gave his age as 18 he would be hanged.

Complaints charging the youths with murder are expected to be filed tomorrow morning. Rosser, who gave his age as 18, has been confined in the detention home. Handy, who admits 16 years, has been detained in the County Jail. Both boys are of the professional hobo type, unkempt and dirty. Both appear older than the ages they gave the authorities.

AUTOMOBILE SKIDDED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 2.—C. C. Torrence and W. E. Lacey, prominent local realtors, are resting easily today with every reasonable hope for recovery, following the almost disastrous automobile accident they experienced late last night, according to Dr. W. A. Hodkinson. Both men are at Martin's Sanitarium.

The accident occurred on the road leading from El Segundo to the Redondo-Inglewood road. Torrence attempted to stop his car suddenly when through the thick fog he saw the railway danger signals flashing at a crossing he was approaching. Lacey was with him in the car. The machine skidded, overturned and pinned the occupants underneath. Passers-by rushed them to a hospital in El Segundo and they were later brought to Santa Monica.

Torrence suffered a fracture at the base of the skull, and his chest was crushed. Last night his recovery was though doubtful, but his condition was much imp and he was conscious. Lacey is believed to have internal injuries.

HOSPITAL RECEIVES SUBSTANTIAL GIFT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 2.—A gift of $50,000 in cash was today made to the Cottage Hospital Association by Mrs. William H. Bliss of Montecito. The funds will be used to erect two additional wings to the hospital building.

One will be designed for children patients and the other for contagious cases. Mrs. Bliss owns one of the finest show places in the Montecito district. For several years she has been deeply interested in the work of the hospitals. Architects will begin work at once designing plans for the two new wings.

Mrs. Bliss has been ill for some weeks. Her attorney, Spencer Thorpe of Los Angeles, was here today to meet the board of directors of the hospital in connection with the gift.

JEWELER ROUTS BANDIT.

Negro Hold-up Forced to Leave After Desperate Fight.

Following a desperate struggle in which revolvers were drawn, but no shots fired, a negro highwayman escaped yesterday from a jewelry store conducted by Morris Moloff at 2503 Central avenue, but was forced to leave his loot behind him.

Mr. Moloff in his account to the police declared that a large negro walked into his establishment at about noon yesterday and asked to see a gold watch. When the jeweler produced a tray filled with timepieces, the negro drew a revolver and grabbed a handful of the watches.

Seizing a revolver from behind his counter, Mr. Moloff grappled with the bandit and in the struggle both revolvers fell to the floor. The bandit then dropped the watches and fled.

Police, who were called, were unable to find any trace of the man.

EXPECTANT MOTHER
Prepared for Baby's Coming

DO YOU know that thousands of women never really suffer at child-birth? Perhaps you have thought with many others that this should always be the case. But how?

Let Mrs. Mattie Paul, of Ocilla, Ga., tell you. She is one of thousands who has demonstrated this fact:

"As I am a young mother of one baby, I am writing for free booklet to 'expectant mothers.' I used only two bottles of Mother's Friend before I was confined and had a quick and easy time through labor. I can recommend Mother's Friend to all expectant mothers. I will never go through pregnancy without it."

It goes into the features of maternity and gives, in a plain, interesting manner, information about what the mother needs in clothing before baby is born; what clothing will be necessary for the baby; an interesting table as to the probable date of delivery; simple but necessary and helpful rules of hygiene to follow, and much other worth-while information. This little booklet also tells about Mother's Friend and the wonderful good it is doing for expectant mothers.

You, too, can have this booklet for expectant mothers by sending coupon below.

Don't let false modesty keep you from performing this duty to yourself—your family—and your baby.

Send for your copy NOW.

WARNING: Avoid using plain oils, greases and substitutes—they act only on the skin and may cause harm without doing good.

SYRUP PEPSIN IN OLD AGE

Much used by elderly people for constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc.

MANY men and women, as they grow older, suffer constantly from little ills. The cause is the poisons produced by chronic constipation, resulting in headaches, depression, bloating, sour stomach, bad breath, etc. A single bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will prove to you that you can so regulate yourself that elimination will occur promptly every day. Increased doses are not necessary. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin. The cost is only about a cent a dose.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been on the market 30 years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, the formula has never been improved upon. It is safer and better for you than salts, minerals, calomel, coal tar and such drastic purgatives.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

Few except constipation, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment let me send you a Half-ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will know it handy, when needed. Simply send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 114 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Write me today.

Woman "Cause" of Unusual Complaint

Mrs. Ethel R. Taux.

IS NABBED IN THREAT NOTE CASE.

Misconduct With Wife is Charged in Letter Asking Realty Man for Money.

According to the asserted letter, which was made a part of his complaint by Mr. Vose, Taux accused the complaining witness of misconduct with his wife, Mrs. Ethel R. Taux of 1861 West Seventy-seventh street. The complaint was issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClelland and Deputy Constables Stensland and Adams arrested Taux, who was arraigned before Justice Hinshaw. George Perkins, defense attorney, stated that his client would be able to prove his innocence of making a threat for the purpose charged.

According to the complaint the letter reads, in part, as follows: "Your conduct towards my wife has brought me in a state of affairs where I do not want to include any other man, which needs no further explanation. All I want now is to get to the point of my intentions in sending you this letter.

"You will remember about a month ago you promised me that in case (as I told you) I did not get this money required in the contract, that you would advance me the money, if I did not have it ready, according to our agreement."

The writer goes on to say that Mr. Vose had declined to advance the money.

"I discovered," said the writer, "through the actions of my wife that there was something decidedly wrong here, too. I overheard your conversation which took place here with Mrs. Taux at 9:30 o'clock this morning, so there is no need for you to try to bluff me in this matter, as I have witnesses besides."

The writer states that he would "let him off easy," and wanted him to pay a young woman holding a contract on some property and turn the property over to Mr. and Mrs. Taux.

BEACH WOMEN FIGHT.

Two Warrants Result of Quarrel Over Dog Poisoning.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 2.—Two women staged a battle royal on the beach between Santa Clara and San Diego avenues today.

Battered and bruised, they later appeared in the same court almost simultaneously and secured warrants for each other's arrest.

The argument arose over the alleged poisoning by Mrs. Mildred L. Milne of 38 San Diego avenue, of a dog owned by Mrs. Bernice Becker of 23 Santa Clara avenue. The two women met, accusations passed and a fist fight of no mean proportions followed.

Mrs. Milne was given medical attention by Dr. J. A. French after which she appeared in Dep. Dist.-Atty. Denison's office and swore to a battery warrant against Mrs. Becker, who in turn swore to a complaint charging Mrs. Milne with poisoning her dog.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT.

Japanese Rancher Near Death at Long Beach Hospital.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 2.—J. Kato, Signal Hill rancher, will probably die as a result of injuries sustained in an unusual accident late this afternoon. The rancher was driving his team to the barn when the horses suddenly became frightened and ran away, dragging Kato over rough ground for more than half a mile.

The man had been working with the lines fastened about his waist. At the Seaside Hospital physicians found nearly one-half of the chest removed of skin, the side of one leg badly torn and the muscles exposed on the lower part of the left leg. Fatal infection may set in where the dirt has been ground into the raw wounds, doctors fear.

PREPARE ATTACK ON BURCH PLEA.

blue dress and a black hat with a flimsy veil, walked into the court from the "Bridge of Sighs" entrance. She walked, unassisted, to the place within the inner railing that she occupied during the opening session of the Burch case Tuesday. It was the third hat she had worn on as many separate occasions in the last two days. Within a few minutes the court adjourned, having set tomorrow as the date for arguments on the motion.

MAY BE TRIED FIRST.

By the coup of the defense, it was pointed out by some legal technicians that even though the motion to dismiss the indictment may be ruled against, Mrs. Obenchain will be in an advantageous position to demand an immediate trial. To have her trial before that of Burch will be of benefit to her, persons familiar with the case believe.

"The move which I made this afternoon in Superior Judge Reeve's court is dangerous to Mrs. Obenchain, if she is guilty," Mr. Erbstein stated last night. "But I made the move only after mature reflection on her case and with her full and free permission.

"If Madalynne Obenchain is guilty my actions today probably will convict her, but I have been convinced that she is not guilty. No sane woman, had she been guilty of a murder, would have permitted her attorney to place her on the witness stand merely on a motion for bail.

"Mrs. Obenchain is so determined to prove her innocence that she has expressed her desire to tell from the witness stand next Friday afternoon her complete story. By doing this she will be placing her entire defense plan in the hands of the prosecution. They will be permitted to ask her any questions, to cross-examine her, but she is confident she has a believable answer for all their questions.

"She is willing to risk her own life to prove that she is innocent, that she had nothing to do with the slaying of Kennedy. Would any guilty person make such a radical move? She realizes that if the motion for bail is denied, she is at the mercy of the prosecution, which will have her complete defense plan in its possession."

PREPARE FOR BATTLE.

While Mrs. Obenchain's case was taking a new turn, both the prosecution and defense for Burch were preparing to wage a bitter struggle Monday when the District Attorney will reply to the contention of Attorneys Schenck, Kittrelle and Sullivan that Burch is insane. It is their contention that Burch cannot rationally provide his attorneys with information necessary to a fair and just defense.

In addition to the seven affidavits already presented by the defense in an effort to show that Burch is insane, it is expected that many witnesses will be called to the stand if the court rules that Burch must be tried for insanity before his trial for murder can proceed. The defense counsel stated that they court the fullest investigation of Burch and will not oppose any attempt of the District Attorney to examine Burch on the stand.

DOCTOR'S DECISION.

Dr. Edward Huntington Williams, one of the alienists who made out an affidavit to the effect that Burch is of unsound mind, yesterday declared Burch is a paranoiac, a victim of paranoid dementia praecox, which is a slow growing form of insanity.

Dr. Williams said that self-exaltation, an insane idea that he (Burch) must better the world by avenging imaginary wrongs, a belief that he is a martyr, are some of the symptoms of the disease of which the defense asserts Burch is a victim.

FACES SLAVE CHARGE.

Youth Nabbed in Hollywood to Go East in Mann Act Case.

John Henry, age 20 years, was taken into custody yesterday in Hollywood by an agent of the Department of Justice and lodged in the County Jail. He is wanted in Toledo, O., on a pending indictment, charging him with violation of the Mann White Slave Law.

It is charged that he took Miss Agnes Courtney Shambien from Bridgeville, Del., to Toledo, O., where the girl, who is but 16 years of age, now resides.

Henry says he will not resist removal proceedings, but will go back willingly to face the charge.
